'MAC' GETS RECORD N. Y. OVATION

Taft Charges Administration 'Uses' Bradley

No Sign Of Letup In Policy Dispute

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP) — The angry MacArthur-vs-Truman dispute brought from Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) today a charge that the administration is "using" Gen. Omar Bradley to serve its purposes.

It even brought some physical shoving around in a Senate radio recording room. On every hand, there were indications pointing to a showdown on foreign policy.

"The Truman administration is working both sides of the military and political street," Taft told a reporter. He said Bradley speaks out or keeps silent as the White House wishes.

Another demonstration of bitterness was the blow-less scuffle featuring Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), Humphrey (D-Minn) and Lehman (D-Lib-NY).

Building To Another Climax

Thus there was no sign of a let-up in the great quarrel on whether President Truman did right or wrong when he fired MacArthur from his Pacific commands last week with the explanation that the General didn't fit in with plans to restrict warfare to Korea.

Everything pointed to a build-up to another climax, probably late this month, when MacArthur returns to Washington for a question-and-answer session with the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The quarrel is pinpointed now on whether the Joint Chiefs of Staff—whose duty it is to advise the President on military matters— were for or against MacArthur's views on how to run the war in the Far East.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Armed Services group indicated it would investigate the Joint Chiefs' position. Sen. Long (D-La), Hunt (D-Wyo), Maybank (D-SC) and Duff (R-Pa) all called for the high command to speak up.

JCS Recommended Removal

MacArthur said in his speech to Congress yesterday that he believed his advocacy of air operations over Manchuria and of blockading Red China had been shared in the past, from a military standpoint, by the JCS.

A White House-authorized statement last night said the JCS were among the civilian and military leaders whose unanimous recommendations were followed by the President when he fired the General.

Gen. Bradley is chairman of the JCS. Taft's criticism of him was based on remarks Bradley made at Chapel Hill, N. C., last night and on a speech he made at Chicago Tuesday.

At Chapel Hill Bradley said the MacArthur dismissal is a political question and as a military man he could not discuss it. At Chicago, Bradley said that he supported Mr. Truman's view that any enlargement of the Korean fighting might lead to World War III.

Record 2,852 Tons Of Paper Tossed At Gen. M'Arthur

NEW YORK, April 20. (AP)—Confetti and ticker tape showered on the homecoming parade for Gen. Douglas MacArthur today was estimated to total a record-breaking 2,852 tons.

The previous record was 1,800 tons of paper tossed into the streets on the return of Howard Hughes from a globe-girdling flight in 1938.

The Sanitation Department, in estimating today's volume, said 3,200 workers were busy throughout the day cleaning up the falling paper, and that 500 employes will work through the night.

Senators' Policy Debate Winds Up In Shoving Match

Capehart, Humphrey, Lehman In Scuffle

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Three aroused senators ended a war of words over Gen. MacArthur's policies today with a shoving match at the door of a radio recording studio.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), a heavily built man of 53 and a backer of MacArthur, told reporters that he seized Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) by the lapel and "threw him out" of the studio after Humphrey called him "a very dirty name."

Then, Capehart said, Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) "jumped me from the back, and I threw him back into the studio."

Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), who with Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) witnessed the brief scuffle, said it was "a kind of cream-puffy business. The boys were not trained very well."

But he added "Sen. Capehart had his Sunday punch ready when I stepped in as peacemaker."

Statement Issued

When the dust had settled Humphrey and Lehman issued a formal statement in which they said Capehart "has, unfortunately, seen fit to make misleading statements about this incident."

They said "there was no profanity" and "no blows were struck."

Saying they would have preferred not "to dignify" the affair with comment, the two Democrats added "it is unfortunate that debate on issues should elicit such violent emotional reaction as that displayed by Sen. Capehart."

After Capehart had gotten his breath he announced defiantly:

"I'm willing to fight anybody who calls me a warmonger or the Republican Party a war party."

As is usual in such rumpuses, accounts of what happened varied.

Lee Loevinger, council for the Senate Small Business Committee, who saw the scuffle said he did not hear any one use vile language. Taft agreed.

Called "S.O.B.," Capehart Says

Capehart declined to quote the language he attributed to Humphrey, saying "there's a lady in the room." A reporter asked him whether he meant "S.O.B.," and whether the words or letters were used.

"That's what it was," the Indiana Republican replied. "And he used the words."

Welker said he heard Capehart called an "S.O.B." and also heard him called "a liar" several times.

Capehart, Taft, Lehman and Humphrey gathered to make a recording of their views on Far Eastern policy and MacArthur's ouster for Blair Moody, a Detroit newspaperman and radio commentator.

Truman On Cruise

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP) — President Truman went down the Potomac River tonight on his Yacht the Williamsburg for a weekend rest.

Reds Shoved Back In Fight For Chorwon

Allies Recapture Strategic Height

TOKYO, Saturday, April 21 (AP)—Allied troops early today drove back up a 1,500-foot height in seesaw fighting for Chorwon, 18 miles inside Red Korea.

Field dispatches said the Reds appeared to be slowly yielding in a last-ditch stand for that rail-highway hub and supply base in the west-central sector. Allied forces have won nearly all the dominating fringe of mountains south of Chorwon.

Late Friday night, the Reds spilt an Allied company and drove it off a 1,500-foot hill six miles south of Chorwon. This was one of a series of Red counterattacks. The Allies had beaten off the others in close quarters action which involved fists and rifle butts.

Artillery Blasts Reds

Early today, after artillery blasted the enemy, the reformed company regained the height in the face of heavy machine-gun fire.

The Reds hurled more than 500 men in one of Friday's counterblows. Seventy-five were killed and more than 150 wounded before the foe fell back.

Other field dispatches said United Nations forces advanced unopposed today in Central Korea and shelled Red troop concentrations in the east-central sector.

Snow flurries fell on troops moving across ridge tops in the center.

Reds Keep Allies Guessing

The U. S. Eighth Army's new commander, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, offered no predictions on the next phase of the war during a frontline visit. He said it was "anybody's guess" what the Communists would do next, but added:

"There is a definite buildup and I imagine he (the enemy) would like to take another shot at us. We're ready for him—if he does."

Mighty Allied "Long Tom" rifles and short-necked howitzers poured a devastating barrage into the Red mountain defenses, as Allied units advanced into the last mass of hills before the town.

The infantrymen used flame throwers and bayonets to root out last-ditch defenders.

Ex-Venezuelan Leader Attacked

HAVANA, Cuba, April 20 (AP) — Exiled former Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt said today an attempt to assassinate him by injecting poison in his arm was made here Wednesday.

Betancourt told a news conference that an unidentified man rushed at him on the street and pricked his arm with a syringe. He said he grappled with the assailant, who dropped the syringe and fled.

The former president blamed the present Venezuelan administration for the attack. Regulo Burelli, Venezuelan charge d'affaires in Cuba, denied this.

The poison in the syringe appeared to be mustard gas, Betancourt said.

The syringe was sent to authorities for analysis. Betancourt showed it to newsmen.

Truman Booed As Senators Open Home Baseball Season

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP) — President Truman got a booing today as he tossed out the first ball and helped root the Washington Senators to a 5 to 3 victory over the New York Yankees baseball club.

There was a trace of cheering also, but the Washington Star called it the "coldest reception ever given a chief executive at an opening baseball game."

It was Mr. Truman's first public appearance since the big reception the capital gave to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whom the President ousted as Far East Commander.

The President shrugged off the boos with a grin, ate a hot dog, drank hot chocolate and appeared to be enjoying himself.

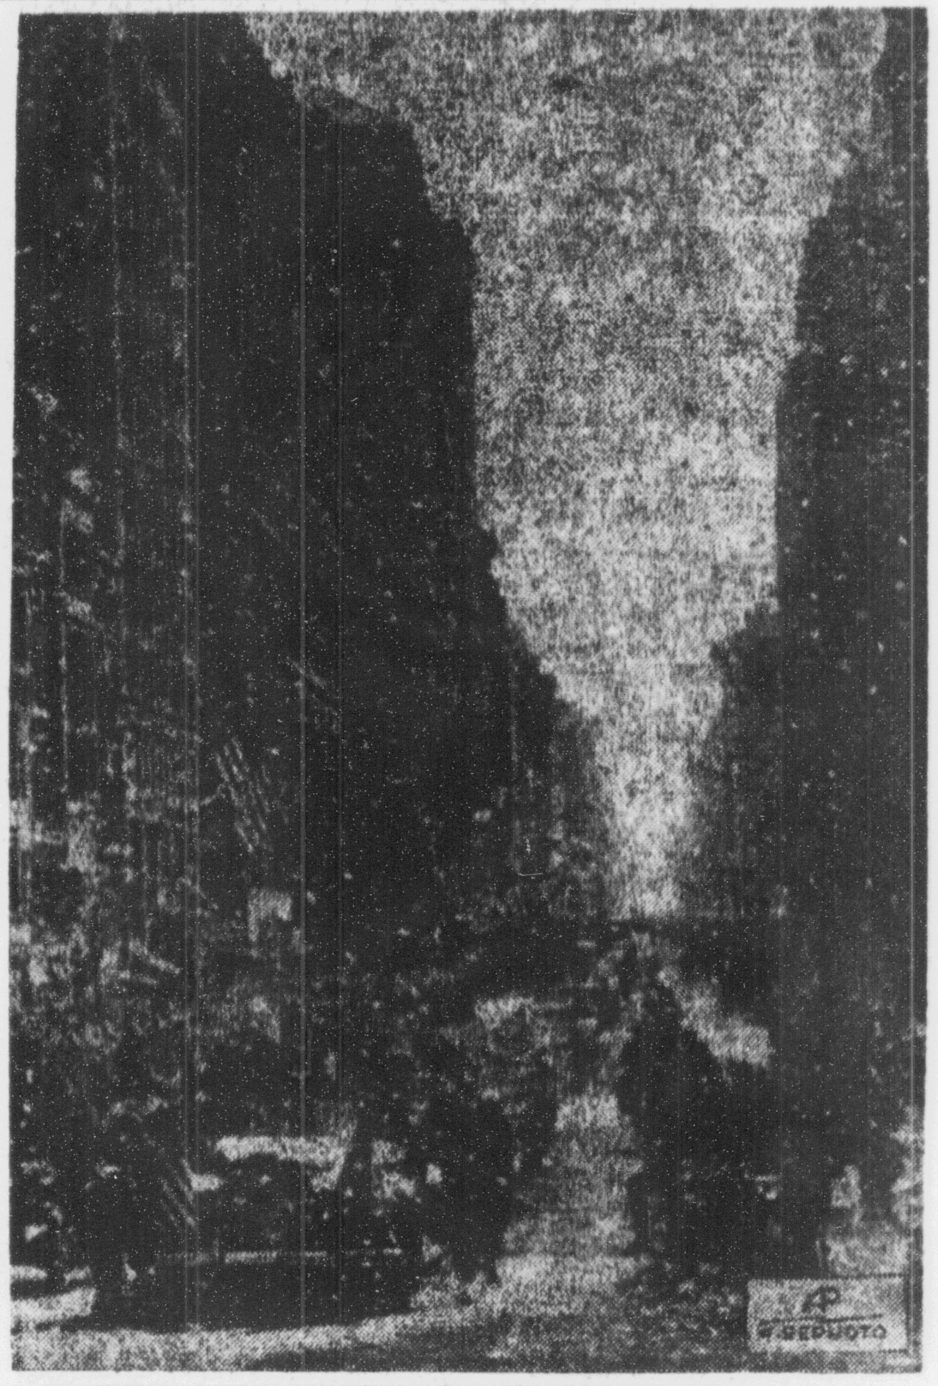
The score, Presidential Secretary Joseph Short, swore afterwards, was exactly what Mr. Truman predicted in advance of the game.

When the President entered his box with Mrs. Truman, booing mixed with some cheering broke out. The sounds were drowned out quickly when the band struck up the traditional "Hail To The Chief."

After the first half of the eighth inning, the loud speaker blared out: "Fans are requested to remain in their seats until the President and his official party have left the stands."

The announcement brought a loud chorus of boos from the fans and somebody cracked: "Where's MacArthur?"

Mr. Truman rubbed his nose, but never looked around. There is a protest from the crowd nearly every year over this announcement.



Big Day For "Mac"

Gen. Douglas MacArthur addresses a throng at New York's City Hall during the city's official reception ceremonies. "This, I said to myself, is America and this, with God's help, we shall keep American," he said as he talked of the city's reception and its people who accorded him the nation's greatest ovation to a returning hero. At right, the MacArthur motorcade moves slowly through a heavy shower of paper up Fifth Avenue during the final stages of the gigantic parade.

GE To Give Pay Boost If Wage Board Approves

Increase Due Under Cost Of Living Pact

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—The General Electric Company announced tonight it intends to give all its 200,000 workers a pay increase, effective as of March 15, if the government approves.

First, though, it said it must have an okay from the government's wage board for most of the 200,000. Also, "such increases will only be made effective with union consent in the case of unionized employes."

The pay raise figures to be nine cents an hour. The CIO Electrical Workers Union, whose members make up less than a third of General Electric's employes, have a contract providing for pay raises when the cost of living goes up. A report today from the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that living costs have gone up enough to call for nine cents more an hour.

Other unions—the company has contracts with 40 others—and non-union employes—are not covered by the cost of living contract.

Despite the Jan. 25 wage freeze, the company said it expects permission to grant the raise to the non-CIO workers. It said it has an "established policy of taking care of all its employes on a comparable basis."

The Bureau of Labor Statistics disclosed earlier today that its living costs index edged up four tenths of one per cent between mid-February and mid-March. It reached a level 184.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Since it had climbed from 173.8 last September 15, members of the electrical workers union were entitled under their contract to nine cents an hour additional pay.

Vice President Lemuel Boulware said the company expects to get permission from the government wage board to extend the increase to members of other unions in its plants "in order to treat all employes equitably."

While the big rival union is the United Electrical Workers, tossed out of the CIO in 1949 on charges of pro-Communist leadership, the company has contracts with several other AFL, CIO and various independent unions.

Provision is made in the wage stabilization program for so-called tandem or "piggy-back" increases where it is proven that it has been company practice to spread the same wage increases to other workers which are negotiated with a major union.

Presumably the company and the unions involved will have to win the approval of the new Wage Stabilization Board for such a tandem increase.

Condition Of Petain Extremely Critical

ILDE D'YEU, France, April 20. (AP)—The condition of Henri Philippe Petain, 94, chief of state during the Vichy regime, was extremely critical late tonight, after a new relapse in his fight against pneumonia.

'It looks very bad," said one of Petain's lawyers. "It may be a matter of hours."

Mrs. Petain abruptly interrupted her dinner at 9 p. m. (3 p. m. E.S.T.) to rush to her husband's bedside in his cell at a prison on this island, where he is serving a life sentence for treason.

Failure To Keep Engagement Costs Sinatra $47,046

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—Failure to keep a Minneapolis engagement cost Crooner Frank Sinatra a $47,046 court judgement today.

Supreme Court Justice Thomas L. J. Corcoran awarded the damages to the National Apparel Shows, before whom Sinatra was to have appeared last Sept. 5-7 during a fashion show.

Sinatra failed to answer the breach of contract suit.

The Minneapolis organization originally sued for $235,922, lumping loss of profits with alleged damage to the reputation of its shows.

However, Justice Corcoran limited the award to the fashion show's net loss, plus interest.

Dan River Turns Down Union Bid

DANVILLE, Va., April 20 (AP) — The Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, proposed today to end its 20-day strike against Dan River Mills by submitting all issues to arbitration.

The company immediately rejected the offer.

The union's negotiating committee sent a telegram and letter to the company this afternoon suggesting both parties agree to turn over the dispute to the Wage Stabilization Board being set up by President Truman for "a final and binding decision as to who is right."

Basil D. Browder, Dan River vice-president, said he would release a statement later explaining why the company cannot go along with the union request.

While top union officers concentrated their efforts on settling the strike, striking veterans, dressed in military uniforms or part of uniforms, paraded in front of the main Dan River plant at nearby Schoolfield.

State Police Captain R. C. Barham estimated that a total of about 10,000 persons milled about the plant during the afternoon.

But when marchers attempted to extend the parade into Danville, they were stopped by city police.

Danville Police Chief J. C. Garrett and Captain W. H. Mays advised the marching vets that the city requires a permit for parades. The crowds broke up and there were no incidents.

Plans For Aluminum Ban Are Cancelled

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—The government today cancelled a scheduled May 1 ban on the use of aluminum in more than 200 civilian products ranging from automobile trim to cigaret lighters.

The National Production Authority said it acted to prevent many manufacturers from having to close factories, giving them time to convert to defense production.

But even though the ban was lifted, the aluminum quotas of civilian goods makers were sharply reduced. Up to now they have been cut 35 per cent below their average use of aluminum during the first half of 1950. Effective May 1 the cut will be 50 per cent for May and June.

Education Aid Opposed

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP) — The Daughters of the American Revolution went on record today as opposed to federal aid to education on the grounds it would advance state socialism.

Two Tankers Collide In Fog With Probable 38 Fatalities

NEW ORLEANS, April 20 (AP)—Two oil tankers collided in a dense dawn fog in the Gulf of Mexico today with a probable death toll of 38. Both ships were swept by flames after the crash.

The Esso Greensboro was left a blazing hulk with only five of her 42 crewmen rescued. The 10,000-ton tanker wallowed in a sea of flaming oil spilled from the 140,000 barrel cargo she was carrying from Aransas Pass, Tex., to Baltimore and New York.

The 26,500-ton super tanker Esso Suez, the other ship in the collision, had a 20-foot gash in her bow about 10-feet above the water line. She was able, however, to put out the fires that swept her forepeak, and proceeded tonight toward New Orleans at her regular 17-knot speed. She was expected here tomorrow.

One Suez Crewman Killed

First Mate Walter Brehm, Lyndhurst, N. J., was the Suez's only reported fatality. But four of her 44 crewmen were badly burned.

The Suez was en route in ballast from Baltimore to Corpus Christi, Tex.

The Esso New York, which raced to the Greensboro's aid, radioed early this morning "no one believed alive on board."

Later, after rescuing four crewmen of the Greensboro, one badly burned, and recovering two charred bodies, the New York abandoned rescue efforts, saying there appeared no hope of there being any other survivors.

But a PBM (amphibious plane) sighted a fifth survivor late in the afternoon and dropped him a life raft and rations. The man climbed aboard the raft and was later taken aboard the Esso Burlington, also at the scene. He was reported badly burned. The Coast Guard identified him only by the last name McMann.

Smoke 500 Feet High

A Coast Guard PBY (another type amphibious plane) reported sighting only an empty lifeboat and two mattresses on the rough sea near the Greensboro.

Lt. William Schmidt, pilot of the plane, said the smoke from the blazing Greensboro "was at least 500 feet high and the water was burning near the ship. Oil was spread over a two-mile area. Flames leaped 150 feet into the air.

A Coast Guard officer here said the fire spread so rapidly Greensboro crewmen could put only one boat overside.

The collision occurred at 5 a. m. (CST) about 200 miles south of Morgan City, La., a small costal city midway between New Orleans and Lake Charles, La.

Refugees Say Field Is Held In Red Prison

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 20 (AP)—L. P. Beria's Soviet secret police are holding the long missing Noel H. Field in Moscow's dread Lubianka Prison, Czechoslovak refugee circles said today.

"That fellow is worth his weight in gold and is well taken care of by Beria," the editor of the weekly Cominform newspaper, Pavlo Yudin, was quoted as saying in an unguarded moment in Budapest.

Underground reports from Prague were the refugees' authority for other information on Field, a former U. S. State Department employee whom top Communists have called the No. 1 American spy.

The underground said Field was taken to Prague for the two-week period between Feb. 22 and March 7 by the MVD—the Russian secret police—to face former Communist Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis, now under arrest as a Titoist, pro-Western plotter.

An intelligence liaison man in World War II between the Allies and Eastern European Communists, Field disappeared from Prague in May, 1949, and his whereabouts since has been a stranger-than-fiction mystery. His wife, Herta, his brother, Hermann, a Cleveland, O., architect, and his adopted daughter, Mrs. Robert Wallach, all have vanished while hunting for him.

Actor Audie Murphy To Be Married Monday

DALLAS, April 20 (AP) — Movie Actor Audie Murphy and his Dallas sweetheart will be married Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Chapel of Highland Park Methodist Church here.

Pamela Archer, attractive dark-haired bride-to-be and until now a Braniff Airlines hostess supervisor, said the wedding would be a simple affair, attended by a few close friends.

Chambermaid Held In Long Series Of Hotel Gem Thefts

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—A $31-a-week chambermaid was arrested today by detectives who said she stole $350,000 to $400,000 worth of jewels from guests in 35 hotels.

Mrs. Julia Arbotofsky, 44, Brooklyn, was accused of rifling the rooms over a period of two and a half years. She was charged with grand larceny and held in $2,500 bail.

Police said she admitted the thefts and that they found $30,000 worth of jewelry and 233 pawn tickets in her apartment.

They said her method was to get jobs in one hotel after another without ever mentioning in her applications that she had been employed in a hotel before.

Her alleged thefts occurred in such well-known hotels as the Waldorf-Astoria, New Yorker, Essex House, Biltmore, Commodore, Roosevelt, St. Regis, Vanderbilt, Pierre, Sherry-Netherland and Ten Park Avenue.

Among the loot being sought through pawn shops was a diamond and platinum ring, with ruby, insured for $60,000 and reported missing last June by Mrs. Esther du-Pont Weir, of Wilmington, Del.

Other jewelry being sought by police included a $250 watch stolen from Mrs. Melville Marx, San Francisco.

Soldier Hero Acclaimed By Over 7 Million

Tired General Then Goes Into Seclusion

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur went into seclusion tonight, hugging to his heart the greatest acclaim this nation ever heaped upon a returning hero.

A roaring multitude that turned New York into a carnival city dispersed late in the day and the city rapidly fell back into its normal routine.

Small knots of curious people still clustered outside the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel even as street cleaners labored to rid the avenues of mountains of ticker-tape that showered MacArthur.

The patient onlookers hoped for one more glimpse of the General and his family.

However, an aide said MacArthur did not intend to leave the hotel tonight.

7,500,000 Cheer "Mac"

The mass outpouring of people and emotion—police estimated the crowd at 7,500,000—swelled into a thunderous tribute to the famed soldier who has sparked a deep and bitter conflict over American policy in Asia.

The ovation rolled from the green expanse of Central Park down into the gray stone depths of lower Manhattan during four hours and one minute of unbroken acclaim.

With Mrs. MacArthur and their 13-year-old son, Arthur, near his side, the General told a huge crowd at City Hall:

"As I watched your throngs, a great pride and a great confidence came upon me for here I saw in this great city, this melting pot [illegible] world, an indomitable force[illegible] cannot fail to maintain our freedom and our way of life.

"This, I said to myself, is America. And this, with God's help, we shall keep American."

General Presented Medal

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri presented the General with a gold medal as a tribute from the people of the city.

The medal bears an inscription which says: "In defense of honor and liberty and the fundamental principles on which free institutions may rest."

MacArthur expressed deep appreciation of a "heart-warming reception" and declared:

"We shall never forget it. You have made us feel that we are indeed home."

And home he was, to a staggering demonstration which reflected the strange hold the MacArthur personality has taken on the imaginations of the American people.

The demonstration began last night when 1,500,000 impatient admirers turned out to cheer him on his drive into the city from the airport.

And it grew into a wild acclaim that swept through Manhattan like a storm wherever the General appeared, waving and smiling to the people.

The MacArthur parade would

Poland Bars U. S. Ships From Port

WARSAW, Poland, Apirl 20 (AP)—Poland barred the American Scantic Lines today from the port of Gdynia in reprisal for American restrictions against the Batory, the 14,286-ton Polish ship on which Communist Gerhart Eisler fled the United States.

Scantic operates cargo-passenger ships. It is a subsidiary of the Moore-McCormack Lines. The Batory, operated by the Gdynia-America Line, is the only passenger ship which has linked the United States and Poland.

The Communist Polish government declared in a note to the U. S. Embassy the United States had discriminated against the Polish maritime flag and infringed on maritime law and the freedom of the seas "under the pretext of security."

It referred to a close check of the Batory, the crew and passengers on her visits to New York by customs officials and FBI agents since Eisler got away May 6, 1949, and a recent ruling by New York's marine and aviation commissioner, Edward Cavanagh, Jr., that the Batory can no longer dock in Manhattan.

The Polish note contended the U. S. State Department was behind the order which made it impossible to lease New York piers.

Called "S.O.B.," Capehart Says

Capehart declined to quote the language he attributed to Humphrey, saying "there's a lady in the room." A reporter asked him whether he meant "S.O.B.," and whether the words or letters were used.

"That's what it was," the Indiana Republican replied. "And he used the words."

Welker said he heard Capehart called an "S.O.B." and also heard him called "a liar" several times.

Capehart, Taft, Lehman and Humphrey gathered to make a recording of their views on Far Eastern policy and MacArthur's ouster for Blair Moody, a Detroit newspaperman and radio commentator.

Reds Shoved Back In Fight For Chorwon

Allies Recapture Strategic Height

TOKYO, Saturday, April 21 (AP)—Allied troops early today drove back up a 1,500-foot height in seesaw fighting for Chorwon, 18 miles inside Red Korea.

Field dispatches said the Reds appeared to be slowly yielding in a last-ditch stand for that rail-highway hub and supply base in the west-central sector. Allied forces have won nearly all the dominating fringe of mountains south of Chorwon.

Late Friday night, the Reds spilt an Allied company and drove it off a 1,500-foot hill six miles south of Chorwon. This was one of a series of Red counterattacks. The Allies had beaten off the others in close quarters action which involved fists and rifle butts.

Artillery Blasts Reds

Early today, after artillery blasted the enemy, the reformed company regained the height in the face of heavy machine-gun fire.

The Reds hurled more than 500 men in one of Friday's counterblows. Seventy-five were killed and more than 150 wounded before the foe fell back.

Other field dispatches said United Nations forces advanced unopposed today in Central Korea and shelled Red troop concentrations in the east-central sector.

Snow flurries fell on troops moving across ridge tops in the center.

Reds Keep Allies Guessing

The U. S. Eighth Army's new commander, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, offered no predictions on the next phase of the war during a frontline visit. He said it was "anybody's guess" what the Communists would do next, but added:

"There is a definite buildup and I imagine he (the enemy) would like to take another shot at us. We're ready for him—if he does."

Mighty Allied "Long Tom" rifles and short-necked howitzers poured a devastating barrage into the Red mountain defenses, as Allied units advanced into the last mass of hills before the town.

The infantrymen used flame throwers and bayonets to root out last-ditch defenders.

Ex-Venezuelan Leader Attacked

HAVANA, Cuba, April 20 (AP) — Exiled former Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt said today an attempt to assassinate him by injecting poison in his arm was made here Wednesday.

Betancourt told a news conference that an unidentified man rushed at him on the street and pricked his arm with a syringe. He said he grappled with the assailant, who dropped the syringe and fled.

The former president blamed the present Venezuelan administration for the attack. Regulo Burelli, Venezuelan charge d'affaires in Cuba, denied this.

The poison in the syringe appeared to be mustard gas, Betancourt said.

The syringe was sent to authorities for analysis. Betancourt showed it to newsmen.

Truman Booed As Senators Open Home Baseball Season

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP) — President Truman got a booing today as he tossed out the first ball and helped root the Washington Senators to a 5 to 3 victory over the New York Yankees baseball club.

There was a trace of cheering also, but the Washington Star called it the "coldest reception ever given a chief executive at an opening baseball game."

It was Mr. Truman's first public appearance since the big reception the capital gave to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whom the President ousted as Far East Commander.

The President shrugged off the boos with a grin, ate a hot dog, drank hot chocolate and appeared to be enjoying himself.

The score, Presidential Secretary Joseph Short, swore afterwards, was exactly what Mr. Truman predicted in advance of the game.

When the President entered his box with Mrs. Truman, booing mixed with some cheering broke out. The sounds were drowned out quickly when the band struck up the traditional "Hail To The Chief."

After the first half of the eighth inning, the loud speaker blared out:

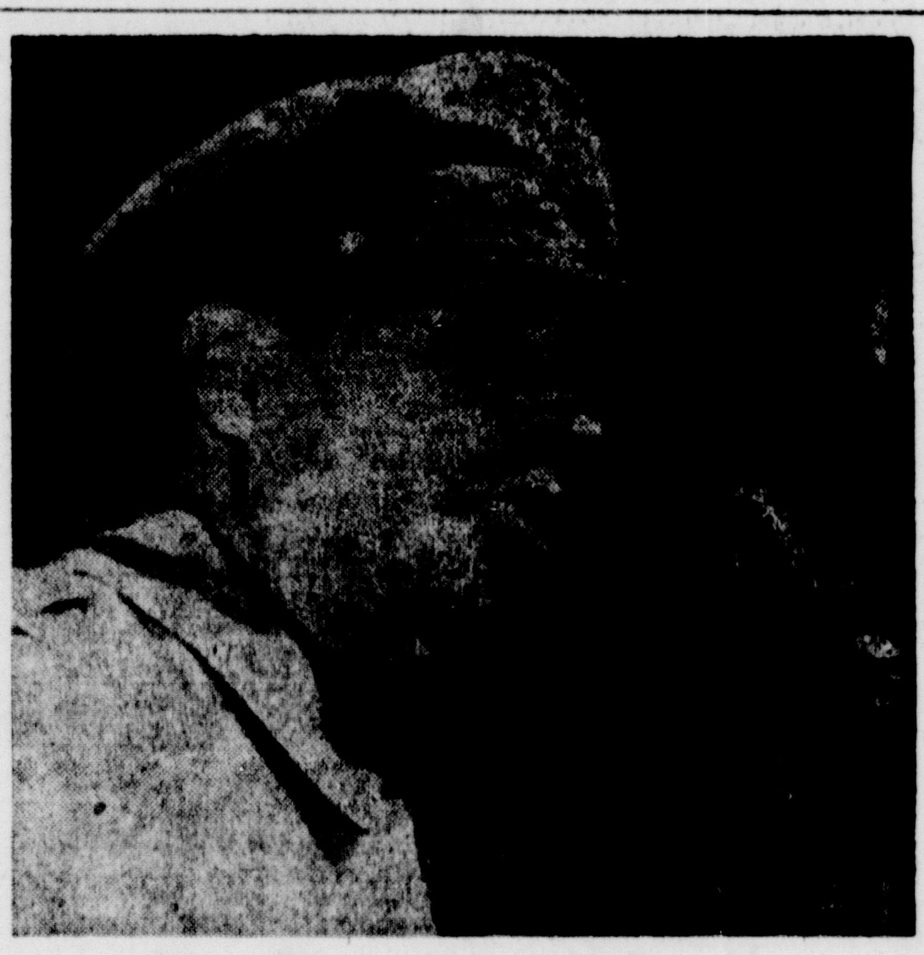
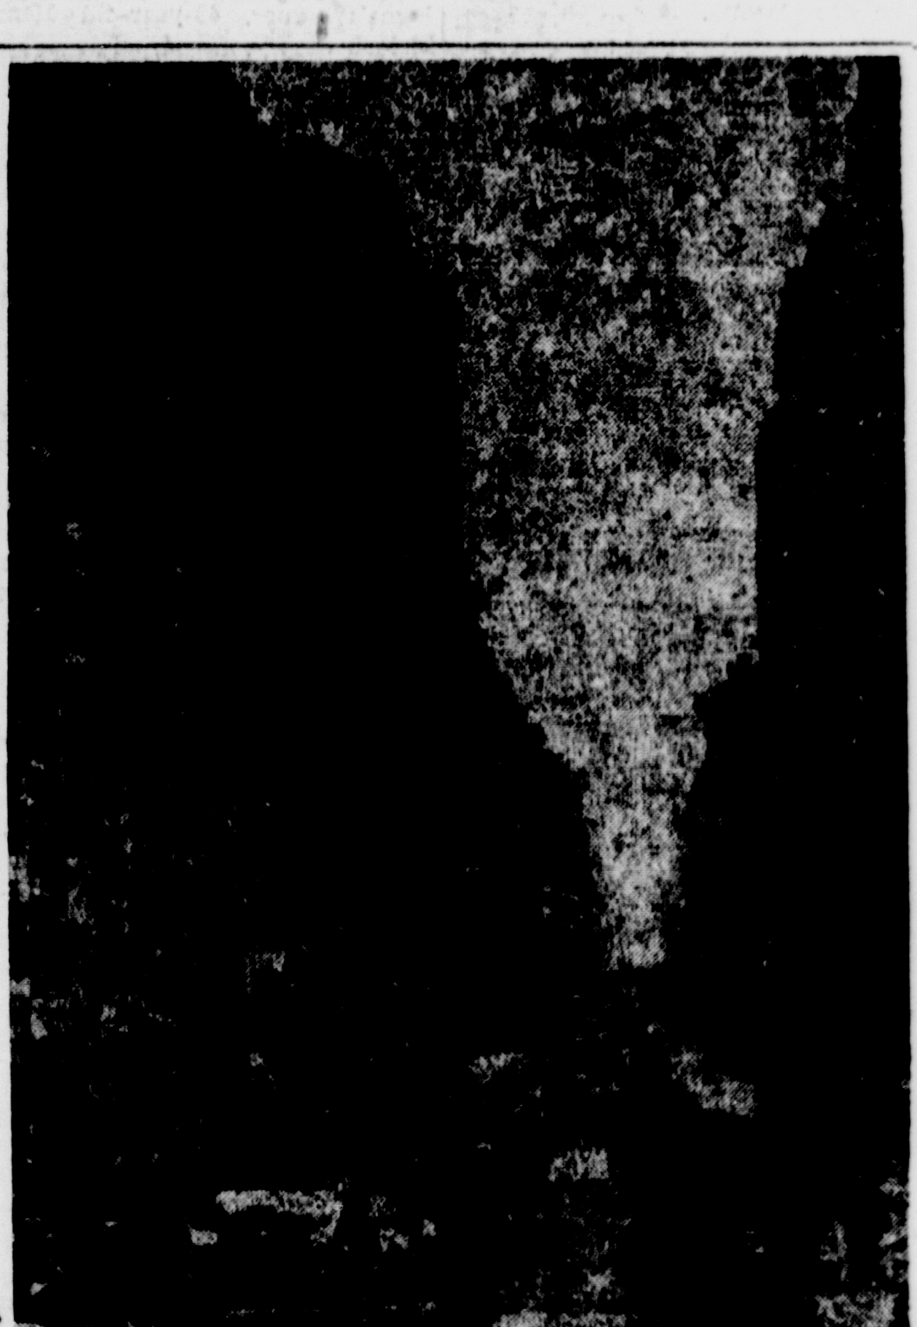
The announcement brought a loud chorus of boos from the fans and somebody cracked: "Where's MacArthur?"

Mr. Truman rubbed his nose, but never looked around. There is a protest from the crowd nearly every year over this announcement.





Big Day For "Mac"

Gen. Douglas MacArthur addresses a throng at New York's City Hall during the city's official reception ceremonies. "This, I said to myself, is America and this, with God's help, we shall keep American," he said as he talked of the city's reception and its people who accorded him the nation's greatest ovation to a returning hero. GE To Give Pay Boost If Wage Board Approves

Increase Due Under Cost Of Living Pact

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—The General Electric Company announced tonight it intends to give all its 200,000 workers a pay increase, effective as of March 15, if the government approves.

First, though, it said it must have an okay from the government's wage board for most of the 200,000. Also, "such increases will only be made effective with union consent in the case of unionized employes."

The pay raise figures to be nine cents an hour. The CIO Electrical Workers Union, whose members make up less than a third of General Electric's employes, have a contract providing for pay raises when the cost of living goes up. A report today from the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that living costs have gone up enough to call for nine cents more an hour.

Other unions—the company has contracts with 40 others—and non-union employes—are not covered by the cost of living contract.

Despite the Jan. 25 wage freeze, the company said it expects permission to grant the raise to the non-CIO workers. It said it has an "established policy of taking care of all its employes on a comparable basis."

The Bureau of Labor Statistics disclosed earlier today that its living costs index edged up four tenths of one per cent between mid-February and mid-March. It reached a level 184.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Since it had climbed from 173.8 last September 15, members of the electrical workers union were entitled under their contract to nine cents an hour additional pay.

Vice President Lemuel Boulware said the company expects to get permission from the government wage board to extend the increase to members of other unions in its plants "in order to treat all employes equitably."

While the big rival union is the United Electrical Workers, tossed out of the CIO in 1949 on charges of pro-Communist leadership, the company has contracts with several other AFL, CIO and various independent unions.

Provision is made in the wage stabilization program for so-called tandem or "piggy-back" increases where it is proven that it has been company practice to spread the same wage increases to other workers which are negotiated with a major union.

Presumably the company and the unions involved will have to win the approval of the new Wage Stabilization Board for such a tandem increase.

Condition Of Petain Extremely Critical

ILDE D'YEU, France, April 20. (AP)—The condition of Henri Philippe Petain, 94, chief of state during the Vichy regime, was extremely critical late tonight, after a new relapse in his fight against pneumonia.

'It looks very bad," said one of Petain's lawyers. "It may be a matter of hours."

Mrs. Petain abruptly interrupted her dinner at 9 p. m. (3 p. m. E.S.T.) to rush to her husband's bedside in his cell at a prison on this island, where he is serving a life sentence for treason.

Failure To Keep Engagement Costs Sinatra $47,046

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—Failure to keep a Minneapolis engagement cost Crooner Frank Sinatra a $47,046 court judgement today.

Supreme Court Justice Thomas L. J. Corcoran awarded the damages to the National Apparel Shows, before whom Sinatra was to have appeared last Sept. 5-7 during a fashion show.

The Minneapolis organization originally sued for $235,922, lumping loss of profits with alleged damage to the reputation of its shows.

However, Justice Corcoran limited the award to the fashion show's net loss, plus interest.

Dan River Turns Down Union Bid

DANVILLE, Va., April 20 (AP) — The Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, proposed today to end its 20-day strike against Dan River Mills by submitting all issues to arbitration.

The company immediately rejected the offer.

The union's negotiating committee sent a telegram and letter to the company this afternoon suggesting both parties agree to turn over the dispute to the Wage Stabilization Board being set up by President Truman for "a final and binding decision as to who is right."

Basil D. Browder, Dan River vice-president, said he would release a statement later explaining why the company cannot go along with the union request.

While top union officers concentrated their efforts on settling the strike, striking veterans, dressed in military uniforms or part of uniforms, paraded in front of the main Dan River plant at nearby Schoolfield.

State Police Captain R. C. Barham estimated that a total of about 10,000 persons milled about the plant during the afternoon.

But when marchers attempted to extend the parade into Danville, they were stopped by city police.

Danville Police Chief J. C. Garrett and Captain W. H. Mays advised the marching vets that the city requires a permit for parades. The crowds broke up and there were no incidents.

Plans For Aluminum Ban Are Cancelled

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—The government today cancelled a scheduled May 1 ban on the use of aluminum in more than 200 civilian products ranging from automobile trim to cigaret lighters.

The National Production Authority said it acted to prevent many manufacturers from having to close factories, giving them time to convert to defense production.

But even though the ban was lifted, the aluminum quotas of civilian goods makers were sharply reduced. Up to now they have been cut 35 per cent below their average use of aluminum during the first half of 1950. Effective May 1 the cut will be 50 per cent for May and June.

Education Aid Opposed

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP) — The Daughters of the American Revolution went on record today as opposed to federal aid to education on the grounds it would advance state socialism.

Two Tankers Collide In Fog With Probable 38 Fatalities

NEW ORLEANS, April 20 (AP)—Two oil tankers collided in a dense dawn fog in the Gulf of Mexico today with a probable death toll of 38. Both ships were swept by flames after the crash.

The Esso Greensboro was left a blazing hulk with only five of her 42 crewmen rescued. The 10,000-ton tanker wallowed in a sea of flaming oil spilled from the 140,000 barrel cargo she was carrying from Aransas Pass, Tex., to Baltimore and New York.

The 26,500-ton super tanker Esso Suez, the other ship in the collision, had a 20-foot gash in her bow about 10-feet above the water line. She was able, however, to put out the fires that swept her forepeak, and proceeded tonight toward New Orleans at her regular 17-knot speed. She was expected here tomorrow.

One Suez Crewman Killed

First Mate Walter Brehm, Lyndhurst, N. J., was the Suez's only reported fatality. But four of her 44 crewmen were badly burned.

The Suez was en route in ballast from Baltimore to Corpus Christi, Tex.

The Esso New York, which raced to the Greensboro's aid, radioed early this morning "no one believed alive on board."

Later, after rescuing four crewmen of the Greensboro, one badly burned, and recovering two charred bodies, the New York abandoned rescue efforts, saying there appeared no hope of there being any other survivors.

But a PBM (amphibious plane) sighted a fifth survivor late in the afternoon and dropped him a life raft and rations. The man climbed aboard the raft and was later taken aboard the Esso Burlington, also at the scene. He was reported badly burned. The Coast Guard identified him only by the last name McMann.

Smoke 500 Feet High

A Coast Guard PBY (another type amphibious plane) reported sighting only an empty lifeboat and two mattresses on the rough sea near the Greensboro.

Lt. William Schmidt, pilot of the plane, said the smoke from the blazing Greensboro "was at least 500 feet high and the water was burning near the ship. Oil was spread over a two-mile area. Flames leaped 150 feet into the air.

A Coast Guard officer here said the fire spread so rapidly Greensboro crewmen could put only one boat overside.

Refugees Say Field Is Held In Red Prison

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 20 (AP)—L. P. Beria's Soviet secret police are holding the long missing Noel H. Field in Moscow's dread Lubianka Prison, Czechoslovak refugee circles said today.

"That fellow is worth his weight in gold and is well taken care of by Beria," the editor of the weekly Cominform newspaper, Pavlo Yudin, was quoted as saying in an unguarded moment in Budapest.

Underground reports from Prague were the refugees' authority for other information on Field, a former U. S. State Department employee whom top Communists have called the No. 1 American spy.

The underground said Field was taken to Prague for the two-week period between Feb. 22 and March 7 by the MVD—the Russian secret police—to face former Communist Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis, now under arrest as a Titoist, pro-Western plotter.

An intelligence liaison man in World War II between the Allies and Eastern European Communists, Field disappeared from Prague in May, 1949, and his whereabouts since has been a stranger-than-fiction mystery. His wife, Herta, his brother, Hermann, a Cleveland, O., architect, and his adopted daughter, Mrs. Robert Wallach, all have vanished while hunting for him.

Actor Audie Murphy To Be Married Monday

DALLAS, April 20 (AP) — Movie Actor Audie Murphy and his Dallas sweetheart will be married Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Chapel of Highland Park Methodist Church here.

Pamela Archer, attractive dark-haired bride-to-be and until now a Braniff Airlines hostess supervisor, said the wedding would be a simple affair, attended by a few close friends.

Chambermaid Held In Long Series Of Hotel Gem Thefts

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—A $31-a-week chambermaid was arrested today by detectives who said she stole $350,000 to $400,000 worth of jewels from guests in 36 hotels.

Mrs. Julia Arbotofsky, 44, Brooklyn, was accused of rifling the rooms over a period of two and a half years. She was charged with grand larceny and held in $2,500 bail.

Police said she admitted the thefts and that they found $30,000 worth of jewelry and 233 pawn tickets in her apartment.

They said her method was to get jobs in one hotel after another without ever mentioning in her applications that she had been employed in a hotel before.

Her alleged thefts occurred in such well-known hotels as the Waldorf-Astoria, New Yorker, Essex House, Biltmore, Commodore, Roosevelt, St. Regis, Vanderbilt, Pierre, Sherry-Netherland and Ten Park Avenue.

Among the loot being sought through pawn shops was a diamond and platinum ring, with ruby, insured for $60,000 and reported missing last June by Mrs. Esther du-Pont Weir, of Wilmington, Del.

Other jewelry being sought by police included a $250 watch stolen from Mrs. Melville Marx, San Francisco.

Soldier Hero Acclaimed By Over 7 Million

Tired General Then Goes Into Seclusion

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur went into seclusion tonight, hugging to his heart the greatest acclaim this nation ever heaped upon a returning hero.

A roaring multitude that turned New York into a carnival city dispersed late in the day and the city rapidly fell back into its normal routine.

Small knots of curious people still clustered outside the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel even as street cleaners labored to rid the avenues of mountains of ticker-tape that showered MacArthur.

The patient onlookers hoped for one more glimpse of the General and his family.

However, an aide said MacArthur did not intend to leave the hotel tonight.

7,500,000 Cheer "Mac"

The mass outpouring of people and emotion—police estimated the crowd at 7,500,000—swelled into a thunderous tribute to the famed soldier who has sparked a deep and bitter conflict over American policy in Asia.

The ovation rolled from the green expanse of Central Park down into the gray stone depths of lower Manhattan during four hours and one minute of unbroken acclaim.

With Mrs. MacArthur and their 13-year-old son, Arthur, near his side, the General told a huge crowd at City Hall:

"As I watched your throngs, a great pride and a great confidence came upon me for here I saw in this great city, this melting pot [illegible] world, an indomitable force, [illegible] cannot fail to maintain our freedom and our way of life.

"This, I said to myself, is America. And this, with God's help, we shall keep American."

General Presented Medal

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri presented the General with a gold medal as a tribute from the people of the city.

The medal bears an inscription which says: "In defense of honor and liberty and the fundamental principles on which free institutions may rest."

MacArthur expressed deep appreciation of a "heart-warming reception" and declared:

"We shall never forget it. You have made us feel that we are indeed home."

And home he was, to a staggering demonstration which reflected the strange hold the MacArthur personality has taken on the imaginations of the American people.

The demonstration began last night when 1,500,000 impatient admirers turned out to cheer him on his drive into the city from the airport.

And it grew into a wild acclaim that swept through Manhattan like a storm wherever the General appeared, waving and smiling to the people.

The MacArthur parade would

Poland Bars U. S. Ships From Port

WARSAW, Poland, April 20 (AP) — Poland barred the American Scantic Lines today from the port of Gdynia in reprisal for American restrictions against the Batory, the 14,286-ton Polish ship on which Communist Gerhart Eisler fled the United States.

Scantic operates cargo-passenger ships. It is a subsidiary of the Moore-McCormack Lines. The Batory, operated by the Gdynia-America Line, is the only passenger ship which has linked the United States and Poland.

The Communist Polish government declared in a note to the U. S. Embassy the United States has discriminated against the Polish maritime flag and infringed on the maritime law and the freedom of the seas "under the pretext of security."

It referred to a close check of the Batory, the crew and passengers on her visits to New York by customs officials and FBI agents since Eisler got away May 6, 1949, and a recent ruling by New York's marine and aviation commissioner, Edward Cavanagh, Jr., that the Batory can no longer dock in Manhattan.

The Polish note contended the U. S. State Department was behind the order which made it impossible to lease New York piers.

‘MAC’ GETS RECORD N. Y. OVATION

Taft Charges Administration ‘Uses’ Bradley

No Sign Of Letup In Policy Dispute

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP) — The angry MacArthur-vs-Truman dispute brought from Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) today a charge that the administration is "using" Gen. Omar Bradley to serve its purposes.

It even brought some physical shoving around in a Senate radio recording room. On every hand, there were indications pointing to a showdown on foreign policy.

"The Truman administration is working both sides of the military and political street," Taft told a reporter. He said Bradley speaks out or keeps silent as the White House wishes.

Another demonstration of bitterness was the blow-less scuffle featuring Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), Humphrey (D-Minn) and Lehman (D-Lib-NY).

Building To Another Climax

Thus there was no sign of a let-up in the great quarrel on whether President Truman did right or wrong when he fired MacArthur from his Pacific commands last week with the explanation that the General didn't fit in with plans to restrict warfare to Korea.

Everything pointed to a build-up to another climax, probably late this month, when MacArthur returns to Washington for a question-and-answer session with the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The quarrel is pinpointed now on whether the Joint Chiefs of Staff—whose duty it is to advise the President on military matters— were for or against MacArthur's views on how to run the war in the Far East.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Armed Services group indicated it would investigate the Joint Chiefs' position. Sen. Long (D-La), Hunt (D-Wyo), Maybank (D-SC) and Duff (R-Pa) all called for the high command to speak up.

JCS Recommended Removal

MacArthur said in his speech to Congress yesterday that he believed his advocacy of air operations over Manchuria and of blockading Red China had been shared in the past, from a military standpoint, by the JCS.

A White House-authorized statement last night said the JCS were among the civilian and military leaders whose unanimous recommendations were followed by the President when he fired the General.

Gen. Bradley is chairman of the JCS. Taft's criticism of him was based on remarks Bradley made at Chapel Hill, N. C., last night and on a speech he made at Chicago Tuesday.

At Chapel Hill Bradley said the MacArthur dismissal is a political question and as a military man he could not discuss it. At Chicago, Bradley said that he supported Mr. Truman's view that any enlargement of the Korean fighting might lead to World War III.

Record 2,852 Tons Of Paper Tossed At Gen. M'Arthur

NEW YORK, April 20. (AP)—Confetti and ticker tape showered on the homecoming parade for Gen. Douglas MacArthur today was estimated to total a record-breaking 2,852 tons.

The previous record was 1,800 tons of paper tossed into the streets on the return of Howard Hughes from a globe-girdling flight in 1938.

The Sanitation Department, in estimating today's volume, said 3,200 workers were busy throughout the day cleaning up the falling paper, and that 500 employes will work through the night.

Senators' Policy Debate Winds Up In Shoving Match

Capehart, Humphrey, Lehman In Scuffle

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Three aroused senators ended a war of words over Gen. MacArthur's policies today with a shoving match at the door of a radio recording studio.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind), a heavily built man of 53 and a backer of MacArthur, told reporters that he seized Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) by the lapel and "threw him out" of the studio after Humphrey called him "a very dirty name."

Then, Capehart said, Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) "jumped me from the back, and I threw him back into the studio."

Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), who with Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) witnessed the brief scuffle, said it was "a kind of cream-puffy business. The boys were not trained very well."

But he added "Sen. Capehart had his Sunday punch ready when I stepped in as peacemaker."

Statement Issued

When the dust had settled Humphrey and Lehman issued a formal statement in which they said Capehart "has, unfortunately, seen fit to make misleading statements about this incident."

They said "there was no profanity" and "no blows were struck."

Saying they would have preferred not "to dignify" the affair with comment, the two Democrats added "it is unfortunate that debate on issues should elicit such violent emotional reaction as that displayed by Sen. Capehart."

After Capehart had gotten his breath he announced defiantly:

"I'm willing to fight anybody who calls me a warmonger or the Republican Party a war party."

As is usual in such rumpuses, accounts of what happened varied.

Lee Loevinger, council for the Senate Small Business Committee, who saw the scuffle said he did not hear any one use vile language. Taft agreed.

Called "S.O.B.," Capehart Says

Capehart declined to quote the language he attributed to Humphrey, saying "there's a lady in the room." A reporter asked him whether he meant "S.O.B.," and whether the words or letters were used.

"That's what it was," the Indiana Republican replied. "And he used the words."

Welker said he heard Capehart called an "S.O.B." and also heard him called "a liar" several times.

Capehart, Taft, Lehman and Humphrey gathered to make a recording of their views on Far Eastern policy and MacArthur's ouster for Blair Moody, a Detroit newspaperman and radio commentator.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics disclosed earlier today that its living costs index edged up four tenths of one per cent between mid-February and mid-March. It reached a level 184.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Since it had climbed from 173.8 last September 15, members of the electrical workers union were entitled under their contract to nine cents an hour additional pay.

Vice President Lemuel Boulware said the company expects to get permission from the government wage board to extend the increase to members of other unions in its plants "in order to treat all employes equitably."

While the big rival union is the United Electrical Workers, tossed out of the CIO in 1949 on charges of pro-Communist leadership, the company has contracts with several other AFL, CIO and various independent unions.

Provision is made in the wage stabilization program for so-called tandem or "piggy-back" increases where it is proven that it has been company practice to spread the same wage increases to other workers which are negotiated with a major union.

Presumably the company and the unions involved will have to win the approval of the new Wage Stabilization Board for such a tandem increase.

Condition Of Petain Extremely Critical

ILDE D'YEU, France, April 20. (AP)—The condition of Henri Philippe Petain, 94, chief of state during the Vichy regime, was extremely critical late tonight, after a new relapse in his fight against pneumonia.

'It looks very bad," said one of Petain's lawyers. "It may be a matter of hours."

Mrs. Petain abruptly interrupted her dinner at 9 p. m. (3 p. m. E.S.T.) to rush to her husband's bedside in his cell at a prison on this island, where he is serving a life sentence for treason.

Failure To Keep Engagement Costs Sinatra $47,046

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—Failure to keep a Minneapolis engagement cost Crooner Frank Sinatra a $47,046 court judgement today.

Supreme Court Justice Thomas L. J. Corcoran awarded the damages to the National Apparel Shows, before whom Sinatra was to have appeared last Sept. 5-7 during a fashion show.

Sinatra failed to answer the breach of contract suit.

The Minneapolis organization originally sued for $235,922, lumping loss of profits with alleged damage to the reputation of its shows.

However, Justice Corcoran limited the award to the fashion show's net loss, plus interest.

Dan River Turns Down Union Bid

DANVILLE, Va., April 20 (AP) — The Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, proposed today to end its 20-day strike against Dan River Mills by submitting all issues to arbitration.

The company immediately rejected the offer.

The union's negotiating committee sent a telegram and letter to the company this afternoon suggesting both parties agree to turn over the dispute to the Wage Stabilization Board being set up by President Truman for "a final and binding decision as to who is right."

Basil D. Browder, Dan River vice-president, said he would release a statement later explaining why the company cannot go along with the union request.

While top union officers concentrated their efforts on settling the strike, striking veterans, dressed in military uniforms or part of uniforms, paraded in front of the main Dan River plant at nearby Schoolfield.

State Police Captain R. C. Barham estimated that a total of about 10,000 persons milled about the plant during the afternoon.

But when marchers attempted to extend the parade into Danville, they were stopped by city police.

Danville Police Chief J. C. Garrett and Captain W. H. Mays advised the marching vets that the city requires a permit for parades. The crowds broke up and there were no incidents.

Plans For Aluminum Ban Are Cancelled

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—The government today cancelled a scheduled May 1 ban on the use of aluminum in more than 200 civilian products ranging from automobile trim to cigaret lighters.

The National Production Authority said it acted to prevent many manufacturers from having to close factories, giving them time to convert to defense production.

But even though the ban was lifted, the aluminum quotas of civilian goods makers were sharply reduced. Up to now they have been cut 35 per cent below their average use of aluminum during the first half of 1950. Effective May 1 the cut will be 50 per cent for May and June.

Education Aid Opposed

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP) — The Daughters of the American Revolution went on record today as opposed to federal aid to education on the grounds it would advance state socialism.

Two Tankers Collide In Fog With Probable 38 Fatalities

NEW ORLEANS, April 20 (AP)—Two oil tankers collided in a dense dawn fog in the Gulf of Mexico today with a probable death toll of 38. Both ships were swept by flames after the crash.

The Esso Greensboro was left a blazing hulk with only five of her 42 crewmen rescued. The 10,000-ton tanker wallowed in a sea of flaming oil spilled from the 140,000 barrel cargo she was carrying from Aransas Pass, Tex., to Baltimore and New York.

The 26,500-ton super tanker Esso Suez, the other ship in the collision, had a 20-foot gash in her bow about 10-feet above the water line. She was able, however, to put out the fires that swept her forepeak, and proceeded tonight toward New Orleans at her regular 17-knot speed. She was expected here tomorrow.

One Suez Crewman Killed

First Mate Walter Brehm, Lyndhurst, N. J., was the Suez's only reported fatality. But four of her 44 crewmen were badly burned.

The Suez was en route in ballast from Baltimore to Corpus Christi, Tex.

The Esso New York, which raced to the Greensboro's aid, radioed early this morning "no one believed alive on board."

Later, after rescuing four crewmen of the Greensboro, one badly burned, and recovering two charred bodies, the New York abandoned rescue efforts, saying there appeared no hope of there being any other survivors.

But a PBM (amphibious plane) sighted a fifth survivor late in the afternoon and dropped him a life raft and rations. The man climbed aboard the raft and was later taken aboard the Esso Burlington, also at the scene. He was reported badly burned. The Coast Guard identified him only by the last name McMann.

Smoke 500 Feet High

A Coast Guard PBY (another type amphibious plane) reported sighting only an empty lifeboat and two mattresses on the rough sea near the Greensboro.

Lt. William Schmidt, pilot of the plane, said the smoke from the blazing Greensboro "was at least 500 feet high and the water was burning near the ship. Oil was spread over a two-mile area. Flames leaped 150 feet into the air.

A Coast Guard officer here said the fire spread so rapidly Greensboro crewmen could put only one boat overside.

The collision occurred at 5 a. m. (CST) about 200 miles south of Morgan City, La., a small costal city midway between New Orleans and Lake Charles, La.

Refugees Say Field Is Held In Red Prison

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 20 (AP)—L. P. Beria's Soviet secret police are holding the long missing Noel H. Field in Moscow's dread Lubianka Prison, Czechoslovak refugee circles said today.

"That fellow is worth his weight in gold and is well taken care of by Beria," the editor of the weekly Cominform newspaper, Pavlo Yudin, was quoted as saying in an unguarded moment in Budapest.

Underground reports from Prague were the refugees' authority for other information on Field, a former U. S. State Department employee whom top Communists have called the No. 1 American spy.

The underground said Field was taken to Prague for the two-week period between Feb. 22 and March 7 by the MVD—the Russian secret police—to face former Communist Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis, now under arrest as a Titoist, pro-Western plotter.

An intelligence liaison man in World War II between the Allies and Eastern European Communists, Field disappeared from Prague in May, 1949, and his whereabouts since has been a stranger-than-fiction mystery. His wife, Herta, his brother, Hermann, a Cleveland, O., architect, and his adopted daughter, Mrs. Robert Wallach, all have vanished while hunting for him.

Actor Audie Murphy To Be Married Monday

DALLAS, April 20 (AP) — Movie Actor Audie Murphy and his Dallas sweetheart will be married Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Chapel of Highland Park Methodist Church here.

Pamela Archer, attractive dark-haired bride-to-be and until now a Braniff Airlines hostess supervisor, said the wedding would be a simple affair, attended by a few close friends.

Chambermaid Held In Long Series Of Hotel Gem Thefts

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—A $31-a-week chambermaid was arrested today by detectives who said she stole $350,000 to $400,000 worth of jewels from guests in 35 hotels.

Mrs. Julia Arbotofsky, 44, Brooklyn, was accused of rifling the rooms over a period of two and a half years. She was charged with grand larceny and held in $2,500 bail.

Police said she admitted the thefts and that they found $30,000 worth of jewelry and 233 pawn tickets in her apartment.

They said her method was to get jobs in one hotel after another without ever mentioning in her applications that she had been employed in a hotel before.

Her alleged thefts occurred in such well-known hotels as the Waldorf-Astoria, New Yorker, Essex House, Biltmore, Commodore, Roosevelt, St. Regis, Vanderbilt, Pierre, Sherry-Netherland and Ten Park Avenue.

Among the loot being sought through pawn shops was a diamond and platinum ring, with ruby, insured for $60,000 and reported missing last June by Mrs. Esther du-Pont Weir, of Wilmington, Del.

Other jewelry being sought by police included a $250 watch stolen from Mrs. Melville Marx, San Francisco.

Soldier Hero Acclaimed By Over 7 Million

Tired General Then Goes Into Seclusion

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur went into seclusion tonight, hugging to his heart the greatest acclaim this nation ever heaped upon a returning hero.

A roaring multitude that turned New York into a carnival city dispersed late in the day and the city rapidly fell back into its normal routine.

Small knots of curious people still clustered outside the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel even as street cleaners labored to rid the avenues of mountains of ticker-tape that showered MacArthur.

The patient onlookers hoped for one more glimpse of the General and his family.

However, an aide said MacArthur did not intend to leave the hotel tonight.

7,500,000 Cheer "Mac"

The mass outpouring of people and emotion—police estimated the crowd at 7,500,000—swelled into a thunderous tribute to the famed soldier who has sparked a deep and bitter conflict over American policy in Asia.

The ovation rolled from the green expanse of Central Park down into the gray stone depths of lower Manhattan during four hours and one minute of unbroken acclaim.

With Mrs. MacArthur and their 13-year-old son, Arthur, near his side, the General told a huge crowd at City Hall:

"As I watched your throngs, a great pride and a great confidence came upon me for here I saw in this great city, this melting pot [illegible] world, an indomitable force [illegible] cannot fail to maintain our freedom and our way of life.

"This, I said to myself, is America. And this, with God's help, we shall keep American."

General Presented Medal

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri presented the General with a gold medal as a tribute from the people of the city.

The medal bears an inscription which says: "In defense of honor and liberty and the fundamental principles on which free institutions may rest."

MacArthur expressed deep appreciation of a "heart-warming reception" and declared:

"We shall never forget it. You have made us feel that we are indeed home."

And home he was, to a staggering demonstration which reflected the strange hold the MacArthur personality has taken on the imaginations of the American people.

The demonstration began last night when 1,500,000 impatient admirers turned out to cheer him on his drive into the city from the airport.

And it grew into a wild acclaim that swept through Manhattan like a storm wherever the General appeared, waving and smiling to the people.

The MacArthur parade would

Poland Bars U. S. Ships From Port

WARSAW, Poland, Apirl 20 (AP)—Poland barred the American Scantic Lines today from the port of Gdynia in reprisal for American restrictions against the Batory, the 14,286-ton Polish ship on which Communist Gerhart Eisler fled the United States.

Scantic operates cargo-passenger ships. It is a subsidiary of the Moore-McCormack Lines. The Batory, operated by the Gdynia-America Line, is the only passenger ship which has linked the United States and Poland.

The Communist Polish government declared in a note to the U. S. Embassy the United States had discriminated against the Polish maritime flag and infringed on maritime law and the freedom of the seas "under the pretext of security."

It referred to a close check of the Batory, the crew and passengers on her visits to New York by customs officials and FBI agents since Eisler got away May 6, 1949, and a recent ruling by New York's marine and aviation commissioner, Edward Cavanagh, Jr., that the Batory can no longer dock in Manhattan.

The Polish note contended the U. S. State Department was behind the order which made it impossible to lease New York piers.

McKeldin Signs Bills To Check Dope Peddling

BALTIMORE, April 20 (AP)—Life will be tougher for dope peddlers caught with the goods under two General Assembly acts signed into law today by Gov. McKeldin.

One increases the penalties for trafficking in narcotics. The other provides for the confiscation of vehicles, airplanes or boats used to transport illegal drugs.

The two bills were among 74 signed by the Governor in ceremonies in his Baltimore office.

This brings to 523 the number of 1951 General Assembly acts approved by McKeldin to date, and leaves 251 pending for his consideration. The Governor has slated another bill signing session for next Friday in Annapolis.

Another important piece of legislation given gubernatorial approval today provides for indeterminate sentences for menal defectives convicted of crime.

They will be confined in a new institution to be constructed near the House of Correction at Jessup. These "defective delinquents" covered by the terms of the bill are sane in the legal sense of the word, but are still dangerous to society, because they are unable to control their impulse toward crime.

Under the act, a state's attorney may call for an examination of those convicted of certain serious crimes. If they are found to be defective delinquents, they will be committed to the new penal unit.

There, they will not be treated as criminals, but as mentally ill patients. They will be given psychiatric treatment and released if and when they are cured.

Oren E. Long Named Governor Of Hawaii

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Oren Ethelbirt Long, a Kansan who went to Hawaii 34 years ago as a social settlement worker, was named by President Truman today to be governor of Hawaii.

The White House announced that the nomination will be sent to the Senate Monday.

Long will succeed Gov. Ingram M. Stainback who has submitted his resignation. Stainback was nominated recently to be an associate justice of the Hawaii Supreme Court.

Long, 62, has been secretary of Hawaii since 1946.

MacArthur "Unsigned"

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur has had several offers from the business world, but has made no definite commitments.

One of MacArthur's aides was quoted to this effect today by a publisher attending the American Society of Newspaper Editors convention.

Jet Fighter Loses Parts Near Frederick

FREDERICK, Md., April 20 (AP)—An Air Force jet fighter (F2H2) flying cross-country from Kansas to Atlantic City lost part of one engine and its tail cone over the city's outskirts today.

The falling parts caused no damage, although a part of a jet turbine dropped within 200 feet of a brick apartment house at Camp Detrick, west of town, and the cone, weighing about 90 pounds, fell into Farmer Anthony Main's field, where he was plowing.

The Air Force at Middletown, Pa., reported the plane made it back safely to Atlantic City. It and another fighter had been on a cross-country hop.

Senate Group Okays Food-In-India Plan

WASHINGTON, April 20. (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved today a plan to speed $95,000,000 worth of food to famine-stricken India.

Chairman Connally said members recommended at a closed session that half the food be a gift and that the government lend India $47,500,000 to pay for the balance.

He said the committee also voted to authorize another $95,000,000 worth for use under the same terms later if Congress provides the funds. Shipments will include wheat, other grains, beans or the equivalents.

Ivanoe Bonomi, Former Italian Premier, Dies

ROME, April 20 (AP) — Ivanoe Bonomi, 77, a grey-bearded former professor and journalist who served Italy as premier before and after the era of Mussolini's Fascism, died today.

A veteran of 53 years of politics, Bonomi was president of Italy's Senate and directed its sessions until a few days ago, when he became critically ill of a heart ailment.

Arthur Stays Home

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—Arthur MacArthur, 13, didn't attend the official luncheon today for his father, Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Tenant Loses Fight To Oust Landlord So Battle Goes On

ALLEN PARK, Mich., April 20 (INS)—Bedlam continued to reign tonight in a five-room Allen Park, Mich., bungalow, the object of a wierd court battle in which a tenant lost a fight to oust his landlord.

Still living together in an atmosphere charged with tension are the Marston and Meloche families after a Municipal Court jury denied a trespassing charge against the home's owner, 43-year-old Henry Meloche.

The bizarre situation began April 7 when Meloche and his wife moved into their newly-purchased home while the tenants—Francis Marston, 38, his wife and 12-year-old daughter—were off to a barn dance.

The Marstons, who had rented for six months previous to the sale, came home to discover the invasion and promptly filed suit, charging illegal entry and possession.

Both families told the court of near riots highlighting the two weeks that ensued.

Meloche bought the house a month earlier and produced witnesses to a verbal agreement in which the Marstons promised to move within 10 days.

The jury, claiming "this was a case of honor, not law," discounted testimony that the Meloches' occupancy was in strict violation of U. S. law and decided in the owner's favor.

Now the Marstons have filed with the Office of the Housing Expediter for a federal injunction ousting the Meloches.

Millions Watch On TV

They were all these, straining for a glimpse of the man with the gold-braided cap who was seeing this city for the first time in 14 stormy years of war and peace. Other millions in the city and across the nation watched the spectacle on their television sets.

The thunder of cheers began when MacArthur stepped from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel at 11:06 a. m., EST, to enter an open car which led the 50 motor car parade.

The crowds began gathering three hours before the parade, jockeying for positions from which they could see the five-star warrior who was fired by President Truman in their differences over the conduct of the war in Korea.

The MacArthur caravan moved uptown through Central Park where thousands of children screamed a high, piercing welcome.

Downtown office workers were given a holiday and they swarmed into the streets or jammed windows and ledges and balconies.

Even before the General arrived in the deep canyons of lower Manhattan, there was a storm of confetti, torn paper, and ticker tape showered from the tall buildings.

Confetti Blizzard

The low murmur of the crowd rose into a roar as the MacArthur cavalcade reached Battery Park and turned up Broadway. The whistles of steamers, fire boats and tugs loosed a deep-throated rumble of welcome.

The confetti and ticker storm grew into a blizzard. At times it blanked out the television cameras view.

The parade wound up the sun splashed street and through the deep shadows cast by the towering skyscrapers from which millions of eyes peered down on the scene.

Police Commissioner Thomas Murphy, who announced the official crowd estimate, said the Broadway crowd was so dense they were packed 100 deep at places.

This turnout was almost double the 4,000,000 who greeted Charles Lindbergh in 1927 and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1945.

Vandenberg Funeral Will Be Held Today

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 20. (AP)—An estimated 1,500 persons—city officials, white collar and factory workers and school children—passed by the bier of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg today.

As the body of the foreign policy leader lay in a funeral home, final preparations were made for the arrival of a host of Washington dignitaries for the funeral here tomorrow.

Vice President Alben W. Barkley is due in by private plane at 1 p. m. Saturday, an hour before the services.

About the same time another plane will bring in Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer and W. Averell Harriman, special presidential adviser on foreign affairs.

through 15 miles of city streets banked with masses of people in a holiday mood—dirty-faced dead-end kids, booted fishermen and straw-hatted waterfront buyers, housewives, school children, office workers and captains of industry.

Millions Watch On TV

They were all these, straining for a glimpse of the man with the gold-braided cap who was seeing this city for the first time in 14 stormy years of war and peace. Other millions in the city and across the nation watched the spectacle on their television sets.

The thunder of cheers began when MacArthur stepped from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel at 11:06 a. m., EST, to enter an open car which led the 50 motor car parade.

The crowds began gathering three hours before the parade, jockeying for positions from which they could see the five-star warrior who was fired by President Truman in their differences over the conduct of the war in Korea.

The MacArthur caravan moved uptown through Central Park where thousands of children screamed a high, piercing welcome.

Downtown office workers were given a holiday and they swarmed into the streets or jammed windows and ledges and balconies.

Even before the General arrived in the deep canyons of lower Manhattan, there was a storm of confetti, torn paper, and ticker tape showered from the tall buildings.

Confetti Blizzard

The low murmur of the crowds rose into a roar as the MacArthur cavalcade reached Battery Park and turned up Broadway. The whistles of steamers, fire boats and tugs loosed a deep-throated rumble of welcome.

The confetti and ticker storm grew into a blizzard. At times it blanked out the television cameras view.

The parade wound up the sun splashed street and through the deep shadows cast by the towering skyscrapers from which millions of eyes peered down on the scene.

Police Commissioner Thomas Murphy, who announced the official crowd estimate, said the Broadway crowd was so dense they were packed 100 deep at places.

This turnout was almost double the 4,000,000 who greeted Charles Lindbergh in 1927 and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1945.

Vandenberg Funeral Will Be Held Today

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 20 (AP)—An estimated 1,500 persons—city officials, white collar and factory workers and school children—passed by the bier of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg today.

As the body of the foreign policy leader lay in a funeral home, final preparations were made for the arrival of a host of Washington dignitaries for the funeral here tomorrow.

Vice President Alben W. Barkley is due in by private plane at 1 p. m. Saturday, an hour before the services.

About the same time another plane will bring in Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer and W. Averell Harriman, special presidential adviser on foreign affairs.

McKeldin Signs Bills To Check Dope Peddling

BALTIMORE, April 20 (AP)—Life will be tougher for dope peddlers caught with the goods under two General Assembly acts signed into law today by Gov. McKeldin.

One increases the penalties for trafficking in narcotics. The other provides for the confiscation of vehicles, airplanes or boats used to transport illegal drugs.

The two bills were among 74 signed by the Governor in ceremonies in his Baltimore office.

This brings to 523 the number of 1951 General Assembly acts approved by McKeldin to date, and leaves 251 pending for his consideration. The Governor has slated another bill signing session for next Friday in Annapolis.

Another important piece of legislation given gubernatorial approval today provides for indeterminate sentences for menal defectives convicted of crime.

They will be confined in a new institution to be constructed near the House of Correction at Jessup.

These "defective delinquents" covered by the terms of the bill are sane in the legal sense of the word, but are still dangerous to society, because they are unable to control their impulse toward crime.

Under the act, a state's attorney may call for an examination of those convicted of certain serious crimes. If they are found to be defective delinquents, they will be committed to the new penal unit.

There, they will not be treated as criminals, but as mentally ill patients. They will be given psychiatric treatment and released if and when they are cured.

Oren E. Long Named Governor Of Hawaii

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Oren Ethelbirt Long, a Kansan who went to Hawaii 34 years ago as a social settlement worker, was named by President Truman today to be governor of Hawaii.

The White House announced that the nomination will be sent to the Senate Monday.

Long will succeed Gov. Ingram M. Stainback who has submitted his resignation. Stainback was nominated recently to be an associate justice of the Hawaii Supreme Court.

Long, 62, has been secretary of Hawaii since 1946.

MacArthur "Unsigned"

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur has had several offers from the business world, but has made no definite commitments.

One of MacArthur's aides was quoted to this effect today by a publisher attending the American Society of Newspaper Editors convention.

Jet Fighter Loses Parts Near Frederick

FREDERICK, Md., April 20 (AP)—An Air Force jet fighter (F2H2) flying cross-country from Kansas to Atlantic City lost part of one engine and its tail cone over the city's outskirts today.

The falling parts caused no damage, although a part of a jet turbine dropped within 200 feet of a brick apartment house at Camp Detrick, west of town, and the cone, weighing about 90 pounds, fell into Farmer Anthony Main's field, where he was plowing.

The Air Force at Middletown, Pa., reported the plane made it back safely to Atlantic City. It and another fighter had been on a cross-country hop.

Senate Group Okays Food-In-India Plan

WASHINGTON, April 20. (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved today a plan to speed $95,000,000 worth of food to famine-stricken India.

Chairman Connally said members recommended at a closed session that half the food be a gift and that the government lend India $47,500,000 to pay for the balance.

He said the committee also voted to authorize another $95,000,000 worth for use under the same terms later if Congress provides the funds. Shipments will include wheat, other grains, beans or the equivalents.

Ivanoe Bonomi, Former Italian Premier, Dies

ROME, April 20 (AP) — Ivanoe Bonomi, 77, a grey-bearded former professor and journalist who served Italy as premier before and after the era of Mussolini's Fascism, died today.

A veteran of 53 years of politics, Bonomi was president of Italy's Senate and directed its sessions until a few days ago, when he became critically ill of a heart ailment.

Arthur Stays Home

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—Arthur MacArthur, 13, didn't attend the official luncheon today for his father, Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Tenant Loses Fight To Oust Landlord So Battle Goes On

ALLEN PARK, Mich., April 20 (INS)—Bedlam continued to reign tonight in a five-room Allen Park, Mich., bungalow, the object of a wierd court battle in which a tenant lost a fight to oust his landlord.

Still living together in an atmosphere charged with tension are the Marston and Meloche families after a Municipal Court jury denied a trespassing charge against the home's owner, 43-year-old Henry Meloche.

The bizarre situation began April 7 when Meloche and his wife moved into their newly-purchased home while the tenants—Francis Marston, 38, his wife and 12-year-old daughter—were off to a barn dance.

The Marstons, who had rented for six months previous to the sale, came home to discover the invasion and promptly filed suit, charging illegal entry and possession.

Both families told the court of near riots highlighting the two weeks that ensued.

Meloche bought the house a month earlier and produced witnesses to a verbal agreement in which the Marstons promised to move within 10 days.

The jury, claiming "this was a case of honor, not law," discounted testimony that the Meloches' occupancy was in strict violation of U. S. law and decided in the owner's favor.

Where The Oil Goes

The oil strike at the Abadan refinery in Iran can have serious consequences for countries in many other parts of the world. A complete shut-off of oil from Iran would mean shortages for consumers in Western Europe, the Mediterranean, and North Africa. Production in the U. S. could probably compensate for any drastic shortage in friendly countries. The difficulty would be economic rather than political. A barrel of Texas kerosene, consigned to India, would be almost prohibitively expensive.

Under British agreements with Iran, about 60 per cent of the oil that country produces goes west of Suez to Europe, the Mediterranean area, North Africa. About 40 per cent goes east and south to India, South Africa, and other countries with which Britain would like to maintain friendship.

Of the world production of oil, something in excess of 10 million barrels a day, the U. S. produces about 6 million barrels a day. The Middle East produces about 2 million. Most of the Middle East production — about 1.4 million — comes from Iran and Saudi Arabia. The struck Abadan plant in Iran, which normally turns out about 550,000 of Iran's whole 700,000 barrels a day shipments, was down to 100,000 in mid-April. The Abadan plant is a refinery. The crux of any immediate oil shortage will be the lack of refining facilities rather than any shortage of crude oil production.

The Iranian Majlis (parliament) has adopted a resolution calling for nationalization of that country's oil industry. The resolution set up a committee which would report in several months on the form nationalization should take. Meantime, the Abadan plant, largest oil refinery in the world, has been struck. As of April 17 about one-sixth of the 12,000 workers at Abadan were still on the job, and the plant was running at about one-fifth of capacity.

If the throttling of Iranian production facilities continues for an indefinite period, oil producers of the non-Soviet world will probably get together to switch types of exports and means of transportation to keep Europe supplied. Even a stoppage of all U.S. imports of oil from foreign countries would not alleviate the European need, for U.S. imports are about evenly divided between crude oil and heavy fuel oil. Europe needs the lighter oil fractions which have come from Iran. However, the U.S. Petroleum Administration for Defense confidently believes the American industry could raise its current production by 250,000 to 300,000 barrels a day to make up the European shortage if shipping can be made available.

The National Petroleum News has pointed out, however, that without great expansion of existing facilities, consumers in this country may themselves face shortages of gasoline and other petroleum products within 18 months. The PAD has called for expansion of U.S. production facilities by almost 12 per cent—700,000 barrels a day. The United States consumed almost 40 billion gallons of gasoline in 1950 —about 8.1 per cent over 1949. At the end of March, without considering boosts caused by summer driving, automobile registrations were up 52 per cent over 1940 levels, gasoline consumption was up 59.2 per cent, and gasoline stocks were up only 37.3 per cent.

Preventing Beriberi

Through long medical research one of the world's greatest disease scourges — beriberi — may have been brought to the threshold of total prevention. It has taken tens of thousands of lives annually, particularly among peope whose main article of food is rice. Its practical elimination would be as great an accomplishment and as great a blessing to humanity as the conquering of yellow fever.

Endemic in Malaya, India, China, Japan, the Philippines and parts of South America, beriberi was formerly thought to emanate from malaria poisoning or infection. This theory was exploded a half century ago.

Then it was established that the disease resulted from the lack of some vital substance in the diet of its victims. Years later the substance—vitamin B-1—was isolated and found to be existing in the minute amount of 10 grains to a ton of nonprocessed rice, but absent from the milled product.

With the synthetizing of vitamin B-1 by Dr. Robert R. Williams, testing rice thus fortified began. The first large-scale experiment was started in the Bataan area of the Philippines in 1948. Dr. Williams, who has just returned from there, reports that as of April 1 not a single death from the disease had been reported in a year in that area, which formerly had one of the highest beriberi mortality rates.

This life-saving record, according to Dr. Williams, can be extended at a cost of 35 cents a year per capita. Every nation afflicted by this scourge should be able to afford such an outlay without calling on the U. S. Treasury for help.

Man's World

England is now described by at least one reporter as the last stronghold of the male. British women, if they do not know their place, are put in it quickly and, it seems, not too politely. This conclusion is inescapable after reading the comments of the critics who covered the premiere of Judy Garland, the American movie star in London on a European tour.

Miss Garland, as is well known to Americans who saw her last picture, has put on a touch of heft. But her new chubbiness went unremarked in print in the United States, and not only because the critics were sympathetic to a girl who has been having a rugged time in her private life.

It just wouldn't occur to the average American film reviewer to make unkind remarks about a young actress' added poundage. But in London they come up with such descriptions as "ungainly matron" and such adjectives as "fat," which are not only unkind but downright exaggeration. However, her 2,500-seat theater in London is booked solid for the next four weeks. Perhaps the blighters have heard that she is rich.

But Americans, who hear so much about the smoother manners and superlative tact of their transatlantic cousins—and who have seen how well these have worked when practiced on officials in Washington—cannot help but wonder whether the sternness of a man's world is relieved by no touch of chivalry.

Editorial Paragraphs

The administration has a lot of trouble shooters, but the troubles just won't stay shot.

One trouble is no one seems to know what to do with the facts fact finders are digging up.

Crop production is still up in the air but chances are 1951 will produce a big crop of wild oats.

How To Keep Well

Selecting The Right Camp

THERE are many advantages to summer camps for children. They satisfy the hunger of the city child for firsthand experience with water, animals, plants, woods, and the campfire. For many boys it affords the only opportunity to live like our old childhood heroes, Daniel Boone and Buffalo Bill; and girls have a chance to become temporary tomboys if they wish.

Parents often find it difficult to select a suitable camp. In many cities there are bureaus or camp associations that have information on registered camps. The physical setup is important, although luxury elegance, and swank are not needed. Occasionally these qualities defeat the purpose of the adventure because they do not allow the guests the freedom of roughing it. Cleanliness is essential and there must be facilities for proper sanitation. The quarters should be dry and comfortable and adequate space must be provided for eating, resting, sleeping, and quiet play both indoors and out. Accident prevention must be part of the program, especially for the tenderfoot.

The better camps have directors and counselors who are experienced in group work and recreation. Many are educators who have made camping a vocation. But more is needed than simply a love of children; the leaders should be able to direct and guide with forethought and judgment. Good manners and an attractive appearance also are helpful. The parents ought to study the program of camps that are being considered. Direction and imagination are preferred to regimentation. The same thing day in and day out is tolerated for a short time but becomes tiresome, especially if six to eight weeks are to be spent at the camp. Is exercise regulated and followed by sufficient rest? Are the meals well balanced and the social activities both educationable and enjoyable? Is adventure encouraged by hiking and exploring?

A good camp has facilities for first aid and the parents should be assured that they will be called if the child is ill or injured. Many camps have a nurse, physician, or both on the premises or within call. A strict physical examination prior to enrollment means that the camp directors are "on the ball" and want to do the right thing. This protects all the youngsters, including your own. Many camps will not accept problem cases. This feature is attractive to parents who feel that their offspring should not be penalized by the behavior difficulties of some other child.

All these factors should be weighed against the individual needs of the boy or girl. Younger children feel more secure when the camp is close to home because it means that the parents can visit them easily. The lad who is an individualist and adverse to regimentation is likely to get the most out of a place where competition is not emphasized. Occasionally the opposite is true, in that living in a stricter environment will help. The larger and better staffed camps are capable of handling many different types of temperament.

PLASTIC SURGERY

Mrs. F. writes: Can a woman with controlled diabetes safely undergo face lifting? I'm young looking except for my face wrinkles.

REPLY

Yes. In any type of surgery, however, diabetes requires greater supervision and the added risk must be taken into consideration before undergoing an operation that is not absolutely necessary.

HELPS SOLDIERS; NOT VEINS

V. R. writes: I have ugly enlarged veins on my hands. Would becoming a blood donor cure this condition?

REPLY

No, but it would help our combat casualties.

GELATINE

L. K. writes: Someone told me that eating lots of gelatine would help my nails, so I started taking it. Now someone tells me that gelatine will cause a coronary. Is all this true?

REPLY

Wrong on both counts. Recently gelatine has been receiving publicity as an agent to improve the nails and the hair. We are unable to discover the rationale behind this recommendation. It is a good food because of its protein content but it does not contain all the essentials, amino acids such as are found in meat, milk, and eggs. In this respect it is not a complete food but can be considered a supplement to the regular diet.

USELESS

G. J. writes: Will spirits of niter strengthen the kidneys and in this way prevent bedwetting? My grandmother recommends it for my two youngsters.

REPLY

This preparation may have been recommended by your grandmother's grandmother ad infinitum. Bedwetting is not due to weak kidneys; in fact there is no such thing. Furthermore, if you think of the organs as filters it becomes obvious that nothing we eat or drink will have a "hardening" effect on the structures.

Military, Or Political?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

New Face Looms On GOP Political Horizon; Democrats May Choose Eisenhower If Republicans Choose MacArthur; No Rest For GIs In Korea

WASHINGTON — Up until this week, most of the top strategists in the Republican party were reasonably sure that the GOP National Convention battle 15 months hence would be between two men — Taft and Eisenhower. Now they aren't so sure.

The man who has upset them is the General who came back from Tokyo this week. Even despite the General's disclaimer of political ambitions, the politicos are upset.

It would be a mistake to say that those who mould policy inside the GOP are too enthusiastic about MacArthur as a candidate. In the first place, they couldn't control him. Secondly, patronage would be his, not theirs — and patronage is something without which no political boss can long survive.

This, incidentally, is one reason the party bosses never have been enthusiastic about General Eisenhower. For he likewise probably would not understand how the party system works. That is why Taft always has been the favorite of the chief architects of the Grand Old Party.

Nevertheless, the glamorous MacArthur, plus the crowds he has drawn, the appeal he seems to have, the manner in which he has made President Truman take a back seat, has made GOP planners think twice. Some do so with great regret, because they had their heart set on Taft. Some are waiting to see how soon — if ever — MacArthur stubs his toe.

Some are wondering also what the MacArthur boom will do to Eisenhower. If the GOP nominates a military man for president, then the Democrats are certain to offset him with a military man of their own adoption—Eisenhower.

That is why the return of the General of the Army from Tokyo this week has turned the GOP candidate-pickers literally topsy-turvy. And it will take a couple of weeks for them to get their political predictions reshuffled and in place again.

Sharp-tongued Sen. Tom Connally of Texas was ribbing Vice President Alben Barkley, a Kentuckian, about his reputation as a storyteller.

"That's the only way you can get elected in Kentucky—telling those hillbillies down there stories to keep them happy," said Connally.

"If you told more jokes and discarded that sour look, I'll bet you'd get all the votes in Texas," countered the Veep.

"I don't want all the votes, just the majority," replied Connally. "I couldn't stand being obligated to everybody in Texas."

In order to help servicemen with their problems of adjusting to military life, this column periodically publishes excerpts from GI letters and tries to answer their complaints. Names are withheld upon request.

Company G, 15th Infantry, Third Division, Korea — "We have just been brought back from the front for a rest. As we understand it, we are supposed to spend this time to rest, write letters and catch up on much-needed sleep — plus a little recreation. Instead we have spent our rest period building a sidewalk in a Korean village outside of Seoul. We have been working long hours, hauling chunks of stone, weighing up to 100 pounds, from a nearby cliff."

Answer—Front-line troops should be entitled to a rest. The Army has promised a thorough investigation of the incident you report.

A Private, Camp Stoneman, Calif. —"I was forced to travel to Camp Stoneman by train. Why shouldn't the Army let me spend the same amount of money for an airplane ticket, so I can spend more time at home on furlough?"

Answer—The Defense Department has an unofficial policy of giving the railroads priority on military passenger travel. This is partly due to the fact that in wartime the airlines have been so crowded that it is difficult to get space on them.

A Draftee, Ft. Lewis, Wash.—"The Coast Guard is a haven for draft dodgers. Those who are lucky enough to get into port security units are exempt from the draft until M-Day. This isn't fair to the rect of us."

Answer—It is true that draft-eligible men have been able to get into Coast Guard port security units. It is also true that all they are required to do is attend 48 drills and serve two weeks active duty per year. This automatically exempts them from the draft. However, the Coast Guard claims it has sent letters to 160,000 ex-Coast Guard men in an attempt to recruit 289 officers and 2,420 enlisted men for port security units. Only after all other methods failed, the Coast Guard claims, did it open these units to draft eligible men. These units are still short 67 officers and 286 men.

Mrs. Otto Tissof, St. Louis, Mo.—"My son has been in Korea all winter, and in each letter, he asks for food. The mail rates to Korea are very high. Isn't there any way these packages can be sent cheaper?"

Answer—Congressman Cecil King, California Democrat, has introduced a bill to provide free parcel post for wives and parents of service-men sending packages to Korea. It is now up to Congress.

NOTE—Several letters have been received from veterans of the Fourth Marine Division, asking whether the war will interfere with their annual reunion. The answer is that there will be no interference. The reunion will be held in Chicago at the Hotel Sherman, June 28, 29 and 30.

Truman Telephones

President Truman was so pressed for votes during the fight on the 18½-year-old draft that he called a Republican senator off the floor and lectured him.

Sen. Wayne Morse, the energetic Oregonian, was arguing against the Administration's 18-year-old draft when a page told him of an urgent telephone call.

It was the President.

"I have Secretary Marshall here with me," he said, "and both of us want you to know you're not helping him."

Morse was a little surprised, but replied:

"I respect you and the Secretary, Mr. President, but this is a matter of conviction with me."

In the end, Senator Morse won. Congress passed the 18½-year-old draft, not the 18-year-old.

Extent Of Blame

By MARK SULLIVAN

ONE of the contributions of the late Sen. Vandenberg to public thought was his early recognition that the differences between the United States and Russia are irreconcilable. Had we recognized it then, and especially had we remembered it steadily, we should have avoided what we are obliged to confront today.

In July, 1946, Vandenberg had just returned from a council at Paris, at which the United States, Russia, and representatives of other nations had gathered to make a beginning toward peace. Vandenberg, as one of our representatives, was making an official report and undoubtedly felt obliged to speak without too much abruptness:

"Someone said at Paris that if this recent council had been confined to America, France and Britain, it would have achieved agreement . . . in ten days. This is simply another way of saying that Eastern Communism and Western Democracy are the forces that confront each other . . . they differ in ideas, ideals and ideologies."

What Vandenberg said with restraint was said with bluntness and force about the same time by William C. Bullitt; he knew Russia well; he had been our first ambassador to the Communist government of Russia after Roosevelt gave recognition to it in 1933. Bullitt said: "In the eyes of the Soviet government the Soviet Union is always engaged in warfare, open or concealed, with the non-Communist states of the world . . . that is why Stalin is unappeasable . . . that is why, for our own preservation we must face the fact that Stalin . . . will not stop but can only be stopped."

Counter To Vandenberg

Apparently we are about to have shortly, as one of the train of consequences following President Truman's dismissal of Gen. MacArthur and the accompanying controversy, a Congressional investigation of our foreign policy as respects China. If the investigation is thorough and if it covers a longer period than the Truman Administration, it will be obliged to take account of a part played by President Roosevelt. Throughout the whole of Roosevelt's conduct of our relations with Communist Russia, up to a few weeks before his death, he followed a course that was counter to the judgment later expressed by Vandenberg. Roosevelt went upon the theory that we could have peace with Russia, not merely peace but fraternity.

At the 1943 Teheran conference that included Roosevelt and Stalin, "Roosevelt . . . felt sure that, to use his own term, Stalin was 'getable'," meaning that Roosevelt thought Stalin could be charmed into cooperation. Roosevelt relied upon cooperation by Communist Russia in the United Nations and in the bringing about of peace. Disproof by events, accompanied by reluctance to accept the disproof, is the major history of the Truman Administration as respects relations with Communist Russia.

Object Is Obvious

The proposed investigation by Congress of the Truman Administration's policies about China presumably would cover the broad field specified in a resolution which Sen. William F. Knowland of California introduced two years ago. (It is sad to reflect that what was called for in April, 1949, is even more called for in April, 1951.) Sen. Knowland's statement of purpose was: "To ascertain our present policy and what policies heretofore have been followed . . . and to evaluate and determine the effect of such policies."

From the language of that resolution, likely to be repeated in effect, the object of the investigation is obvious and justified. The fall of China to Russian communism is one of the great events in world history, taking place in our time and having the effect of disaster on us and on the non-Communist world. The mere fact that it took place during the Truman Administration is a kind of accusation against it. It is natural that our people should wish to know whether, and to what extent, policies of the Administration may have contributed, by omission or commission; and to what extent the Administration can offer convincing defense or excuse.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—They came, they saw and they heard. They—the Congress of the United States—went away profoundly impressed that here was no ordinary man, no ordinary soldier, no ordinary general. For here was a statesman speaking, a man from the pages of history whose dramatic appeal to his countrymen for courage against defeatism, for boldness and resoluteness against softness and appeasement will be recorded for all time as the appeal magnificent. Here was Douglas MacArthur closing 52 years of military service to his country.

Those partisans who came expecting a political dynamic or a petty complaint against the fate that deprived him of his command in such humiliating manner found an entirely different spokesman. His speech was the voice of the soldier caught in a trap in Korea but serving his Flag and not asking the reason why. His speech was the voice of the America of yesteryears when Americans did not prate of defeat and speak with fear and trembling to the enemy that had despoiled a weaker nation and tortured or killed prisoners.

Well-Mobilized Argument

Members of the Senate and House—Republicans and Democrats—listened as if transfixed. They heard a man of deep conviction, talking with an emotion restrained with difficulty as he told of Asia—the far-off continent where revolutionary changes are in progress. He told of Japan, beaten six years ago, but now on the way to democracy. He spoke feelingly of the desperate effort of the Korean people to save their independence. He spoke sympathetically of the slow but sure evolution of government in the Philippines.

But the speech was not one of mere sentiment. It was the well-mobilized argument of a man who for a quarter of a century or more has studied the Far East—its culture and its aspirations against colonialism. He spoke as a liberal about the hopes of peoples as against tyrants. He did not fail to speak also of the great hopes of the world for peace by means of collective security.

All the ideals of America General MacArthur articulated with the measured phrases of a statesman. All the hopes of the world for an end to war as a means of settling disputes he championed with whole-hearted devotion. But, he warned, once a nation enters a war, there is no time for retreat or appeasement, no time for compromise. He said with an emphasis that shook the chamber with applause: "There is no substitute for victory."

The General built up point by point the case for a defense line in the far Pacific—Japan, Formosa and the Philippines. He said if that line was broken, our own Pacific Coast would not be safe. And then he emphasized why it was important to hold Formosa.

The statement that came as the biggest surprise was his flat declaration that the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff in the past had agreed with this military strategy.

There will, of course, be controversy over various points in the speech. It will be debated and perhaps investigating committees of Congress will ask for the documents and evidence relating to it.

MacArthur To Help

The General has notified Senator Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, that, while he does not want to get into a controversy or pursue these matters, he will willingly cooperate with the committee should it desire him to amplify his views. So Senator Russell plans next week to fix a time, possibly for the following week, when the Armed Services Committee will go into details, with General MacArthur as a witness.

Meanwhile, the national capital still is shocked by the whole affair. The reception given General MacArthur was so striking that it could not but overwhelm for the time being almost every other activity of the government. The welcome to the General was, of course, a tribute to a great soldier as well as to a soldier-statesman.

But it was also a human reaction to the summary in which a great general had been instantly relieved of his command without even being given the opportunity to say farewell to his troops. No similar case is on record in all the history of the United States. Generals have been ordered to relinquish their commands but on none has such a sentence been imposed —without trial—with so abrupt a detachment from his command without a real word of explanation of what orders or instructions he had violated, if any. The conclusion is inescapable —General MacArthur was made the victim of the petty political spirit of our times.

The stature of General MacArthur, after his address to Congress, looms larger and makes an even deeper imprint on the pages of history. He was magnificent in his words of farewell. It was an hour of triumph in which the people, in effect, repudiated the sad implications of government by petty politics and raised their eyes with hope as they heard the first words of real leadership that have come from the national capital in many a long year.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Core Is The Congress

AN ORDERLY MIND cannot recognize anarchy as within the realm of possibility. General Douglas MacArthur once got into a controversy with Kirby Page, editor of "The World Tomorrow," in 1931, about some clergymen refusing to serve in war, resulting in a strong letter in which much of his philosophy of life is stated. I take this letter from Frank Waldrop's "MacArthur on War," a most interesting study of a truly philosophic mind. MacArthur wrote Page:

"The question of war and peace is one that rests, under our form of government, in Congress. In exercising this authority, Congress voices the will of the majority, whose right to rule is the cornerstone upon which our governmental edifice is built. Under the Constitution, its pronouncement on such a question is final, and is obligatory upon every citizen of the United States. That men who wear the cloth of the church should openly defend repudiation of the laws of the land, with the necessary implications arising from such a general attitude toward our statutes, seems almost unbelievable. It will certainly hearten every potential or actual criminal and malefactor who either has or contemplates breaking some other law. Anomalous as it seems, it apparently stamps the clergyman as a leading exponent of law violation at individual pleasure."

Of course, there is nothing new in this doctrine; it is clearly stated in the Constitution of the United States and in a number of decisions of the Supreme Court, ours is a congressional government; that is, a representative republic.

During the past 20 years much has been done to shift the center of authority from the Congress to the President, from the legislative to the executive. But the will of the people expresses itself best in the Congress, in the debates, the disagreements, the compromises, the acts of the Congress. A wilful executive can work in secrecy and therefore unrelate himself to the will of the people.

Congress can do no business in secrecy and therefore cannot betray the will of the people without the knowledge of the people. If the people are careless in their vigilance of Congress, that is the fault of the people who neglect their responsibilities and obligations. But the core of our government is the Congress and when that core rots, our nation will fall.

General Douglas MacArthur, in his magnificent address in 1935 to the Rainbow Division, which he commanded in World War I, said:

". . . Where are the empires of old? Where is Egypt, once a state on a high plane of civilization where a form of socialism prevailed and where the distribution of wealth was regulated. Where are the empires of the East, and the empires of the West which once were the shrines of wealth, wisdom and culture? Where are Babylon, Persia, Carthage, Rome, Byzantium? They all fell, never to rise again—annihilated at the hands of a more warlike and aggressive people. Their cultures, memories — their cities, ruins. . .

"And saddest of all the downfall of Christian Byzantium. When Constantinople fell, that center of learning, pleasure and wealth — and all the weakness and corruption that goes with it—a pall fell over Asia and Southeastern Europe which has never been lifted. . . .

"Two thousand years of existence of the Byzantine Empire, its size, its religion, the wealth of its capital city were but added incentives and inducements to an impecunious conqueror. For wealth is no protection against aggression. It is no more an augury of military and defensive strength in a nation than it is an indication of health in an individual. Success in war depends upon men, not money. No nation has ever been subdued for lack of it. Indeed, nothing is more insolent or provocative or more apt to lead to a breach of the peace than undefended riches among armed men."

It is when the hard core of a people's tradition rots away and nothing remains but individual excesses and competitions for place, that a nation perishes. It is in this same speech that MacArthur said in 1935 what is so absolutely true in 1951:

". . . We all dream of the day when human conduct will be governed by the Decalogue and the Sermon on the Mount. But, as yet it is only a dream. No one desires peace as much as the soldier for he must pay the greatest penalty in war. Our army is maintained solely for the preservation of peace — or, for the restoration of peace after it has been lost by statesmen or by others."

We intend to keep on looking at westerns until the Indians win a fight. And we are going to gander the investigations until they investigate an investigator.

All I've discovered so far in our national racket of put-and-take is that it is more blessed to receive than for them to locate it.

So far as our financial evaporation is figured you can book me as a fiscal patriot. Meaning I would rather see them steal it here than have it wasted abroad.

If this be treason we can always get a lawyer who graduated from the Three-Eye League. Irrelevant, immaterial and incriminating.

Where The Oil Goes

The oil strike at the Abadan refinery in Iran can have serious consequences for countries in many other parts of the world. A complete shut-off of oil from Iran would mean shortages for consumers in Western Europe, the Mediterranean, and North Africa. Production in the U. S. could probably compensate for any drastic shortage in friendly countries. The difficulty would be economic rather than political. A barrel of Texas kerosene, consigned to India, would be almost prohibitively expensive.

Under British agreements with Iran, about 60 per cent of the oil that country produces goes west of Suez to Europe, the Mediterranean area, North Africa. About 40 per cent goes east and south to India, South Africa, and other countries with which Britain would like to maintain friendship.

Of the world production of oil, something in excess of 10 million barrels a day, the U. S. produces about 6 million barrels a day. The Middle East produces about 2 million. Most of the Middle East production — about 1.4 million — comes from Iran and Saudi Arabia. The struck Abadan plant in Iran, which normally turns out about 550,000 of Iran's whole 700,000 barrels a day shipments, was down to 100,000 in mid-April. The Abadan plant is a refinery. The crux of any immediate oil shortage will be the lack of refining facilities rather than any shortage of crude oil production.

The Iranian Majlis (parliament) has adopted a resolution calling for nationalization of that country's oil industry. The resolution set up a committee which would report in several months on the form nationalization should take. Meantime, the Abadan plant, largest oil refinery in the world, has been struck. As of April 17 about one-sixth of the 12,000 workers at Abadan were still on the job, and the plant was running at about one-fifth of capacity.

If the throttling of Iranian production facilities continues for an indefinite period, oil producers of the non-Soviet world will probably get together to switch types of exports and means of transportation to keep Europe supplied. Even a stoppage of all U.S. imports of oil from foreign countries would not alleviate the European need, for U.S. imports are about evenly divided between crude oil and heavy fuel oil. Europe needs the lighter oil fractions which have come from Iran. However, the U.S. Petroleum Administration for Defense confidently believes the American industry could raise its current production by 250,000 to 300,000 barrels a day to make up the European shortage if shipping can be made available.

The National Petroleum News has pointed out, however, that without great expansion of existing facilities, consumers in this country may themselves face shortages of gasoline and other petroleum products within 18 months. The PAD has called for expansion of U.S. production facilities by almost 12 per cent—700,000 barrels a day. The United States consumed almost 40 billion gallons of gasoline in 1950—about 8.1 per cent over 1949. At the end of March, without considering boosts caused by summer driving, automobile registrations were up 52 per cent over 1940 levels, gasoline consumption was up 59.2 per cent, and gasoline stocks were up only 37.3 per cent.

Preventing Beriberi

Through long medical research one of the world's greatest disease scourges — beriberi — may have been brought to the threshold of total prevention. It has taken tens of thousands of lives annually, particularly among peope whose main article of food is rice. Its practical elimination would be as great an accomplishment and as great a blessing to humanity as the conquering of yellow fever.

Endemic in Malaya, India, China, Japan, the Philippines and parts of South America, beriberi was formerly thought to emanate from malaria poisoning or infection. This theory was exploded a half century ago.

Then it was established that the disease resulted from the lack of some vital substance in the diet of its victims. Years later the substance—vitamin B-1—was isolated and found to be existing in the minute amount of 10 grains to a ton of nonprocessed rice, but absent from the milled product.

With the synthetizing of vitamin B-1 by Dr. Robert R. Williams, testing rice thus fortified began. The first large-scale experiment was started in the Bataan area of the Philippines in 1948. Dr. Williams, who has just returned from there, reports that as of April 1 not a single death from the disease had been reported in a year in that area, which formerly had one of the highest beriberi mortality rates.

This life-saving record, according to Dr. Williams, can be extended at a cost of 35 cents a year per capita. Every nation afflicted by this scourge should be able to afford such an outlay without calling on the U. S. Treasury for help.

Man's World

England is now described by at least one reporter as the last stronghold of the male. British women, if they do not know their place, are put in it quickly and, it seems, not too politely. This conclusion is inescapable after reading the comments of the critics who covered the premiere of Judy Garland, the American movie star in London on a European tour.

Miss Garland, as is well known to Americans who saw her last picture, has put on a touch of heft. But her new chubbiness went unremarked in print in the United States, and not only because the critics were sympathetic to a girl who has been having a rugged time in her private life.

It just wouldn't occur to the average American film reviewer to make unkind remarks about a young actress' added poundage. But in London they come up with such descriptions as "ungainly matron" and such adjectives as "fat," which are not only unkind but downright exaggeration. However, her 2,500-seat theater in London is booked solid for the next four weeks. Perhaps the blighters have heard that she is rich.

But Americans, who hear so much about the smoother manners and superlative tact of their transatlantic cousins—and who have seen how well these have worked when practiced on officials in Washington—cannot help but wonder whether the sternness of a man's world is relieved by no touch of chivalry.

How To Keep Well

Selecting The Right Camp

THERE are many advantages to summer camps for children. They satisfy the hunger of the city child for firsthand experience with water, animals, plants, woods, and the campfire. For many boys it affords the only opportunity to live like our old childhood heroes, Daniel Boone and Buffalo Bill; and girls have a chance to become temporary tomboys if they wish.

Parents often find it difficult to select a suitable camp. In many cities there are bureaus or camp associations that have information on registered camps. The physical setup is important, although luxury elegance, and swank are not needed. Occasionally these qualities defeat the purpose of the adventure because they do not allow the guests the freedom of roughing it. Cleanliness is essential and there must be facilities for proper sanitation. The quarters should be dry and comfortable and adequate space must be provided for eating, resting, sleeping, and quiet play both indoors and out. Accident prevention must be part of the program, especially for the tenderfoot.

The better camps have directors and counselors who are experienced in group work and recreation. Many are educators who have made camping a vocation. But more is needed than simply a love of children; the leaders should be able to direct and guide with forethought and judgment. Good manners and an attractive appearance also are helpful. The parents ought to study the program of camps that are being considered. Direction and imagination are preferred to regimentation. The same thing day in and day out is tolerated for a short time but becomes tiresome, especially if six to eight weeks are to be spent at the camp. Is exercise regulated and followed by sufficient rest? Are the meals well balanced and the social activities both educationable and enjoyable? Is adventure encouraged by hiking and exploring?

A good camp has facilities for first aid and the parents should be assured that they will be called if the child is ill or injured. Many camps have a nurse, physician, or both on the premises or within call. A strict physical examination prior to enrollment means that the camp directors are "on the ball" and want to do the right thing. This protects all the youngsters, including your own. Many camps will not accept problem cases. This feature is attractive to parents who feel that their offspring should not be penalized by the behavior difficulties of some other child.

All these factors should be weighed against the individual needs of the boy or girl. Younger children feel more secure when the camp is close to home because it means that the parents can visit them easily. The lad who is an individualist and adverse to regimentation is likely to get the most out of a place where competition is not emphasized. Occasionally the opposite is true, in that living in a stricter environment will help. The larger and better staffed camps are capable of handling many different types of temperament.

PLASTIC SURGERY

Mrs. F. writes: Can a woman with controlled diabetes safely undergo face lifting? I'm young looking except for my face wrinkles.

REPLY

Yes. In any type of surgery, however, diabetes requires greater supervision and the added risk must be taken into consideration before undergoing an operation that is not absolutely necessary.

HELPS SOLDIERS; NOT VEINS

V. R. writes: I have ugly enlarged veins on my hands. Would becoming a blood donor cure this condition?

REPLY

No, but it would help our combat casualties.

GELATINE

L. K. writes: Someone told me that eating lots of gelatine would help my nails, so I started taking it. Now someone tells me that gelatine will cause a coronary. Is all this true?

REPLY

Wrong on both counts. Recently gelatine has been receiving publicity as an agent to improve the nails and the hair. We are unable to discover the rationale behind this recommendation. It is a good food because of its protein content but it does not contain all the essentials, amino acids such as are found in meat, milk, and eggs. In this respect it is not a complete food but can be considered a supplement to the regular diet.

USELESS

G. J. writes: Will spirits of niter strengthen the kidneys and in this way prevent bedwetting? My grandmother recommends it for my two youngsters.

REPLY

This preparation may have been recommended by your grandmother's grandmother ad infinitum. Bedwetting is not due to weak kidneys; in fact there is no such thing. Furthermore, if you think of the organs as filters it becomes obvious that nothing we eat or drink will have a "hardening" effect on the structures.

Military, Or Political?

New Face Looms On GOP Political Horizon; Democrats May Choose Eisenhower If Republicans Choose MacArthur; No Rest For GIs In Korea

WASHINGTON — Up until this week, most of the top strategists in the Republican party were reasonably sure that the GOP National Convention battle 15 months hence would be between two men — Taft and Eisenhower. Now they aren't so sure.

The man who has upset them is the General who came back from Tokyo this week. Even despite the General's disclaimer of political ambitions, the politicos are upset.

It would be a mistake to say that those who mould policy inside the GOP are too enthusiastic about MacArthur as a candidate. In the first place, they couldn't control him. Secondly, patronage would be his, not theirs — and patronage is something without which no political boss can long survive.

This, incidentally, is one reason the party bosses never have been enthusiastic about General Eisenhower. For he likewise probably would not understand how the party system works. That is why Taft always has been the favorite of the chief architects of the Grand Old Party.

Nevertheless, the glamorous MacArthur, plus the crowds he has drawn, the appeal he seems to have, the manner in which he has made President Truman take a back seat, has made GOP planners think twice. Some do so with great regret, because they had their heart set on Taft. Some are waiting to see how soon — if ever — MacArthur stubs his toe.

Some are wondering also what the MacArthur boom will do to Eisenhower. If the GOP nominates a military man for president, then the Democrats are certain to offset him with a military man of their own adoption—Eisenhower.

That is why the return of the General of the Army from Tokyo this week has turned the GOP candidate-pickers literally topsy-turvy. And it will take a couple of weeks for them to get their political predictions reshuffled and in place again.

Sharp-tongued Sen. Tom Connally of Texas was ribbing Vice President Alben Barkley, a Kentuckian, about his reputation as a storyteller.

"That's the only way you can get elected in Kentucky—telling those hillbillies down there stories to keep them happy," said Connally.

"If you told more jokes and discarded that sour look, I'll bet you'd get all the votes in Texas," countered the Veep.

"I don't want all the votes, just the majority," replied Connally. "I couldn't stand being obligated to everybody in Texas."

In order to help servicemen with their problems of adjusting to military life, this column periodically publishes excerpts from GI letters and tries to answer their complaints. Names are withheld upon request.

Company G, 15th Infantry, Third Division, Korea — "We have just been brought back from the front for a rest. As we understand it, we are supposed to spend this time to rest, write letters and catch up on much-needed sleep — plus a little recreation. Instead we have spent our rest period building a sidewalk in a Korean village outside of Seoul. We have been working long hours, hauling chunks of stone, weighing up to 100 pounds, from a nearby cliff."

Answer—Front-line troops should be entitled to a rest. The Army has promised a thorough investigation of the incident you report.

A Private, Camp Stoneman, Calif.—"I was forced to travel to Camp Stoneman by train. Why shouldn't the Army let me spend the same amount of money for an airplane ticket, so I can spend more time at home on furlough?"

Answer—The Defense Department has an unofficial policy of giving the railroads priority on military passenger travel. This is partly due to the fact that in wartime the airlines have been so crowded that it is difficult to get space on them.

A Draftee, Ft. Lewis, Wash.—"The Coast Guard is a haven for draft dodgers. Those who are lucky enough to get into port security units are exempt from the draft until M-Day. This isn't fair to the rest of us."

Answer—It is true that draft-eligible men have been able to get into Coast Guard port security units. It is also true that all they are required to do is attend 48 drills and serve two weeks active duty per year. This automatically exempts them from the draft. However, the Coast Guard claims it has sent letters to 160,000 ex-Coast Guard men in an attempt to recruit 289 officers and 2,420 enlisted men for port security units. Only after all other methods failed, the Coast Guard claims, did it open these units to draft eligible men. These units are still short 67 officers and 286 men.

Mrs. Otto Tissof, St. Louis, Mo.—"My son has been in Korea all winter, and in each letter, he asks for food. The mail rates to Korea are very high. Isn't there any way these packages can be sent cheaper?"

Answer—Congressman Cecil King, California Democrat, has introduced a bill to provide free parcel post for wives and parents of service-men sending packages to Korea. It is now up to Congress.

NOTE—Several letters have been received from veterans of the Fourth Marine Division, asking whether the war will interfere with their annual reunion. The answer is that there will be no interference. The reunion will be held in Chicago at the Hotel Sherman, June 28, 29 and 30.

Truman Telephones

President Truman was so pressed for votes during the fight on the 18½-year-old draft that he called a Republican senator off the floor and lectured him.

Sen. Wayne Morse, the energetic Oregonian, was arguing against the Administration's 18-year-old draft when a page told him of an urgent telephone call.

It was the President.

"I have Secretary Marshall here with me," he said, "and both of us want you to know you're not helping him."

Morse was a little surprised, but replied:

"I respect you and the Secretary, Mr. President, but this is a matter of conviction with me."

In the end, Senator Morse won. Congress passed the 18½-year-old draft, not the 18-year-old.

By MARK SULLIVAN

ONE of the contributions of the late Sen. Vandenberg to public thought was his early recognition that the differences between the United States and Russia are irreconcilable. Had we recognized it then, and especially had we remembered it steadily, we should have avoided what we are obliged to confront today.

In July, 1946, Vandenberg had just returned from a council at Paris, at which the United States, Russia, and representatives of other nations had gathered to make a beginning toward peace. Vandenberg, as one of our representatives, was making an official report and undoubtedly felt obliged to speak without too much abruptness:

"Someone said at Paris that if this recent council had been confined to America, France and Britain, it would have achieved agreement . . . in ten days. This is simply another way of saying that Eastern Communism and Western Democracy are the forces that confront each other . . . they differ in ideas, ideals and ideologies."

What Vandenberg said with restraint was said with bluntness and force about the same time by William C. Bullitt; he knew Russia well; he had been our first ambassador to the Communist government of Russia after Roosevelt gave recognition to it in 1933. Bullitt said: "In the eyes of the Soviet government the Soviet Union is always engaged in warfare, open or concealed, with the non-Communist states of the world . . . that is why Stalin is unappeasable . . . that is why, for our own preservation we must face the fact that Stalin . . . will not stop but can only be stopped."

Counter To Vandenberg

Apparently we are about to have shortly, as one of the train of consequences following President Truman's dismissal of Gen. MacArthur and the accompanying controversy, a Congressional investigation of our foreign policy as respects China. If the investigation is thorough and if it covers a longer period than the Truman Administration, it will be obliged to take account of a part played by President Roosevelt. Throughout the whole of Roosevelt's conduct of our relations with Communist Russia, up to a few weeks before his death, he followed a course that was counter to the judgment later expressed by Vandenberg. Roosevelt went upon the theory that we could have peace with Russia, not merely peace but fraternity.

At the 1943 Teheran conference that included Roosevelt and Stalin, "Roosevelt . . . felt sure that, to use his own term, Stalin was 'getable'," meaning that Roosevelt thought Stalin could be charmed into cooperation. Roosevelt relied upon cooperation by Communist Russia in the United Nations and in the bringing about of peace. Disproof by events, accompanied by reluctance to accept the disproof, is the major history of the Truman Administration as respects relations with Communist Russia.

Object Is Obvious

The proposed investigation by Congress of the Truman Administration's policies about China presumably would cover the broad field specified in a resolution which Sen. William F. Knowland of California introduced two years ago. (It is sad to reflect that what was called for in April, 1949, is even more called for in April, 1951.) Sen. Knowland's statement of purpose was: "To ascertain our present policy and what policies heretofore have been followed . . . and to evaluate and determine the effect of such policies."

From the language of that resolution, likely to be repeated in effect, the object of the investigation is obvious and justified. The fall of China to Russian communism is one of the great events in world history, taking place in our time and having the effect of disaster on us and on the non-Communist world. The mere fact that it took place during the Truman Administration is a kind of accusation against it. It is natural that our people should wish to know whether, and to what extent, policies of the Administration may have contributed, by omission or commission; and to what extent the Administration can offer convincing defense or excuse.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—They came, they saw and they heard. They—the Congress of the United States—went away profoundly impressed that here was no ordinary man, no ordinary soldier, no ordinary general. For here was a statesman speaking, a man from the pages of history whose dramatic appeal to his countrymen for courage against defeatism, for boldness and resoluteness against softness and appeasement will be recorded for all time as the appeal magnificent. Here was Douglas MacArthur closing 52 years of military service to his country.

Those partisans who came expecting a political dynamic or a petty complaint against the fate that deprived him of his command in such humiliating manner found an entirely different spokesman. His speech was the voice of the soldier caught in a trap in Korea but serving his Flag and not asking the reason why. His speech was the voice of the America of yesteryears when Americans did not prate of defeat and speak with fear and trembling to the enemy that had despoiled a weaker nation and tortured or killed prisoners.

Well-Mobilized Argument

Members of the Senate and House—Republicans and Democrats—listened as if transfixed. They heard a man of deep conviction, talking with an emotion restrained with difficulty as he told of Asia—the far-off continent where revolutionary changes are in progress. He told of Japan, beaten six years ago, but now on the way to democracy. He spoke feelingly of the desperate effort of the Korean people to save their independence. He spoke sympathetically of the slow but sure evolution of government in the Philippines.

But the speech was not one of mere sentiment. It was the well-mobilized argument of a man who for a quarter of a century or more has studied the Far East—its culture and its aspirations against colonialism. He spoke as a liberal about the hopes of peoples as against tyrants. He did not fail to speak also of the great hopes of the world for peace by means of collective security.

All the ideals of America General MacArthur articulated with the measured phrases of a statesman. All the hopes of the world for an end to war as a means of settling disputes he championed with wholehearted devotion. But, he warned, once a nation enters a war, there is no time for retreat or appeasement, no time for compromise. He said with an emphasis that shook the chamber with applause: "There is no substitute for victory."

The General built up point by point the case for a defense line in the far Pacific—Japan, Formosa and the Philippines. He said if that line was broken, our own Pacific Coast would not be safe. And then he emphasized why it was important to hold Formosa.

The statement that came as the biggest surprise was his flat declaration that the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff in the past had agreed with this military strategy.

There will, of course, be controversy over various points in the speech. It will be debated and perhaps investigating committees of Congress will ask for the documents and evidence relating to it.

MacArthur To Help

The General has notified Senator Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, that, while he does not want to get into a controversy or pursue these matters, he will willingly cooperate with the committee should it desire him to amplify his views. So Senator Russell plans next week to fix a time, possibly for the following week, when the Armed Services Committee will go into details, with General MacArthur as a witness.

Meanwhile, the national capital still is shocked by the whole affair. The reception given General MacArthur was so striking that it could not but overwhelm for the time being almost every other activity of the government. The welcome to the General was, of course, a tribute to a great soldier as well as to a soldier-statesman.

But it was also a human reaction to the summary in which a great general had been instantly relieved of his command without even being given the opportunity to say farewell to his troops. No similar case is on record in all the history of the United States. Generals have been ordered to relinquish their commands but on none has such a sentence been imposed —without trial—with so abrupt a detachment from his command without a real word of explanation of what orders or instructions he had violated, if any. The conclusion is inescapable—General MacArthur was made the victim of the petty political spirit of our times.

The stature of General MacArthur, after his address to Congress, looms larger and makes an even deeper imprint on the pages of history. He was magnificent in his words of farewell. It was an hour of triumph in which the people, in effect, repudiated the sad implications of government by petty politics and raised their eyes with hope as they heard the first words of real leadership that have come from the national capital in many a long year.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Core Is The Congress

AN ORDERLY MIND cannot recognize anarchy as within the realm of possibility. General Douglas MacArthur once got into a controversy with Kirby Page, editor of "The World Tomorrow," in 1931, about some clergymen refusing to serve in war, resulting in a strong letter in which much of his philosophy of life is stated. I take this letter from Frank Waldrop's "MacArthur on War," a most interesting study of a truly philosophic mind. MacArthur wrote Page:

"The question of war and peace is one that rests, under our form of government, in Congress. In exercising this authority, Congress voices the will of the majority, whose right to rule is the cornerstone upon which our governmental edifice is built. Under the Constitution, its pronouncement on such a question is final, and is obligatory upon every citizen of the United States. That men who wear the cloth of the church should openly defend repudiation of the laws of the land, with the necessary implications arising from such a general attitude toward our statutes, seems almost unbelievable. It will certainly hearten every potential or actual criminal and malefactor who either has or contemplates breaking some other law. Anomalous as it seems, it apparently stamps the clergyman as a leading exponent of law violation at individual pleasure."

Of course, there is nothing new in this doctrine; it is clearly stated in the Constitution of the United States and in a number of decisions of the Supreme Court, ours is a congressional government; that is, a representative republic.

During the past 20 years much has been done to shift the center of authority from the Congress to the President, from the legislative to the executive. But the will of the people expresses itself best in the Congress, in the debates, the disagreements, the compromises, the acts of the Congress. A wilful executive can work in secrecy and therefore unrelate himself to the will of the people.

Congress can do no business in secrecy and therefore cannot betray the will of the people without the knowledge of the people. If the people are careless in their vigilance of Congress, that is the fault of the people who neglect their responsibilities and obligations. But the core of our government is the Congress and when that core rots, our nation will fall.

General Douglas MacArthur, in his magnificent address in 1935 to the Rainbow Division, which he commanded in World War I, said:

". . . Where are the empires of old? Where is Egypt, once a state on a high plane of civilization where a form of socialism prevailed and where the distribution of wealth was regulated. Where are the empires of the East, and the empires of the West which once were the shrines of wealth, wisdom and culture? Where are Babylon, Persia, Carthage, Rome, Byzantium? They all fell, never to rise again—annihilated at the hands of a more warlike and aggressive people. Their cultures, memories — their cities, ruins. . .

"And saddest of all the downfall of Christian Byzantium. When Constantinople fell, that center of learning, pleasure and wealth — and all the weakness and corruption that goes with it—a pall fell over Asia and Southeastern Europe which has never been lifted. . . .

"Two thousand years of existence of the Byzantine Empire, its size, its religion, the wealth of its capital city were but added incentives and inducements to an impecunious conqueror. For wealth is no protection against aggression. It is no more an augury of military and defensive strength in a nation than it is an indication of health in an individual. Success in war depends upon men, not money. No nation has ever been subdued for lack of it. Indeed, nothing is more insolent or provocative or more apt to lead to a breach of the peace than undefended riches among armed men."

It is when the hard core of a people's tradition rots away and nothing remains but individual excesses and competitions for place, that a nation perishes. It is in this same speech that MacArthur said in 1935 what is so absolutely true in 1951:

". . . We all dream of the day when human conduct will be governed by the Decalogue and the Sermon on the Mount. But, as yet it is only a dream. No one desires peace as much as the soldier for he must pay the greatest penalty in war. Our army is maintained solely for the preservation of peace — or, for the restoration of peace after it has been lost by statesmen or by others."

Where The Oil Goes

The oil strike at the Abadan refinery in Iran can have serious consequences for countries in many other parts of the world. A complete shut-off of oil from Iran would mean shortages for consumers in Western Europe, the Mediterranean, and North Africa. Production in the U. S. could probably compensate for any drastic shortage in friendly countries. The difficulty would be economic rather than political. A barrel of Texas kerosene, consigned to India, would be almost prohibitively expensive.

Under British agreements with Iran, about 60 per cent of the oil that country produces goes west of Suez to Europe, the Mediterranean area, North Africa. About 40 per cent goes east and south to India, South Africa, and other countries with which Britain would like to maintain friendship.

Of the world production of oil, something in excess of 10 million barrels a day, the U. S. produces about 6 million barrels a day. The Middle East produces about 2 million. Most of the Middle East production — about 1.4 million — comes from Iran and Saudi Arabia. The struck Abadan plant in Iran, which normally turns out about 550,000 of Iran's whole 700,000 barrels a day shipments, was down to 100,000 in mid-April. The Abadan plant is a refinery. The crux of any immediate oil shortage will be the lack of refining facilities rather than any shortage of crude oil production.

The Iranian Majlis (parliament) has adopted a resolution calling for nationalization of that country's oil industry. The resolution set up a committee which would report in several months on the form nationalization should take. Meantime, the Abadan plant, largest oil refinery in the world, has been struck. As of April 17 about one-sixth of the 12,000 workers at Abadan were still on the job, and the plant was running at about one-fifth of capacity.

If the throttling of Iranian production facilities continues for an indefinite period, oil producers of the non-Soviet world will probably get together to switch types of exports and means of transportation to keep Europe supplied. Even a stoppage of all U.S. imports of oil from foreign countries would not alleviate the European need, for U.S. imports are about evenly divided between crude oil and heavy fuel oil. Europe needs the lighter oil fractions which have come from Iran. However, the U.S. Petroleum Administration for Defense confidently believes the American industry could raise its current production by 250,000 to 300,000 barrels a day to make up the European shortage if shipping can be made available.

The National Petroleum News has pointed out, however, that without great expansion of existing facilities, consumers in this country may themselves face shortages of gasoline and other petroleum products within 18 months. The PAD has called for expansion of U.S. production facilities by almost 12 per cent—700,000 barrels a day. The United States consumed almost 40 billion gallons of gasoline in 1950 —about 8.1 per cent over 1949. At the end of March, without considering boosts caused by summer driving, automobile registrations were up 52 per cent over 1940 levels, gasoline consumption was up 59.2 per cent, and gasoline stocks were up only 37.3 per cent.

Preventing Beriberi

Through long medical research one of the world's greatest disease scourges — beriberi — may have been brought to the threshold of total prevention. It has taken tens of thousands of lives annually, particularly among peope whose main article of food is rice. Its practical elimination would be as great an accomplishment and as great a blessing to humanity as the conquering of yellow fever.

Endemic in Malaya, India, China, Japan, the Philippines and parts of South America, beriberi was formerly thought to emanate from malaria poisoning or infection. This theory was exploded a half century ago.

Then it was established that the disease resulted from the lack of some vital substance in the diet of its victims. Years later the substance—vitamin B-1—was isolated and found to be existing in the minute amount of 10 grains to a ton of nonprocessed rice, but absent from the milled product.

With the synthetizing of vitamin B-1 by Dr. Robert R. Williams, testing rice thus fortified began. The first large-scale experiment was started in the Bataan area of the Philippines in 1948. Dr. Williams, who has just returned from there, reports that as of April 1 not a single death from the disease had been reported in a year in that area, which formerly had one of the highest beriberi mortality rates.

This life-saving record, according to Dr. Williams, can be extended at a cost of 35 cents a year per capita. Every nation afflicted by this scourge should be able to afford such an outlay without calling on the U. S. Treasury for help.

Man's World

England is now described by at least one reporter as the last stronghold of the male. British women, if they do not know their place, are put in it quickly and, it seems, not too politely. This conclusion is inescapable after reading the comments of the critics who covered the premiere of Judy Garland, the American movie star in London on a European tour.

Miss Garland, as is well known to Americans who saw her last picture, has put on a touch of heft. But her new chubbiness went unremarked in print in the United States, and not only because the critics were sympathetic to a girl who has been having a rugged time in her private life.

It just wouldn't occur to the average American film reviewer to make unkind remarks about a young actress' added poundage. But in London they come up with such descriptions as "ungainly matron" and such adjectives as "fat," which are not only unkind but downright exaggeration. However, her 2,500-seat theater in London is booked solid for the next four weeks. Perhaps the blighters have heard that she is rich.

But Americans, who hear so much about the smoother manners and superlative tact of their transatlantic cousins—and who have seen how well these have worked when practiced on officials in Washington—cannot help but wonder whether the sternness of a man's world is relieved by no touch of chivalry.

The quarters should be dry and comfortable and adequate space must be provided for eating, resting, sleeping, and quiet play both indoors and out. Accident prevention must be part of the program, especially for the tenderfoot.

The better camps have directors and counselors who are experienced in group work and recreation. Many are educators who have made camping a vocation. But more is needed than simply a love of children; the leaders should be able to direct and guide with forethought and judgment. Good manners and an attractive appearance also are helpful. The parents ought to study the program of camps that are being considered. Direction and imagination are preferred to regimentation. The same thing day in and day out is tolerated for a short time but becomes tiresome, especially if six to eight weeks are to be spent at the camp. Is exercise regulated and followed by sufficient rest? Are the meals well balanced and the social activities both educationable and enjoyable? Is adventure encouraged by hiking and exploring?

A good camp has facilities for first aid and the parents should be assured that they will be called if the child is ill or injured. Many camps have a nurse, physician, or both on the premises or within call. A strict physical examination prior to enrollment means that the camp directors are "on the ball" and want to do the right thing. This protects all the youngsters, including your own. Many camps will not accept problem cases. This feature is attractive to parents who feel that their offspring should not be penalized by the behavior difficulties of some other child.

All these factors should be weighed against the individual needs of the boy or girl. Younger children feel more secure when the camp is close to home because it means that the parents can visit them easily. The lad who is an individualist and adverse to regimentation is likely to get the most out of a place where competition is not emphasized. Occasionally the opposite is true, in that living in a stricter environment will help. The larger and better staffed camps are capable of handling many different types of temperament.

PLASTIC SURGERY

Mrs. F. writes: Can a woman with controlled diabetes safely undergo face lifting? I'm young looking except for my face wrinkles.

REPLY

Yes. In any type of surgery, however, diabetes requires greater supervision and the added risk must be taken into consideration before undergoing an operation that is not absolutely necessary.

HELPS SOLDIERS; NOT VEINS

V. R. writes: I have ugly enlarged veins on my hands. Would becoming a blood donor cure this condition?

REPLY

No, but it would help our combat casualties.

GELATINE

L. K. writes: Someone told me that eating lots of gelatine would help my nails, so I started taking it. Now someone tells me that gelatine will cause a coronary. Is all this true?

REPLY

Wrong on both counts. Recently gelatine has been receiving publicity as an agent to improve the nails and the hair. We are unable to discover the rationale behind this recommendation. It is a good food because of its protein content but it does not contain all the essentials, amino acids such as are found in meat, milk, and eggs. In this respect it is not a complete food but can be considered a supplement to the regular diet.

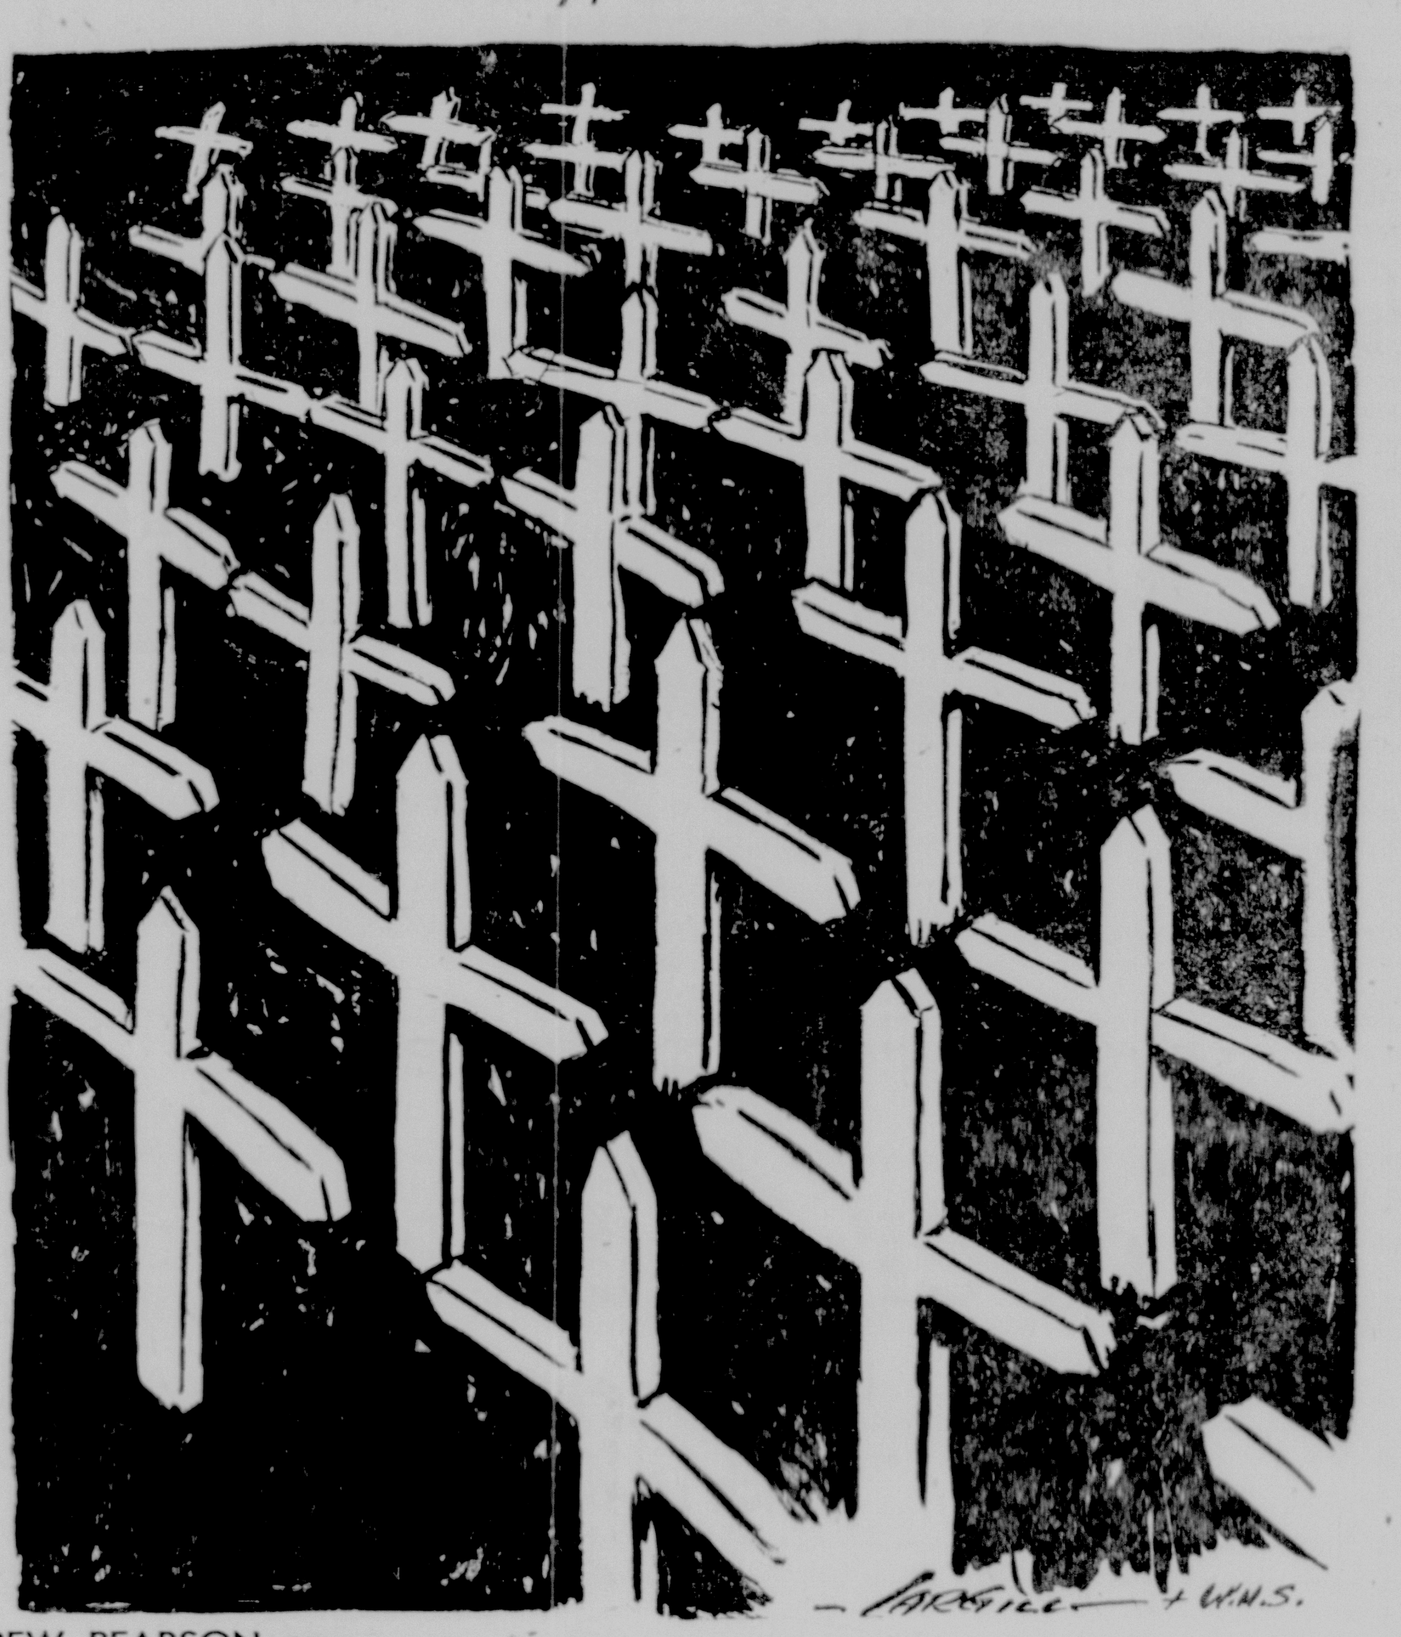
USELESS

G. J. writes: Will spirits of niter strengthen the kidneys and in this way prevent bedwetting? My grandmother recommends it for my two youngsters.

REPLY

This preparation may have been recommended by your grandmother's grandmother ad infinitum. Bedwetting is not due to weak kidneys; in fact there is no such thing. Furthermore, if you think of the organs as filters it becomes obvious that nothing we eat or drink will have a "hardening" effect on the structures.

Military, Or Political?



DREW PEARSON on—

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

New Face Looms On GOP Political Horizon; Democrats May Choose Eisenhower If Republicans Choose MacArthur; No Rest For GIs In Korea

WASHINGTON — Up until this week, most of the top strategists in the Republican party were reasonably sure that the GOP National Convention battle 15 months hence would be between two men — Taft and Eisenhower. Now they aren't so sure.

The man who has upset them is the General who came back from Tokyo this week. Even despite the General's disclaimer of political ambitions, the politicos are upset.

It would be a mistake to say that those who mould policy inside the GOP are too enthusiastic about MacArthur as a candidate. In the first place, they couldn't control him. Secondly, patronage would be his, not theirs — and patronage is something without which no political boss can long survive.

This, incidentally, is one reason the party bosses never have been enthusiastic about General Eisenhower. For he likewise probably would not understand how the party system works. That is why Taft always has been the favorite of the chief architects of the Grand Old Party.

Nevertheless, the glamorous MacArthur, plus the crowds he has drawn, the appeal he seems to have, the manner in which he has made President Truman take a back seat, has made GOP planners think twice. Some do so with great regret, because they had their heart set on Taft. Some are waiting to see how soon — if ever — MacArthur stubs his toe.

Some are wondering also what the MacArthur boom will do to Eisenhower. If the GOP nominates a military man for president, then the Democrats are certain to offset him with a military man of their own adoption—Eisenhower.

That is why the return of the General of the Army from Tokyo this week has turned the GOP candidate-pickers literally topsy-turvy. And it will take a couple of weeks for them to get their political predictions reshuffled and in place again.

Sharp-tongued Sen. Tom Connally of Texas was ribbing Vice President Alben Barkley, a Kentuckian, about his reputation as a storyteller.

"That's the only way you can get elected in Kentucky—telling those hillbillies down there stories to keep them happy," said Connally.

"If you told more jokes and discarded that sour look, I'll bet you'd get all the votes in Texas," countered the Veep.

"I don't want all the votes, just the majority," replied Connally. "I couldn't stand being obligated to everybody in Texas."

In order to help servicemen with their problems of adjusting to military life, this column periodically publishes excerpts from GI letters and tries to answer their complaints. Names are withheld upon request.

Company G, 15th Infantry, Third Division, Korea — "We have just been brought back from the front for a rest. As we understand it, we are supposed to spend this time to rest, write letters and catch up on much-needed sleep — plus a little recreation. Instead we have spent our rest period building a sidewalk in a Korean village outside of Seoul. We have been working long hours, hauling chunks of stone, weighing up to 100 pounds, from a nearby cliff."

Answer—Front-line troops should be entitled to a rest. The Army has promised a thorough investigation of the incident you report.

A Private, Camp Stoneman, Calif. —"I was forced to travel to Camp Stoneman by train. Why shouldn't the Army let me spend the same amount of money for an airplane ticket, so I can spend more time at home on furlough?"

Answer—The Defense Department has an unofficial policy of giving the railroads priority on military passenger travel. This is partly due to the fact that in wartime the airlines have been so crowded that it is difficult to get space on them.

A Draftee, Ft. Lewis, Wash.—"The Coast Guard is a haven for draft dodgers. Those who are lucky enough to get into port security units are exempt from the draft until M-Day. This isn't fair to the rest of us."

Answer—It is true that draft-eligible men have been able to get into Coast Guard port security units. It is also true that all they are required to do is attend 48 drills and serve two weeks active duty per year. This automatically exempts them from the draft. However, the Coast Guard claims it has sent letters to 160,000 ex-Coast Guard men in an attempt to recruit 289 officers and 2,420 enlisted men for port security units. Only after all other methods failed, the Coast Guard claims, did it open these units to draft eligible men. These units are still short 67 officers and 286 men.

Mrs. Otto Tissof, St. Louis, Mo.—"My son has been in Korea all winter, and in each letter, he asks for food. The mail rates to Korea are very high. Isn't there any way these packages can be sent cheaper?"

Answer—Congressman Cecil King, California Democrat, has introduced a bill to provide free parcel post for wives and parents of service-men sending packages to Korea. It is now up to Congress.

NOTE—Several letters have been received from veterans of the Fourth Marine Division, asking whether the war will interfere with their annual reunion. The answer is that there will be no interference. The reunion will be held in Chicago at the Hotel Sherman, June 28, 29 and 30.

Truman Telephones

President Truman was so pressed for votes during the fight on the 18½-year-old draft that he called a Republican senator off the floor and lectured him.

Sen. Wayne Morse, the energetic Oregonian, was arguing against the Administration's 18-year-old draft when a page told him of an urgent telephone call.

It was the President.

"I have Secretary Marshall here with me," he said, "and both of us want you to know you're not helping him."

Morse was a little surprised, but replied:

"I respect you and the Secretary, Mr. President, but this is a matter of conviction with me."

In the end, Senator Morse won. Congress passed the 18½-year-old draft, not the 18-year-old.

By MARK SULLIVAN

ONE of the contributions of the late Sen. Vandenberg to public thought was his early recognition that the differences between the United States and Russia are irreconcilable. Had we recognized it then, and especially had we remembered it steadily, we should have avoided what we are obliged to confront today.

In July, 1946, Vandenberg had just returned from a council at Paris, at which the United States, Russia, and representatives of other nations had gathered to make a beginning toward peace. Vandenberg, as one of our representatives, was making an official report and undoubtedly felt obliged to speak without too much abruptness:

"Someone said at Paris that if this recent council had been confined to America, France and Britain, it would have achieved agreement . . . in ten days. This is simply another way of saying that Eastern Communism and Western Democracy are the forces that confront each other . . . they differ in ideas, ideals and ideologies."

What Vandenberg said with restraint was said with bluntness and force about the same time by William C. Bullitt; he knew Russia well; he had been our first ambassador to the Communist government of Russia after Roosevelt gave recognition to it in 1933. Bullitt said: "In the eyes of the Soviet government the Soviet Union is always engaged in warfare, open or concealed, with the non-Communist states of the world . . . that is why Stalin is unappeasable . . . that is why, for our own preservation we must face the fact that Stalin . . . will not stop but can only be stopped."

Counter To Vandenberg

Apparently we are about to have shortly, as one of the train of consequences following President Truman's dismissal of Gen. MacArthur and the accompanying controversy, a Congressional investigation of our foreign policy as respects China. If the investigation is thorough and if it covers a longer period than the Truman Administration, it will be obliged to take account of a part played by President Roosevelt. Throughout the whole of Roosevelt's conduct of our relations with Communist Russia, up to a few weeks before his death, he followed a course that was counter to the judgment later expressed by Vandenberg. Roosevelt went upon the theory that we could have peace with Russia, not merely peace but fraternity.

At the 1943 Teheran conference that included Roosevelt and Stalin, "Roosevelt . . . felt sure that, to use his own term, Stalin was 'getable'," meaning that Roosevelt thought Stalin could be charmed into cooperation. Roosevelt relied upon cooperation by Communist Russia in the United Nations and in the bringing about of peace. Disproof by events, accompanied by reluctance to accept the disproof, is the major history of the Truman Administration as respects relations with Communist Russia.

Object Is Obvious

The proposed investigation by Congress of the Truman Administration's policies about China presumably would cover the broad field specified in a resolution which Sen. William F. Knowland of California introduced two years ago. (It is sad to reflect that what was called for in April, 1949, is even more called for in April, 1951.) Sen. Knowland's statement of purpose was: "To ascertain our present policy and what policies heretofore have been followed . . . and to evaluate and determine the effect of such policies."

From the language of that resolution, likely to be repeated in effect, the object of the investigation is obvious and justified. The fall of China to Russian communism is one of the great events in world history, taking place in our time and having the effect of disaster on us and on the non-Communist world. The mere fact that it took place during the Truman Administration is a kind of accusation against it. It is natural that our people should wish to know whether, and to what extent, policies of the Administration may have contributed, by omission or commission; and to what extent the Administration can offer convincing defense or excuse.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—They came, they saw and they heard. They—the Congress of the United States—went away profoundly impressed that here was no ordinary man, no ordinary soldier, no ordinary general. For here was a statesman speaking, a man from the pages of history whose dramatic appeal to his countrymen for courage against defeatism, for boldness and resoluteness against softness and appeasement will be recorded for all time as the appeal magnificent. Here was Douglas MacArthur closing 52 years of military service to his country.

Those partisans who came expecting a political dynamic or a petty complaint against the fate that deprived him of his command in such humiliating manner found an entirely different spokesman. His speech was the voice of the soldier caught in a trap in Korea but serving his Flag and not asking the reason why. His speech was the voice of the America of yesteryears when Americans did not prate of defeat and speak with fear and trembling to the enemy that had despoiled a weaker nation and tortured or killed prisoners.

Well-Mobilized Argument

Members of the Senate and House —Republicans and Democrats—listened as if transfixed. They heard a man of deep conviction, talking with an emotion restrained with difficulty as he told of Asia—the far-off continent where revolutionary changes are in progress. He told of Japan, beaten six years ago, but now on the way to democracy. He spoke feelingly of the desperate effort of the Korean people to save their independence. He spoke sympathetically of the slow but sure evolution of government in the Philippines.

But the speech was not one of mere sentiment. It was the well-mobilized argument of a man who for a quarter of a century or more has studied the Far East—its culture and its aspirations against colonialism. He spoke as a liberal about the hopes of peoples as against tyrants. He did not fail to speak also of the great hopes of the world for peace by means of collective security.

All the ideals of America General MacArthur articulated with the measured phrases of a statesman. All the hopes of the world for an end to war as a means of settling disputes he championed with wholehearted devotion. But, he warned, once a nation enters a war, there is no time for retreat or appeasement, no time for compromise. He said with an emphasis that shook the chamber with applause: "There is no substitute for victory."

The General built up point by point the case for a defense line in the far Pacific—Japan, Formosa and the Philippines. He said if that line was broken, our own Pacific Coast would not be safe. And then he emphasized why it was important to hold Formosa.

The statement that came as the biggest surprise was his flat declaration that the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff in the past had agreed with this military strategy.

There will, of course, be controversy over various points in the speech. It will be debated and perhaps investigating committees of Congress will ask for the documents and evidence relating to it.

MacArthur To Help

The General has notified Senator Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, that, while he does not want to get into a controversy or pursue these matters, he will willingly cooperate with the committee should it desire him to amplify his views. So Senator Russell plans next week to fix a time, possibly for the following week, when the Armed Services Committee will go into details, with General MacArthur as a witness.

Meanwhile, the national capital still is shocked by the whole affair. The reception given General MacArthur was so striking that it could not but overwhelm for the time being almost every other activity of the government. The welcome to the General was, of course, a tribute to a great soldier as well as to a soldier-statesman.

But it was also a human reaction to the summary in which a great general had been instantly relieved of his command without even being given the opportunity to say farewell to his troops. No similar case is on record in all the history of the United States. Generals have been ordered to relinquish their commands but on none has such a sentence been imposed —without trial—with so abrupt a detachment from his command without a real word of explanation of what orders or instructions he had violated, if any. The conclusion is inescapable —General MacArthur was made the victim of the petty political spirit of our times.

The stature of General MacArthur, after his address to Congress, looms larger and makes an even deeper imprint on the pages of history. He was magnificent in his words of farewell. It was an hour of triumph in which the people, in effect, repudiated the sad implications of government by petty politics and raised their eyes with hope as they heard the first words of real leadership that have come from the national capital in many a long year.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Core Is The Congress

AN ORDERLY MIND cannot recognize anarchy as within the realm of possibility. General Douglas MacArthur once got into a controversy with Kirby Page, editor of "The World Tomorrow," in 1931, about some clergymen refusing to serve in war, resulting in a strong letter in which much of his philosophy of life is stated. I take this letter from Frank Waldrop's "MacArthur on War," a most interesting study of a truly philosophic mind. MacArthur wrote Page:

"The question of war and peace is one that rests, under our form of government, in Congress. In exercising this authority, Congress voices the will of the majority, whose right to rule is the cornerstone upon which our governmental edifice is built. Under the Constitution, its pronouncement on such a question is final, and is obligatory upon every citizen of the United States. That men who wear the cloth of the church should openly defend repudiation of the laws of the land, with the necessary implications arising from such a general attitude toward our statutes, seems almost unbelievable. It will certainly hearten every potential or actual criminal and malefactor who either has or contemplates breaking some other law. Anomalous as it seems, it apparently stamps the clergyman as a leading exponent of law violation at individual pleasure."

Of course, there is nothing new in this doctrine; it is clearly stated in the Constitution of the United States and in a number of decisions of the Supreme Court, ours is a congressional government; that is, a representative republic.

During the past 20 years much has been done to shift the center of authority from the Congress to the President, from the legislative to the executive. But the will of the people expresses itself best in the Congress, in the debates, the disagreements, the compromises, the acts of the Congress. A wilful executive can work in secrecy and therefore unrelate himself to the will of the people.

Congress can do no business in secrecy and therefore cannot betray the will of the people without the knowledge of the people. If the people are careless in their vigilance of Congress, that is the fault of the people who neglect their responsibilities and obligations. But the core of our government is the Congress and when that core rots, our nation will fall.

General Douglas MacArthur, in his magnificent address in 1935 to the Rainbow Division, which he commanded in World War I, said:

". . . Where are the empires of old? Where is Egypt, once a state on a high plane of civilization where a form of socialism prevailed and where the distribution of wealth was regulated. Where are the empires of the East, and the empires of the West which once were the shrines of wealth, wisdom and culture? Where are Babylon, Persia, Carthage, Rome, Byzantium? They all fell, never to rise again—annihilated at the hands of a more warlike and aggressive people. Their cultures, memories — their cities, ruins. . .

"And saddest of all the downfall of Christian Byzantium. When Constantinople fell, that center of learning, pleasure and wealth — and all the weakness and corruption that goes with it—a pall fell over Asia and Southeastern Europe which has never been lifted. . . .

"Two thousand years of existence of the Byzantine Empire, its size, its religion, the wealth of its capital city were but added incentives and inducements to an impecunious conqueror. For wealth is no protection against aggression. It is no more an augury of military and defensive strength in a nation than it is an indication of health in an individual. Success in war depends upon men, not money. No nation has ever been subdued for lack of it. Indeed, nothing is more insolent or provocative or more apt to lead to a breach of the peace than undefended riches among armed men."

It is when the hard core of a people's tradition rots away and nothing remains but individual excesses and competitions for place, that a nation perishes. It is in this same speech that MacArthur said in 1935 what is so absolutely true in 1951:

". . . We all dream of the day when human conduct will be governed by the Decalogue and the Sermon on the Mount. But, as yet it is only a dream. No one desires peace as much as the soldier for he must pay the greatest penalty in war. Our army is maintained solely for the preservation of peace — or, for the restoration of peace after it has been lost by statesmen or by others."

We intend to keep on looking at westerns until the Indians win a fight. And we are going to gander the investigations until they investigate an investigator.

All I've discovered so far in our national racket of put-and-take is that it is more blessed to receive than for them to locate it.

So far as our financial evaporation is figured you can book me as a fiscal patriot. Meaning I would rather see them steal it here than have it wasted abroad.

If this be treason we can always get a lawyer who graduated from the Three-Eye League. Irrelevant, immaterial and incriminating.

Dorothy H. Amick To Become Bride Of William Bohensky

Ceremony To Be Performed Today

Miss Dorothy Hammond Amick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hammond Amick, Jr., Hill Crest Drive, will become the bride of William Francis Bohensky, Washington, son of Mrs. Frank Bohensky, Johnstown, Pa., and the late Mr. Bohensky, today at noon.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized in the home of the bride's parents before the mantel, decorated with bouquets of white flowers, with Rev. Seth Morrow, pastor of Frist Presbyterian Church, officiating, and the immediate family and intimate friends attending.

Miss Elizabeth Eves, Washington, will be the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. Miles Amick, brother of the bride, is serving as Mr. Bohensky's best man.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her father, has chosen a gray suit for her wedding. With it she is wearing a pink blouse and blue hat and accessories. A corsage of white orchids completes her costume.

Her maid of honor is wearing a Navy blue dress with white accessories and has a corsage of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Amick will be attired in a dark blue silk dress for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Hammond Amick, Sr., and the late Mr. and Mrs. John M. Streett. She is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y., maoring in biology. Miss Amick is employed as a medical technician at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Washington, and prior to taking that position was at Mayo Clinic doing electro encephalography.

Mr. Bohensky is a graduate of Johnstown High School and Western Michigan College, Kalamazoo, Mich. A veteran of the Ninth Air Force, he served in the European Theater of Operations. He is employed as an accountant in the Rehabilitation Center of the Washington Society for the Blind.

Mr. and Mrs. Amick are entertaining with a wedding reception in honor of their daughter and her bridal party, at the Ali Ghan Country Club, following the ceremony. The room is being decorated with arrangements of Spring flowers, while the bride's table is carrying out the bridal motif in white flowers and the tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Will Attend Niece's Party

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Frisina, New York, are entertaining at an engagement party of their children, Miss Mary Palmer and Samuel Frisina, today.

The party is being held at 8 p. m., at the Harlem Terrace, 210 East 104th Street, New York.

Kathryn Richards Is Bride Of J. H. MacMillan

The marriage of Miss Kathryn Witwer Richards to John Henry MacMillan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. MacMillan, Delmar, N. Y., has been announced by the former's mother, Mrs. Witwer Richards, 869 Gephart Drive. The ceremony was performed March 26 in the Church of the Holy Trinity, London, England, by Rev. Hiram Craven.

The bride wore a pink and fawn colored suit with pink hat and accessories, and a corsage of brown cimbidum orchids. She is a graduate of Allegany High School, attended Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., was active in musical organizations; and was graduated from Boston College with a bachelor of science in Education. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha and is on the faculty at West Side School.

The bridegroom was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology with a degree in mechanical engineering. A member of Phi Kappa Sigma Pi Tau Sigma, Tau Beta Pi and Sigma Xi, he was a four year member of the basketball and baseball teams and received the athletic award. He is on a Rotary International Fellowship at Imperial College, University of London.

72 Players Attend 3rd Session

The third session of the "New Spring Series" of the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club drew the largest crowd of the season Thursday night at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Two full sections, comprising nine tables each, played 27 boards in each section.

In section A, with a Straight Mitchell movement, the winning team, North and South, was Theodore Gray and Brother Joseph; second place were Robert Dezen and Richard Schwab; third, Mrs. Loraine Eisenberg and Mrs. Russell Bortz.

East and West first place winners were William A. Douglas and S. Russ Minter; second, Mrs. Fuller B. Whitworth and Mrs. Irving Millenson; and third, George C. Ward and Clyde Rowe.

In Section B, a straight Mitchell nine table movement was used and the winning team, North and South, was Mrs. John Schaidt, Mrs. Norman Taylor; second place, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Caselle; and third, Mrs. John Topper and Mrs. H. B. Simpson.

East and West first place winners were Mrs. Elsa Lichtenstein and Mrs. Irving Parisher; second Mrs. William Eyler and Mrs. George Ward; and third, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Shearer, Keyser.

April 26 the monthly Full Master Point Night is being held at the Cumberland Country Club instead of the hotel, Albert D. Heacox, president, announces. The fourth session of the series will also be played.

Clyde Rowe has been selected by the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club to give bridge lessons to anyone caring to take advantage of the opportunity, Mr. Heacox said last night. The time, date and place of lessons are to be announced next week.

Fairview WSCS To Have Study Class

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Fairview Avenue Methodist Church will hold a study class on the subject "Near East Panorama" based on the book by Glora M. Wysner. The first class will begin April 26 at 7:30 p. m. in the church, and anyone interested may attend.

Mrs. Robert C. Webster will be the leader. Colored slides are to be shown at most of the meetings, by John Zimmerman, Jr. giving background material on the various countries being studied in the text.

Mrs. McDade Is Head Of Mothers Club

The St. Mary's Mothers Club elected officers and formulated plans for various activities at a meeting Thursday evening in the church auditorium.

Mrs. Michael McDade was elected president; Mrs. William Staarman, vice president, and Mrs. Martha Price, treasurer. Mrs. Francis Comer was re-elected secretary.

Installation will be held May 17, preceded by a covered dish supper. The high school class mothers will be in charge, with Mrs. Mortimer Nehring and Mrs. Comer, the Supper committee; and Mrs. Margaret Hollar, Social chairman.

Plans were completed for a games party tomorrow night. It is being held at 8:30 p. m., in the church auditorium, with Mrs. Hollar in charge and Mrs. Charles Simpson and Mrs. Staarman chairman of the candy booth.

The club also decided to entertain with a picnic for the First Communicants and with a communion breakfast for the graduates. The former will be held May 7 with Mrs. Harry Smith, chairman and the latter, June 3 with Mrs. Hollar and Mrs. Staarman, co-chairmen.

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan addressed the group following the business session. A program was presented by the eighth grade pupils under the direction of Mrs. George Sellers and Mrs. Mary Long. Joseph Schillinger was soloist.

4-H Calendar Features Contests

Miss Helen Shelby, extension clothing specialist, will meet with Allegany 4-H leaders April 28. The session will be held in the court house from 10:30 until 12:30, to discuss 4-H clothing projects.

Miss Shelby will exhibit a 4-H garment kit, and wants suggestions for additions or changes.

Other 4-H events in the near future are announced by Miss Thelma J. Allin, assistant home demonstration agent. They include National 4-H Sunday, April 29; judging contests on clothing exhibits at club meetings in May; and the junior 4-H girls May Day party for parents, to be held at the LaVale fire hall May 1 at 7 p. m.

Then in June there will be the County 4-H Girls' Demonstration Contest, June 2 from 9 a. m., until 3:30 p. m., in the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company office; and June 9 at 10 a. m., the style revue at the same place.

Archconfraternity To Receive Members

New members are to be received into the Archconfraternity of Christian Mothers of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, tomorrow. The ceremony is to be held at 7:30 p. m. in the church with Rev. Louis Glantz, O.F.M. Cap., officiating.

Rev. Camillus Schmitt, O.F.M. Cap., pastor of Grantsville and Avilton churches, is to be the speaker.

A social is being held in the school cafeteria following the service. Mrs. F. A. Puderbaugh is chairman.

J. W. Holmes Jr., To Wed Roberta Thompson Sunday

Ceremony To Be In Michigan

A wedding of local interest is that of Miss Roberta Thompson to J. W. Holmes, Jr., which will be solemnized at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon in the First Methodist Church, Watervliet, Mich. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Thompson, Watervliet. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Holmes, Greensburg, Pa., formerly of 509 Dunbar Drive, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Rev. Robert Boardman of the Plymouth Congregational Church, will officiate at the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Emerson Minor of First Church.

Garlands of huckleberry foliage and white satin bows are being used in the decorations of the chancel rails, while large fan-shaped baskets of gladioli are on the rostrum, lighted with white tapers in branched candelabra. Lighted candles, huckleberry foliage and white satin rosettes are being used in the window recesses. Pew ribbons of white satin mark the aisle.

Miss Harriett Ann Thompson is to be her sister's maid of honor and little Jacquelin Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Rice, Hartford, Mich., junior honor attendant. Alden W. Field, Watervliet, is serving as Mr. Holmes' best man. Seating the guests will be Lewis A. Kunzler, Springfield, Ohio, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Lachlan McArthur, Chicago, Ill., and Robert Dye, Kalamazoo, Mich.

A one half hour musical program is to be played by Mrs. William Nelson preceding the ceremony. She will accompany Louis A. Holland, singing, "Through the Years."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride is wearing a gown of satin and Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice is accented with a double lace Peter Pan collar and tiny buttons to the waist. The long sleeves extend into formal points at the hand. The same lace forms a peplum over the gathered satin skirt that opens into a train. Her double-tiered finger-tip length illusion bridal veil falls from a lace over net half hat with pearl trim. Her colonial bouquet of white hyacinths, gypsum and valley lilies, with narrow satin streamers, knotted with flowers and greenery, completes her costume.

Her maid of honor's gown is of pale pink organdy with tiny white embroidered bows and a small Peter Pan Collar and self covered buttons to the waist. Its very full gored skirt is being worn over a bouffant white taffeta. With it she is wearing short white gloves and carrying a colonial bouquet of violets and pink rosebuds. She is wearing matching flowers in her hair.

Jacqueline's full length dress is of the same material as the maid of honor's, fashioned with an off the shoulder ruffle and a deeper ruffle at the hem. She also is wearing white gloves and carrying a miniature bouquet of violets.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Watervliet High School and was employed by the First National Bank there. She is a member of M. E.C.C.A., a literary guild. Her fiance is a graduate of St. John's College, Annapolis, and the University of Maryland Law School. He is a member of the Sales Organization of the Watervliet Paper Company.

Following the marriage, a reception for 150 guests is being held in the American Legion hall. Centering the collation table, covered with a white satin cloth, is the wedding cake encircled with greenery and valley lilies. The same arrangements are being used at the base of the lighted candles and punch bowls. Assisting are Mrs. Lewis A. Kunzler, Mrs. Elson Rodewald, Mrs. Harold Bauschke and Mrs. Lashlan McArthur. Mrs. Herman Robandt, Kalamazoo, is in charge of the guest book.

For their southern wedding trip, the bride has chosen a yellow silk print dress with yellow coat and black accessories. Upon their return Mr. Holmes and his bride will reside in Watervliet.

She is wearing matching flowers in her hair.

Jacqueline's full length dress is of the same material as the maid of honor's, fashioned with an off the shoulder ruffle and a deeper ruffle at the hem. She also is wearing white gloves and carrying a miniature bouquet of violets.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Watervliet High School and was employed by the First National Bank there. She is a member of M.E.C.C.A., a literary guild. Her fiance is a graduate of St. John's College, Annapolis, and the University of Maryland Law School. He is a member of the Sales Organization of the Watervliet Paper Company.

Following the marriage, a reception for 150 guests is being held in the American Legion hall. Centering the collation table, covered with a white satin cloth, is the wedding cake encircled with greenery and valley lilies. The same arrangements are being used at the base of the lighted candles and punch bowls. Assisting are Mrs. Lewis A. Kunzler, Mrs. Elson Rodewald, Mrs. Harold Bauschke and Mrs. Lashlan McArthur. Mrs. Herman Robandt, Kalamazoo, is in charge of the guest book.

For their southern wedding trip, the bride has chosen a yellow silk print dress with yellow coat and black accessories. Upon their return Mr. Holmes and his bride will reside in Watervliet.

Dorothy H. Amick To Become Bride Of William Bohensky

Ceremony To Be Performed Today

Miss Dorothy Hammond Amick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hammond Amick, Jr., Hill Crest Drive, will become the bride of William Francis Bohensky, Washington, son of Mrs. Frank Bohensky, Johnstown, Pa., and the late Mr. Bohensky, today at noon.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized in the home of the bride's parents before the mantel, decorated with bouquets of white flowers, with Rev. Seth Morrow, pastor of Frist Presbyterian Church, officiating, and the immediate family and intimate friends attending.

Miss Elizabeth Eves, Washington, will be the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. Miles Amick, brother of the bride, is serving as Mr. Bohensky's best man.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her father, has chosen a gray suit for her wedding. With it she is wearing a pink blouse and blue hat and accessories. A corsage of white orchids completes her costume.

Her maid of honor is wearing a Navy blue dress with white accessories and has a corsage of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Amick will be attired in a dark blue silk dress for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Hammond Amick, Sr., and the late Mr. and Mrs. John M. Streett. She is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y., maoring in biology. Miss Amick is employed as a medical technician at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Washington, and prior to taking that position was at Mayo Clinic doing electro encephalography.

Mr. Bohensky is a graduate of Johnstown High School and Western Michigan College, Kalamazoo, Mich. A veteran of the Ninth Air Force, he served in the European Theater of Operations. He is employed as an accountant in the Rehabilitation Center of the Washington Society for the Blind.

Mr. and Mrs. Amick are entertaining with a wedding reception in honor of their daughter and her bridal party, at the Ali Ghan Country Club, following the ceremony. The room is being decorated with arrangements of Spring flowers, while the bride's table is carrying out the bridal motif in white flowers and the tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Will Attend Niece's Party

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Frisina, New York, are entertaining at an engagement party of their children, Miss Mary Palmer and Samuel Frisina, today.

The party is being held at 8 p. m., at the Harlem Terrace, 210 East 104th Street, New York.

Kathryn Richards Is Bride Of J. H. MacMillan

The marriage of Miss Kathryn Witwer Richards to John Henry MacMillan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. MacMillan, Delmar, N. Y., has been announced by the former's mother, Mrs. Witwer Richards, 869 Gephart Drive. The ceremony was performed March 26 in the Church of the Holy Trinity, London, England, by Rev. Hiram Craven.

The bride wore a pink and fawn colored suit with pink hat and accessories, and a corsage of brown cimbidum orchids. She is a graduate of Allegany High School, attended Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., was active in musical organizations; and was graduated from Boston College with a bachelor of science in Education. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha and is on the faculty at West Side School.

The bridegroom was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology with a degree in mechanical engineering. A member of Phi Kappa Sigma Pi Tau Sigma, Tau Beta Pi and Sigma Xi, he was a four year member of the basketball and baseball teams and received the athletic award. He is on a Rotary International Fellowship at Imperial College, University of London.

72 Players Attend 3rd Session

The third session of the "New Spring Series" of the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club drew the largest crowd of the season Thursday night at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Two full sections, comprising nine tables each, played 27 boards in each section.

In section A, with a Straight Mitchell movement, the winning team, North and South, was Theodore Gray and Brother Joseph; second place were Robert Dezen and Richard Schwab; third, Mrs. Loraine Eisenberg and Mrs. Russell Bortz.

East and West first place winners were William A. Douglas and S. Russ Minter; second, Mrs. Fuller B. Whitworth and Mrs. Irving Millenson; and third, George C. Ward and Clyde Rowe.

In Section B, a straight Mitchell nine table movement was used and the winning team, North and South, was Mrs. John Schaidt, Mrs. Norman Taylor; second place, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Caselle; and third, Mrs. John Topper and Mrs. H. B. Simpson.

East and West first place winners were Mrs. Elsa Lichtenstein and Mrs. Irving Parisher; second Mrs. William Eyler and Mrs. George Ward; and third, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Shearer, Keyser.

April 26 the monthly Full Master Point Night is being held at the Cumberland Country Club instead of the hotel, Albert D. Heacox, president, announces. The fourth session of the series will also be played.

Clyde Rowe has been selected by the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club to give bridge lessons to anyone caring to take advantage of the opportunity, Mr. Heacox said last night. The time, date and place of lessons are to be announced next week.

Fairview WSCS To Have Study Class

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Fairview Avenue Methodist Church will hold a study class on the subject "Near East Panorama" based on the book by Glora M. Wysner. The first class will begin April 26 at 7:30 p. m. in the church, and anyone interested may attend.

Mrs. Robert C. Webster will be the leader. Colored slides are to be shown at most of the meetings, by John Zimmerman, Jr. giving background material on the various countries being studied in the text.

Mrs. McDade Is Head Of Mothers Club

The St. Mary's Mothers Club elected officers and formulated plans for various activities at a meeting Thursday evening in the church auditorium.

Mrs. Michael McDade was elected president; Mrs. William Staarman, vice president, and Mrs. Martha Price, treasurer. Mrs. Francis Comer was re-elected secretary.

Installation will be held May 17, preceded by a covered dish supper. The high school class mothers will be in charge, with Mrs. Mortimer Nehring and Mrs. Comer, the Supper committee; and Mrs. Margaret Hollar, Social chairman.

Plans were completed for a games party tomorrow night. It is being held at 8:30 p. m., in the church auditorium, with Mrs. Hollar in charge and Mrs. Charles Simpson and Mrs. Staarman chairman of the candy booth.

The club also decided to entertain with a picnic for the First Communicants and with a communion breakfast for the graduates. The former will be held May 7 with Mrs. Harry Smith, chairman and the latter, June 3 with Mrs. Hollar and Mrs. Staarman, co-chairmen.

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan addressed the group following the business session. A program was presented by the eighth grade pupils under the direction of Mrs. George Sellers and Mrs. Mary Long. Joseph Schillinger was soloist.

4-H Calendar Features Contests

Miss Helen Shelby, extension clothing specialist, will meet with Allegany 4-H leaders April 28. The session will be held in the court house from 10:30 until 12:30, to discuss 4-H clothing projects.

Miss Shelby will exhibit a 4-H garment kit, and wants suggestions for additions or changes.

Other 4-H events in the near future are announced by Miss Thelma J. Allin, assistant home demonstration agent. They include National 4-H Sunday, April 29; judging contests on clothing exhibits at club meetings in May; and the junior 4-H girls May Day party for parents, to be held at the LaVale fire hall May 1 at 7 p. m.

Then in June there will be the County 4-H Girls' Demonstration Contest, June 2 from 9 a. m., until 3:30 p. m., in the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company office; and June 9 at 10 a. m., the style revue at the same place.

Archconfraternity To Receive Members

New members are to be received into the Archconfraternity of Christian Mothers of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, tomorrow. The ceremony is to be held at 7:30 p. m. in the church with Rev. Louis Glantz, O.F.M. Cap., officiating.

Rev. Camillus Schmitt, O.F.M. Cap., pastor of Grantsville and Avilton churches, is to be the speaker.

A social is being held in the school cafeteria following the service. Mrs. F. A. Puderbaugh is chairman.

J. W. Holmes Jr., To Wed Roberta Thompson Sunday

Ceremony To Be In Michigan

A wedding of local interest is that of Miss Roberta Thompson to J. W. Holmes, Jr., which will be solemnized at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon in the First Methodist Church, Watervliet, Mich. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Thompson, Watervliet. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Holmes, Greensburg, Pa., formerly of 509 Dunbar Drive, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Rev. Robert Boardman of the Plymouth Congregational Church, will officiate at the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Emerson Minor of First Church.

Garlands of huckleberry foliage and white satin bows are being used in the decorations of the chancel rails, while large fan-shaped baskets of gladioli are on the rostrum, lighted with white tapers in branched candelabra. Lighted candles, huckleberry foliage and white satin rosettes are being used in the window recesses. Pew ribbons of white satin mark the aisle.

Miss Harriett Ann Thompson is to be her sister's maid of honor and little Jacquelin Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Rice, Hartford, Mich., junior honor attendant. Alden W. Field, Watervliet, is serving as Mr. Holmes' best man. Seating the guests will be Lewis A. Kunzler, Springfield, Ohio, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Lachlan McArthur, Chicago, Ill., and Robert Dye, Kalamazoo, Mich.

A one half hour musical program is to be played by Mrs. William Nelson preceding the ceremony. She will accompany Louis A. Holland, singing, "Through the Years."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride is wearing a gown of satin and Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice is accented with a double lace Peter Pan collar and tiny buttons to the waist. The long sleeves extend into formal points at the hand. The same lace forms a peplum over the gathered satin skirt that opens into a train. Her double-tiered finger-tip length illusion bridal veil falls from a lace over net half hat with pearl trim. Her colonial bouquet of white hyacinths, gypsum and valley lilies, with narrow satin streamers, knotted with flowers and greenery, completes her costume.

Her maid of honor's gown is of pale pink organdy with tiny white embroidered bows and a small Peter Pan Collar and self covered buttons to the waist. Its very full gored skirt is being worn over a bouffant white taffeta. With it she is wearing short white gloves and carrying a colonial bouquet of violets and pink rosebuds. She is wearing matching flowers in her hair.

Jacqueline's full length dress is of the same material as the maid of honor's, fashioned with an off the shoulder ruffle and a deeper ruffle at the hem. She also is wearing white gloves and carrying a miniature bouquet of violets.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Watervliet High School and was employed by the First National Bank there. She is a member of M. E.C.C.A., a literary guild. Her fiance is a graduate of St. John's College, Annapolis, and the University of Maryland Law School. He is a member of the Sales Organization of the Watervliet Paper Company.

Following the marriage, a reception for 150 guests is being held in the American Legion hall. Centering the collation table, covered with a white satin cloth, is the wedding cake encircled with greenery and valley lilies. The same arrangements are being used at the base of the lighted candles and punch bowls. Assisting are Mrs. Lewis A. Kunzler, Mrs. Elson Rodewald, Mrs. Harold Bauschke and Mrs. Lashlan McArthur. Mrs. Herman Robandt, Kalamazoo, is in charge of the guest book.

For their southern wedding trip, the bride has chosen a yellow silk print dress with yellow coat and black accessories. Upon their return Mr. Holmes and his bride will reside in Watervliet.

Imitation of a Fisherman

Tommy has borrowed Daddy's rod and reel, a can from the kitchen waste-basket, and a couple of worms from Mama's flower garden. Now Tommy's going fishing—just like Daddy and big brother Bill.

Children like to grow-up by imitation. Even though Tommy won't catch any fish, it's fun to pretend to be a real grown-up fisherman.

The counterpart of imitation is example. That is the blueprint that Daddy and Mama and big brother Bill provide for Tommy's adventure of growing-up.

But the Church has had a vital part in Tommy's growth. Before Tommy was even born, the Church was teaching his parents and his brother the Master Blueprint of Christian Living. And right now, while it's teaching Tommy the first lessons of faith, the Church is helping Daddy and Mama and big brother Bill set the best example.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Imitation of a Fisherman

Tommy has borrowed Daddy's rod and reel, a can from the kitchen waste-basket, and a couple of worms from Mama's flower garden. Now Tommy's going fishing—just like Daddy and big brother Bill.

Children like to grow-up by imitation. Even though Tommy won't catch any fish, it's fun to pretend to be a real grown-up fisherman.

The counterpart of imitation is example. That is the blueprint that Daddy and Mama and big brother Bill provide for Tommy's adventure of growing-up.

But the Church has had a vital part in Tommy's growth. Before Tommy was even born, the Church was teaching his parents and his brother the Master Blueprint of Christian Living. And right now, while it's teaching Tommy the first lessons of faith, the Church is helping Daddy and Mama and big brother Bill set the best example.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Tommy has borrowed Daddy's rod and reel, a can from the kitchen waste-basket, and a couple of worms from Mama's flower garden. Now Tommy's going fishing—just like Daddy and big brother Bill.

Children like to grow-up by imitation. Even though Tommy won't catch any fish, it's fun to pretend to be a real grown-up fisherman.

The counterpart of imitation is example. That is the blueprint that Daddy and Mama and big brother Bill provide for Tommy's adventure of growing-up.

But the Church has had a vital part in Tommy's growth. Before Tommy was even born, the Church was teaching his parents and his brother the Master Blueprint of Christian Living. And right now, while it's teaching Tommy the first lessons of faith, the Church is helping Daddy and Mama and big brother Bill set the best example.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

LONNIE B. BROWN

Lonnie B. Brown, 49, former Cumberland resident, died Thursday at his home in Brigantine, N. J., where he had operated a delicatessan for two and one-half years.

Mr. Brown, when he first came here, was employed by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. Later he was an agent for the local branch of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Before residing in Brigantine, he was with the Washington branch of the life insurance company.

While in Cumberland, Mr. Brown was active in Boy Scout work, being one of the organizers of Potomac Council and scoutmaster of Troop 4.

He is married to the former Miss Gertrude Matlick, of this city. Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Shirley J. Brown and Barbara L. Brown, both of Brigantine; a son, Stanley L. Brown, of Washington; his mother, Mrs. Biddie Brown, of West Virginia; one brother, Cecil Brown, and three sisters, Mrs. Madeline Evers, Mrs. Larnie Ashcraft and Mrs. John Harris, all of West Virginia.

Mr. Brown was a member of the Washington Lions Club; the Brigantine Businessmen's Association, and the Brigantine Republican Club.

The body will arrive at the Hafer Funeral Home tomorrow at 1:10 p.m. Services will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m. in the funeral home by Rev. O. Afton Linger, pastor of First Baptist Church. Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

NILAND SERVICES

A requiem high mass for Thomas J. Niland, 75, of 31 Delaware Avenue, who died Monday in Allegany Hospital, was celebrated yesterday in St. Mary's Catholic Church. Interment was in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

Rev. Louis Miltenberger, assistant pastor of St. Martin's Catholic Church, Washington, and a nephew of Mr. Niland, was celebrant. Deacon was Rev. Robert F. Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, and sub-deacon was Rev. Ebert Gay, C. M.

Pallbearers were A. L. Wills, Charles E. Spicer, William Grimminger, Charles S. Seders, Edward Davidson and Peter J. Decker.

CHARLES E. WEBER

LONACONING — A retired coal miner, Charles E. Weber, 75, of Knapp's Meadow near Lonaconing, was found dead shortly before noon yesterday at his home.

State Police said Weber died from a self-inflicted blast in the head. The elderly man used a 12 guage pump shotgun.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said members of the family told him Weber had been in ill health for some time. He gave a verdict of suicide.

His wife, Mrs. Sarah Weber told State Police she had gone to the home of a neighbor and upon her return 15 minutes later looked for her husband. She found him dead in the bedroom.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Sarah Rennie Weber; one son, Robert Weber, student at Central High School; two daughters, Mrs. Jean W. Getson and Mrs. Alex Lashbaugh; two step children, Wilbert Rennie, Lonaconing, and Mrs. Edgar Andrews, Knapps Meadow.

Keyser Tossers Wallop Silents

Register 16-2 Win, Householder Scores

ROMNEY, W. Va. April 20 — Keyser High School exploded for 12 runs in the last two frames to rout the West Virginia School for the Deaf here today by the score or 16 to 2.

The Silents were trailing 4-2 when Keyser teed off in the late innings to sew up the game and sweep the two-game series.

It was the third straight victory for Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's team and the third in a row for Jimmy Householder who went the route for KHS and struck out eight. Retton, who was relieved by Boyd in the 6th, fired the 3rd strike past nine.

Boyd turned in an unassisted double play with a shoestring catch and also started another twin killing

Amvets Finish In 3rd Place

Annex Final, 3-0; Viaduct Is Victor

Cumberland's Amvets swept three games from Clingerman's Restaurant last night to finish the second half race of the Men's National Shuffleboard League of Allegany in third place with a 25-14 record—five full games in the rear of Stadium Inn of Frostburg which won both halves and the championship.

Clay Ingram led the Amvets with 26 points while A. Miller had 16 for Clingerman's.

Viaduct Inn scored a 2-1 decision over the Cumberland Woodmen of the World. Scarpelli and Strosnider were tied for high scores by posting 22s. R. McCleaf of the Woodmen had 20 points.

Stadium Inn won the first half with a 32-7 record, six games ahead of the Cumberland K. of C. The Mountain City team finished four games in front of the Knights in the second half race. The local K. of C. shufflers had won the championship during the first three seasons the league was in operation. Final 2nd half standings:

There will be practice shooting open to the public before and after the regular program.

Call Over Wins Rowe Memorial At Bowie's Opening

BOWIE RACETRACK, Md., April 20 (AP)—Bedford Stable's Call Over captured the $7,500-added Rowe Memorial Handicap here today as this southern Maryland track opened its 12-day spring meeting.

Henry H. Hecht's The Pincher, 4-5 favorite with the crowd of 6,000 finished second, a half-length behind the Eddie Yowell-trained winner. Third money went to Brookfield Farms' Istan, the early pacesetter.

Well-handled by Jockey R. J. Martin, Call Over slipped through along the rail in the six-furlong stake to overtake The Pincher in midstretch after the latter had gone to the front coming out of the turn.

Earning $5,395 for his owner, Call Over returned $10.80 straight while completing the journey in 1:12 over a dead track.

Manley And Patton Reach Golf Finals

PINEHURST, N. C. April 20 (AP)—Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., a couple of golf-playing lumbermen, today reached the finals of the North and South Amateur Tournament.

They completed the conquest of the Walker Cup contingent that began the tournament seven strong on Monday, with Manley eliminating cup regular Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, 3 and 1, and Patton scoring over cup alternate Bill (Dynamite) Goodloe of Valdosta, Ga., 3 and 2 in 36-hole semi-final matches.

Patton and Manley will meet over 36 holes for the title tomorrow.

Surkont, Boston Braves' Hurler, Defeats Champs

Max Hurls 2-Hitter, Trims Phillies, 2-1

PHILADELPHIA, April 20 (AP) — Sturdy Max Surkont, sophomore Boston right-hander, throttled the Philadelphia Phillies on two hits today as the Braves squeezed out a 2-1 victory over the National League champions.

The 205-pound Surkont from Pawtucket, R. I., not only tied the Phils' batters in knots but drove home the winning run with a fly ball to the outfield.

The Phils' Ken Heintzelman pitched well enough to win most games, but Surkont was too tough. The Braves got only seven safeties, two of them by rookie Luis Marquez and both of his hits figured in the scoring. Box:

NEWCOMBE BEATS GIANTS

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) — Big Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's 19-game winner of last year, got off on the right foot today with a five-hit, 7-3 victory over the New York Giants in a ragged opener before 30,870 at the Polo Grounds.

After a shaky start which permitted the Giants to take a 3-2 lead at the end of four frames, the 240-pound negro right hander settled down and blanked Leo Durocher's pennant hopefuls on a single hit the rest of the way while his teammates provided him with a safe margin. Box:

A's TOP BOSOX

BOSTON, April 20 (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics today accomplished something they hadn't been able to do in Fenway Park for two full seasons — they defeated the Boston Red Sox, 6-3.

The victory, first for the A's since September 12, 1948, was against Mel Parnell, Boston lefthander. Who had run up a string of ten consecutive triumphs over Philadelphia.

It was the first victory of the season for the A's and the third loss for the Sox who have yet to win.

Only 11,461 fans attended the chilly contest — the Sox first home game.

Knicks And Royals Battle For Title

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 20 (AP)—The championship of the National Basketball Association will be decided tomorrow night with the New York Knickerbockers attempting to climax a phenomenal comeback against the Rochester Royals.

The Knicks were backed against the wall and counted out when the Royals stepped off to three straight victories in the best-of-seven final series.

An added incentive tomorrow night is the $2,500 extra that will go to the winning team. The champion gets $7,500 and the runnerup $5,000.

Jackie Robinson Blasts Umpires

Says Arbiters Are "Out To Get Me"

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) — The New York Daily News said tonight that Jackie Robinson, star negro second baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, has accused National League umpires of "being out to get me."

"I know what they're doing," The News quoted Robinson. "I'm not blind. They're out to get me. One of them went to Dressen (Charley Dressen, Brooklyn manager) before the season started and said as much. Claimed that I'm trying to show up the umpires, and they weren't going to stand for it.

"I'm not trying to show anyone up, but I think I'm entitled to make a beef as much as anyone else."

Robinson became involved in a minor controversy during the Dodgers-Phillies game at Brooklyn Wednesday. When Plate Umpire Dusty Boggess called him out on a third strike, Robinson threw away his bat and shouted something to the umpire as he trotted to his position. Babe Pinelli, working the bases, berated Robinson for shouting at his colleague. Dressen had to intervene.

The newspaper quoted Dressen as saying:

"I've got it arranged with Robinson that I'm to run out and save him in all arguments."

Ford Frick, National League president, said he had been informed of no incident.

"If they (the ball players) get out of line," said Frick, "we will take care of it. If they don't we pay no attention."

Robinson and Dressen were not available for comment.

Gavilan Whips Aldo Minelli

Cuban Welter Earns Unanimous Decision

NEW YORK, April 20 (INS)—Kid Gavilan tuned up tonight for his forthcoming welterweight title fight with Johnny Bratton by scoring a unanimous ten round decision over rugged Aldo Minelli, Italian middleweight at St. Nicholas Arena.

Gavilan, who weighed 150¾ to Minelli's 152½, looked sharp and fast as he scored repeatedly with long snaking body blows and short rights to the chin.

Judge Charley Shortell gave Gavilan eight rounds to Minelli's two. Judge Joe Agnello scored it 7-3 and Refree George Walsh 6-3-1 in favor of the Cuban.

Football Officials Meet Here April 30

KEYSER, W. Va. — The annual spring meeting of the Potomac Valley Football Officials Association will be held at Central YMCA, Cumberland on Monday, April 30, at 8 p. m. The meeting date has been announced by John Shelton, president, Keyser, who is anxious to have a large number of members in attendance as well as others who are interested in officiating.

The purpose of the meeting, Shelton said, is to clear the slate of all unfinished business, and to discuss assignments of officials for games.

BOB FELLER WINS

CLEVELAND, April 20 (AP) — Bob Feller turned in a workmanlike five-hit pitching job today as the Cleveland Indians defeated the St. Louis Browns 4 to 1 before 48,316 fans.

It was the third straight win for the Tribe, and the third successive loss for the Browns.

Feller, his curve breaking sharply, fanned eight Brownies and walked five. He was in hot water several times, but got out without damage until the ninth, when Pinch-Hitter Hank Arft led off with a home run over the temporary fence in right field. Box:

Senators Lead League, Trim Yanks Twice

Washington Grabs 5-3, 8-4 Decisions

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—The Washington Senators moved into undisputed possession of first place in the American League today with a day-night double-header victory over the New York Yankees, 5-3 and 8-4 at Griffith Stadium.

Sandy Consuegra held the Bombers to four hits in the afternoon game before President Truman and 27,331 other fans.

Mickey Vernon led the Senator onslaught with a perfect night at the plate in the second game. He tripled, doubled, hit two singles and drove in four runs.

Tom Morgan, the Yanks' spring training ace, started in the nightcap but went to the showers after a hectic fifth inning when Washington tallied four runs. He was relieved by Joe Ostrowski and Bob Muncrief who gave up three runs and five hits the rest of the distance.

Washington scored only two hits in the afternoon opener, but they were enough.

President Truman showed up to make the opening pitch—and got booed, twice. He was booed once when he entered the presidential box, and again in the eighth inning when it was announced that no one was to leave the field until the president had gone.

It was the first time a president had been booed at a baseball game since Herbert Hoover got the raspberry in the 1931 World Series.

The wildness of Yankee pitchers, who gave up 13 walks, brought the world champions' downfall as the senators ran up their third straight victory and the Yankees took their first loss.

As it turned out, in spite of the booing, the pitcher with the best control was the president himself. He got off a neat lefthanded throw that Allie Reynolds, Yankee pitcher, grabbed.

No other pitcher looked as good, although Sandy Consuegra, a 150-pound Washington pitcher from Mantanzas, Cuba, came close.

The Yankees had beaten the Senators the last six times they had been in an opener here. But Washington ignored history, jumped in front in the first inning, and stayed there to the delight and surprise of the 27,331 fans. Box:

Bruce High School of Westernport and LaSalle and Fort Hill of Cumberland chalked up victories yesterday at the Bi-State Scholastic Baseball Conference season got under way.

LaSalle was extended eight innings to nose out Hyndman High School at Stitcher Field by the score of 9-8. Fort Hill's Sentinels eked out a 4-3 decision over Barton High School which was making its debut in the circuit and Woody Woodson's Bruce High nine took Central High of Lonaconing into camp, 7-4.

Byrnes Breaks It Up

The Explorers edged Hyndman here in an extra frame when Mike Cunningham walked, Francis "Slug" Robertson singled and Jimmy Byrne's belted over the winning tally with his third hit of the day.

Robertson hurled three innings for LaSalle and gave way to Doug Connolly who finished and got credit for the win. Robertson and Connelly fanned seven and issued nine free tickets. Buskirk went the route for Hyndman, walked six and whiffed seven.

Fabbri Gets Four Hits

Twenty-six hits were credited to the teams — 14 to LaSalle and 12 to Hyndman. And there were 28 runners stranded on the hassocks — 16 Hyndman and 12 LaSalle.

Lu Fabbri led the LaSalle attack with four hits in as many trips to the plate.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels came from behind to beat Barton in the 6th inning when Cage singled, Owens sacrificed and Frye doubled to tie the score. Frye later crossed the platter with the deciding run when Lewis got a life on an error.

Fort Hill took a 2-0 lead in the opening frame when Null and Cage singled, McGregor sacrificed and Frye belted a triple.

Tichnell Hits Homer

The big blow of the game, however, came in the 4th when Kirk singled, Bean walked and Arnold Tichnell smashed a home run to give Barton a 3-2 advantage.

Lefty Joe Beck and Tichnell went the route and each twirler gave up only five hits. Beck struck out nine and Tichnell had seven victims.

Raines Strikes Out 11

Bobby Raines whipped the third strike past 11 batsmen in gaining the nod over Kenneth Burt in a pitching duel at Westernport. Each twirler yielded six hits. Burt had nine strikeouts to his credit.

Curtis Johnson and Don McKenzie accounted for five of Central's blows.

Bill Howe's running catch of McIntyre's drive to deep right-center in the 6th was the fielding highlights.

Kickers Tournament Scheduled At CCC

A kickers handicap tournament for men will open the golf season at the Cumberland Country Club today and tomorrow.

Two weeks from today the qualifying round of the men's spring handicap tournament will get under way. Members will be given nine days in which to qualify.

CHISOX BLANK TIGERS

CHICAGO, April 20 (AP) — Rangy Randy Gumpert hurled a three-hitter today enabling the remodeled Chicago White Sox to whip the Detroit Tigers, 5-0, for their third straight win before a chilled home opener crowd of 8,731 at Comiskey Park.

The issue was settled in the third inning when the Bengal defense blew up behind starter Ted Gray and the Sox scored three runs. Three of the four Tiger errors came in that inning. Gray contributed to his own downfall by hitting a batter and uncorking a wild pitch and yielding one hit.

White Sox double plays followed two of the three Tiger singles and Gumpert never was close to trouble.

New Tin Mill Nearly Completed—Will Add to South Cumberland's Activity

The new tin plate mill of the N. and G. Taylor Company in South Cumberland is assuming an almost completed appearance. The engine was shipped Monday from Ohio and is expected in about three days. The pickling machinery for the new plant was shipped from Pittsburgh yesterday and by the end of the week all the machinery to be set up in the new mill will have arrived. Superintendent Costello stated yesterday that everything will be in shape about the first of next month for the starting of the plant. Mr. James Norris has charge of the brick work and has a good force of men rushing it.

Keyser Tossers Wallop Silents

Register 16-2 Win, Householder Scores

ROMNEY, W. Va. April 20 — Keyser High School exploded for 12 runs in the last two frames to rout the West Virginia School for the Deaf here today by the score of 16 to 2.

The Silents were trailing 4-2 when Keyser teed off in the late innings to sew up the game and sweep the two-game series.

It was the third straight victory for Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's team and the third in a row for Jimmy Householder who went the route for KHS and struck out eight. Retton, who was relieved by Boyd in the 6th, fired the 3rd strike past nine.

Boyd turned in an unassisted double play with a shoestring catch and also started another twin killing.

Annex Final, 3-0; Viaduct Is Victor

Cumberland's Amvets swept three games from Clingerman's Restaurant last night to finish the second half race of the Men's National Shuffleboard League of Allegany in third place with a 25-14 record—five full games in the rear of Stadium Inn of Frostburg which won both halves and the championship.

Clay Ingram led the Amvets with 26 points while A. Miller had 16 for Clingerman's.

Viaduct Inn scored a 2-1 decision over the Cumberland Woodmen of the World. Scarpelli and Strosnider were tied for high scores by posting 22s. R. McCleaf of the Woodmen had 20 points.

Stadium Inn won the first half with a 32-7 record, six games ahead of the Cumberland K. of C. The Mountain City team finished four games in front of the Knights in the second half race. The local K. of C. shufflers had won the championship during the first three seasons the league was in operation. Final 2nd half standings:

Call Over Wins Rowe Memorial At Bowie's Opening

BOWIE RACETRACK, Md., April 20 (AP)—Bedford Stable's Call Over captured the $7,500-added Rowe Memorial Handicap here today as this southern Maryland track opened its 12-day spring meeting.

Henry H. Hecht's The Pincher, 4-5 favorite with the crowd of 6,000 finished second, a half-length behind the Eddie Yowell-trained winner. Third money went to Brookfield Farms' Istan, the early pacesetter.

Well-handled by Jockey R. J. Martin, Call Over slipped through along the rail in the six-furlong stake to overtake The Pincher in midstretch after the latter had gone to the front coming out of the turn.

Earning $5,395 for his owner, Call Over returned $10.80 straight while completing the journey in 1:12 over a dead track.

Manley And Patton Reach Golf Finals

PINEHURST, N. C. April 20 (AP)—Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., a couple of golf-playing lumbermen, today reached the finals of the North and South Amateur Tournament.

They completed the conquest of the Walker Cup contingent that began the tournament seven strong on Monday, with Manley eliminating cup regular Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, 3 and 1, and Patton scoring over cup alternate Bill (Dynamite) Goodloe of Valdosta, Ga., 3 and 2 in 36-hole semi-final matches.

Patton and Manley will meet over 36 holes for the title tomorrow.

Max Hurls 2-Hitter, Trims Phillies, 2-1

PHILADELPHIA, April 20 (AP) — Sturdy Max Surkont, sophomore Boston right-hander, throttled the Philadelphia Phillies on two hits today as the Braves squeezed out a 2-1 victory over the National League champions.

The 205-pound Surkont from Pawtucket, R. I., not only tied the Phils' batters in knots but drove home the winning run with a fly ball to the outfield.

The Phils' Ken Heintzelman pitched well enough to win most games, but Surkont was too tough. The Braves got only seven safeties, two of them by rookie Luis Marquez and both of his hits figured in the scoring. Box:

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) — Big Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's 19-game winner of last year, got off on the right foot today with a five-hit, 7-3 victory over the New York Giants in a ragged opener before 30,870 at the Polo Grounds.

After a shaky start which permitted the Giants to take a 3-2 lead at the end of four frames, the 240-pound negro right hander settled down and blanked Leo Durocher's pennant hopefuls on a single hit the rest of the way while his teammates provided him with a safe margin. Box:

A's TOP BOSOX

BOSTON, April 20 (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics today accomplished something they hadn't been able to do in Fenway Park for two full seasons — they defeated the Boston Red Sox, 6-3.

The victory, first for the A's since September 12, 1948, was against Mel Parnell, Boston lefthander. Who had run up a string of ten consecutive triumphs over Philadelphia.

It was the first victory of the season for the A's and the third loss for the Sox who have yet to win.

Only 11,461 fans attended the chilly contest — the Sox first home game.

Knicks And Royals Battle For Title

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 20 (AP)—The championship of the National Basketball Association will be decided tomorrow night with the New York Knickerbockers attempting to climax a phenomenal comeback against the Rochester Royals.

The Knicks were backed against the wall and counted out when the Royals stepped off to three straight victories in the best-of-seven final series.

But the New Yorkers took a hitch in their belts and scrambled back, winning three straight to knot the score.

An added incentive tomorrow night is the $2,500 extra that will go to the winning team. The champion gets $7,500 and the runnerup $5,000.

Jackie Robinson Blasts Umpires

Says Arbiters Are "Out To Get Me"

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) — The New York Daily News said tonight that Jackie Robinson, star negro second baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, has accused National League umpires of "being out to get me."

"I know what they're doing," The News quoted Robinson. "I'm not blind. They're out to get me. One of them went to Dressen (Charley Dressen, Brooklyn manager) before the season started and said as much. Claimed that I'm trying to show up the umpires, and they weren't going to stand for it.

"I'm not trying to show anyone up, but I think I'm entitled to make a beef as much as anyone else."

Robinson became involved in a minor controversy during the Dodgers-Phillies game at Brooklyn Wednesday. When Plate Umpire Dusty Boggess called him out on a third strike, Robinson threw away his bat and shouted something to the umpire as he trotted to his position. Babe Pinelli, working the bases, berated Robinson for shouting at his colleague. Dressen had to intervene.

The newspaper quoted Dressen as saying:

"I've got it arranged with Robinson that I'm to run out and save him in all arguments."

Ford Frick, National League president, said he had been informed of no incident.

"If they (the ball players) get out of line," said Frick, "we will take care of it. If they don't we pay no attention."

Robinson and Dressen were not available for comment.

Gavilan Whips Aldo Minelli

Cuban Welter Earns Unanimous Decision

NEW YORK, April 20 (INS)—Kid Gavilan tuned up tonight for his forthcoming welterweight title fight with Johnny Bratton by scoring a unanimous ten round decision over rugged Aldo Minelli, Italian middleweight at St. Nicholas Arena.

Gavilan, who weighed 150¾ to Minelli's 152½, looked sharp and fast as he scored repeatedly with long snaking body blows and short rights to the chin.

Judge Charley Shortell gave Gavilan eight rounds to Minelli's two. Judge Joe Agnello scored it 7-3 and Refree George Walsh 6-3-1 in favor of the Cuban.

Football Officials Meet Here April 30

KEYSER, W. Va. — The annual spring meeting of the Potomac Valley Football Officials Association will be held at Central YMCA, Cumberland on Monday, April 30, at 8 p. m. The meeting date has been announced by John Shelton, president, Keyser, who is anxious to have a large number of members in attendance as well as others who are interested in officiating.

The purpose of the meeting, Shelton said, is to clear the slate of all unfinished business, and to discuss assignments of officials for games.

BOB FELLER WINS

CLEVELAND, April 20 (AP) — Bob Feller turned in a workmanlike five-hit pitching job today as the Cleveland Indians defeated the St. Louis Browns 4 to 1 before 48,316 fans.

It was the third straight win for the Tribe, and the third successive loss for the Browns.

Feller, his curve breaking sharply, fanned eight Brownies and walked five. He was in hot water several times, but got out without damage until the ninth, when Pinch-Hitter Hank Arft led off with a home run over the temporary fence in right field. Box:

Senators Lead League, Trim Yanks Twice

Washington Grabs 5-3, 8-4 Decisions

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—The Washington Senators moved into undisputed possession of first place in the American League today with a day-night double-header victory over the New York Yankees, 5-3 and 8-4 at Griffith Stadium.

Sandy Consuegra held the Bombers to four hits in the afternoon game before President Truman and 27,331 other fans.

Mickey Vernon led the Senator onslaught with a perfect night at the plate in the second game. He tripled, doubled, hit two singles and drove in four runs.

Tom Morgan, the Yanks' spring training ace, started in the nightcap but went to the showers after a hectic fifth inning when Washington tallied four runs. He was relieved by Joe Ostrowski and Bob Muncrief who gave up three runs and five hits the rest of the distance.

Washington scored only two hits in the afternoon opener, but they were enough.

President Truman showed up to make the opening pitch—and got booed, twice. He was booed once when he entered the presidential box, and again in the eighth inning when it was announced that no one was to leave the field until the president had gone.

It was the first time a president had been booed at a baseball game since Herbert Hoover got the raspberry in the 1931 World Series.

The wildness of Yankee pitchers, who gave up 13 walks, brought the world champions' downfall as the senators ran up their third straight victory and the Yankees took their first loss.

As it turned out, in spite of the booing, the pitcher with the best control was the president himself. He got off a neat lefthanded throw that Allie Reynolds, Yankee pitcher, grabbed.

No other pitcher looked as good, although Sandy Consuegra, a 150-pound Washington pitcher from Mantanzas, Cuba, came close.

The Yankees had beaten the Senators the last six times they had been in an opener here. But Washington ignored history, jumped in front in the first inning, and stayed there to the delight and surprise of the 27,331 fans. Box:

Today's Game
Allegany at Beall.

Bruce High School of Westernport and LaSalle and Fort Hill of Cumberland chalked up victories yesterday at the Bi-State Scholastic Baseball Conference season got under way.

LaSalle was extended eight innings to nose out Hyndman High School at Stitcher Field by the score of 9-8. Fort Hill's Sentinels eked out a 4-3 decision over Barton High School which was making its debut in the circuit and Woody Woodson's Bruce High nine took Central High of Lonaconing into camp, 7-4.

Byrnes Breaks It Up

The Explorers edged Hyndman here in an extra frame when Mike Cunningham walked, Francis "Slug" Robertson singled and Jimmy Byrne's belted over the winning tally with his third hit of the day.

Robertson hurled three innings for LaSalle and gave way to Doug Connolly who finished and got credit for the win. Robertson and Connelly fanned seven and issued nine free tickets. Buskirk went the route for Hyndman, walked six and whiffed seven.

Fabbri Gets Four Hits

Twenty-six hits were credited to the teams — 14 to LaSalle and 12 to Hyndman. And there were 28 runners stranded on the hassocks — 16 Hyndman and 12 LaSalle.

Lu Fabbri led the LaSalle attack with four hits in as many trips to the plate.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels came from behind to beat Barton in the 6th inning when Cage singled, Owens sacrificed and Frye doubled to tie the score. Frye later crossed the platter with the deciding run when Lewis got a life on an error.

Fort Hill took a 2-0 lead in the opening frame when Null and Cage singled, McGregor sacrificed and Frye belted a triple.

Tichnell Hits Homer

The big blow of the game, however, came in the 4th when Kirk singled, Bean walked and Arnold Tichnell smashed a home run to give Barton a 3-2 advantage.

Lefty Joe Beck and Tichnell went the route and each twirler gave up only five hits. Beck struck out nine and Tichnell had seven victims.

Raines Strikes Out 11

Bobby Raines whipped the third strike past 11 batsmen in gaining the nod over Kenneth Burt in a pitching duel at Westernport. Each twirler yielded six hits. Burt had nine strikeouts to his credit.

Curtis Johnson and Don McKenzie accounted for five of Central's blows.

CHISOX BLANK TIGERS

CHICAGO, April 20 (AP) — Rangy Randy Gumpert hurled a three-hitter today enabling the remodeled Chicago White Sox to whip the Detroit Tigers, 5-0, for their third straight win before a chilled home opener crowd of 8,731 at Comiskey Park.

The issue was settled in the third inning when the Bengal defense blew up behind starter Ted Gray and the Sox scored three runs. Three of the four Tiger errors came in that inning. Gray contributed to his own downfall by hitting a batter and uncorking a wild pitch and yielding one hit.

White Sox double plays followed two of the three Tiger singles and Gumpert never was close to trouble.

New Tin Mill Nearly Completed—Will Add to South Cumberland's Activity

The new tin plate mill of the N. and G. Taylor Company in South Cumberland is assuming an almost completed appearance. The engine was shipped Monday from Ohio and is expected in about three days. The pickling machinery for the new plant was shipped from Pittsburgh yesterday and by the end of the week all the machinery to be set up in the new mill will have arrived. Superintendent Costello stated yesterday that everything will be in shape about the first of next month for the starting of the plant. Mr. James Norris has charge of the brick work and has a good force of men rushing it.

Keyser Tossers Wallop Silents

Register 16-2 Win, Householder Scores

ROMNEY, W. Va. April 20 — Keyser High School exploded for 12 runs in the last two frames to rout the West Virginia School for the Deaf here today by the score of 16 to 2.

The Silents were trailing 4-2 when Keyser teed off in the late innings to sew up the game and sweep the two-game series.

It was the third straight victory for Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's team and the third in a row for Jimmy Householder who went the route for KHS and struck out eight. Retton, who was relieved by Boyd in the 6th, fired the 3rd strike past nine.

Boyd turned in an unassisted double play with a shoestring catch and also started another twin killing

Annex Final, 3-0; Viaduct Is Victor

Cumberland's Amvets swept three games from Clingerman's Restaurant last night to finish the second half race of the Men's National Shuffleboard League of Allegany in third place with a 25-14 record—five full games in the rear of Stadium Inn of Frostburg which won both halves and the championship.

Clay Ingram led the Amvets with 36 points while A. Miller had 16 for Clingerman's.

Viaduct Inn scored a 2-1 decision over the Cumberland Woodmen of the World. Scarpelli and Strosnider were tied for high scores by posting 22s. R. McCleaf of the Woodmen had 20 points.

Stadium Inn won the first half with a 32-7 record, six games ahead of the Cumberland K. of C. The Mountain City team finished four games in front of the Knights in the second half race. The local K. of C. shufflers had won the championship during the first three seasons the league was in operation. Final 2nd half standings:

Potomac State Plays Teachers

Potomac State's baseball team will go after its fifth victory of the season today when it crosses bats with Frostburg State Teachers College at Stayman Field, Keyser, at 2 p. m.

Coach John Maiden's tossers have won four of their five starts. Frostburg Teachers lost their only start to the Maryland Freshmen.

Jack McClung (3-0) is slated to twirl for the Catamounts. John Frank or Bill Buser will be on the firing line for the Bombats.

Ridgeley To Stage Third Registered Trapshoot Sunday

The Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club will stage its third registered trapshooting tournament of the year Sunday at 11 a. m. at the club's traps on the Frankfort Road.

The program will consist of 100 16-yard targets, 50 handicap and 25 pairs of doubles.

There will be practice shooting open to the public before and after the regular program.

Call Over Wins Rowe Memorial At Bowie's Opening

BOWIE RACETRACK, Md., April 20 (AP)—Bedford Stable's Call Over captured the $7,500-added Rowe Memorial Handicap here today as this southern Maryland track opened its 12-day spring meeting.

Henry H. Hecht's The Pincher, 4-5 favorite with the crowd of 6,000 finished second, a half-length behind the Eddie Yowell-trained winner. Third money went to Brookfield Farms' Istan, the early pacesetter.

Well-handled by Jockey R. J. Martin, Call Over slipped through along the rail in the six-furlong stake to overtake The Pincher in midstretch after the latter had gone to the front coming out of the turn.

Earning $5,395 for his owner, Call Over returned $10.80 straight while completing the journey in 1:12 over a dead track.

Manley And Patton Reach Golf Finals

PINEHURST, N. C. April 20 (AP)—Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., a couple of golf-playing lumbermen, today reached the finals of the North and South Amateur Tournament.

They completed the conquest of the Walker Cup contingent that began the tournament seven strong on Monday, with Manley eliminating cup regular Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, 3 and 1, and Patton scoring over cup alternate Bill (Dynamite) Goodloe of Valdosta, Ga., 3 and 2 in 36-hole semi-final matches.

Patton and Manley will meet over 36 holes for the title tomorrow.

Surkont, Boston Braves' Hurler, Defeats Champs

Max Hurls 2-Hitter, Trims Phillies, 2-1

PHILADELPHIA, April 20 (AP) — Sturdy Max Surkont, sophomore Boston right-hander, throttled the Philadelphia Phillies on two hits today as the Braves squeezed out a 2-1 victory over the National League champions.

The 205-pound Surkont from Pawtucket, R. I., not only tied the Phils' batters in knots but drove home the winning run with a fly ball to the outfield.

The Phils' Ken Heintzelman pitched well enough to win most games, but Surkont was too tough. The Braves got only seven safeties, two of them by rookie Luis Marquez and both of his hits figured in the scoring. Box:

NEWCOMBE BEATS GIANTS

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) — Big Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's 19-game winner of last year, got off on the right foot today with a five-hit, 7-3 victory over the New York Giants in a ragged opener before 30,870 at the Polo Grounds.

After a shaky start which permitted the Giants to take a 3-2 lead at the end of four frames, the 240-pound negro right hander settled down and blanked Leo Durocher's pennant hopefuls on a single hit the rest of the way while his teammates provided him with a safe margin. Box:

A's TOP BOSOX

BOSTON, April 20 (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics today accomplished something they hadn't been able to do in Fenway Park for two full seasons — they defeated the Boston Red Sox, 6-3.

The victory, first for the A's since September 12, 1948, was against Mel Parnell, Boston lefthander. Who had run up a string of ten consecutive triumphs over Philadelphia.

It was the first victory of the season for the A's and the third loss for the Sox who have yet to win.

Only 11,461 fans attended the chilly contest — the Sox first home game.

Knicks And Royals Battle For Title

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 20 (AP)—The championship of the National Basketball Association will be decided tomorrow night with the New York Knickerbockers attempting to climax a phenomenal comeback against the Rochester Royals.

The Knicks were backed against the wall and counted out when the Royals stepped off to three straight victories in the best-of-seven final series.

But the New Yorkers took a hitch in their belts and scrambled back, winning three straight to knot the score.

An added incentive tomorrow night is the $2,500 extra that will go to the winning team. The champion gets $7,500 and the runnerup $5,000.

Jackie Robinson Blasts Umpires

Says Arbiters Are "Out To Get Me"

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) — The New York Daily News said tonight that Jackie Robinson, star negro second baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, has accused National League umpires of "being out to get me."

"I know what they're doing," The News quoted Robinson. "I'm not blind. They're out to get me. One of them went to Dressen (Charley Dressen, Brooklyn manager) before the season started and said as much. Claimed that I'm trying to show up the umpires, and they weren't going to stand for it.

"I'm not trying to show anyone up, but I think I'm entitled to make a beef as much as anyone else."

Robinson became involved in a minor controversy during the Dodgers-Phillies game at Brooklyn Wednesday. When Plate Umpire Dusty Boggess called him out on a third strike, Robinson threw away his bat and shouted something to the umpire as he trotted to his position. Babe Pinelli, working the bases, berated Robinson for shouting at his colleague. Dressen had to intervene.

The newspaper quoted Dressen as saying:

"I've got it arranged with Robinson that I'm to run out and save him in all arguments."

Ford Frick, National League president, said he had been informed of no incident.

"If they (the ball players) get out of line," said Frick, "we will take care of it. If they don't we pay no attention."

Robinson and Dressen were not available for comment.

Gavilan Whips Aldo Minelli

Cuban Welter Earns Unanimous Decision

NEW YORK, April 20 (INS)—Kid Gavilan tuned up tonight for his forthcoming welterweight title fight with Johnny Bratton by scoring a unanimous ten round decision over rugged Aldo Minelli, Italian middleweight at St. Nicholas Arena.

Gavilan, who weighed 150¾ to Minelli's 152½, looked sharp and fast as he scored repeatedly with long snaking body blows and short rights to the chin.

Judge Charley Shortell gave Gavilan eight rounds to Minelli's two. Judge Joe Agnello scored it 7-3 and Refree George Walsh 6-3-1 in favor of the Cuban.

Football Officials Meet Here April 30

KEYSER, W. Va. — The annual spring meeting of the Potomac Valley Football Officials Association will be held at Central YMCA, Cumberland on Monday, April 30, at 8 p. m. The meeting date has been announced by John Shelton, president, Keyser, who is anxious to have a large number of members in attendance as well as others who are interested in officiating.

The purpose of the meeting, Shelton said, is to clear the slate of all unfinished business, and to discuss assignments of officials for games.

BOB FELLER WINS

CLEVELAND, April 20 (AP) — Bob Feller turned in a workmanlike five-hit pitching job today as the Cleveland Indians defeated the St. Louis Browns 4 to 1 before 48,316 fans.

It was the third straight win for the Tribe, and the third successive loss for the Browns.

Feller, his curve breaking sharply, fanned eight Brownies and walked five. He was in hot water several times, but got out without damage until the ninth, when Pinch-Hitter Hank Arft led off with a home run over the temporary fence in right field. Box:

Senators Lead League, Trim Yanks Twice

Washington Grabs 5-3, 8-4 Decisions

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—The Washington Senators moved into undisputed possession of first place in the American League today with a day-night double-header victory over the New York Yankees, 5-3 and 8-4 at Griffith Stadium.

Sandy Consuegra held the Bombers to four hits in the afternoon game before President Truman and 27,331 other fans.

Mickey Vernon led the Senator onslaught with a perfect night at the plate in the second game. He tripled, doubled, hit two singles and drove in four runs.

Tom Morgan, the Yanks' spring training ace, started in the nightcap but went to the showers after a hectic fifth inning when Washington tallied four runs. He was relieved by Joe Ostrowski and Bob Muncrief who gave up three runs and five hits the rest of the distance.

Washington scored only two hits in the afternoon opener, but they were enough.

President Truman showed up to make the opening pitch—and got booed, twice. He was booed once when he entered the presidential box, and again in the eighth inning when it was announced that no one was to leave the field until the president had gone.

It was the first time a president had been booed at a baseball game since Herbert Hoover got the raspberry in the 1931 World Series.

The wildness of Yankee pitchers, who gave up 13 walks, brought the world champions' downfall as the senators ran up their third straight victory and the Yankees took their first loss.

As it turned out, in spite of the booing, the pitcher with the best control was the president himself. He got off a neat lefthanded throw that Allie Reynolds, Yankee pitcher, grabbed.

No other pitcher looked as good, although Sandy Consuegra, a 150-pound Washington pitcher from Mantanzas, Cuba, came close.

The Yankees had beaten the Senators the last six times they had been in an opener here. But Washington ignored history, jumped in front in the first inning, and stayed there to the delight and surprise of the 27,331 fans. Box:

Today's Game

Allegany at Beall.

Bruce High School of Westernport and LaSalle and Fort Hill of Cumberland chalked up victories yesterday at the Bi-State Scholastic Baseball Conference season got under way.

LaSalle was extended eight innings to nose out Hyndman High School at Stitcher Field by the score of 9-8. Fort Hill's Sentinels eked out a 4-3 decision over Barton High School which was making its debut in the circuit and Woody Woodson's Bruce High nine took Central High of Lonaconing into camp, 7-4.

Byrnes Breaks It Up

The Explorers edged Hyndman here in an extra frame when Mike Cunningham walked, Francis "Slug" Robertson singled and Jimmy Byrne's belted over the winning tally with his third hit of the day.

Robertson hurled three innings for LaSalle and gave way to Doug Connolly who finished and got credit for the win. Robertson and Connelly fanned seven and issued nine free tickets. Buskirk went the route for Hyndman, walked six and whiffed seven.

Fabbri Gets Four Hits

Twenty-six hits were credited to the teams — 14 to LaSalle and 12 to Hyndman. And there were 28 runners stranded on the hassocks — 16 Hyndman and 12 LaSalle.

Lu Fabbri led the LaSalle attack with four hits in as many trips to the plate.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels came from behind to beat Barton in the 6th inning when Cage singled, Owens sacrificed and Frye doubled to tie the score. Frye later crossed the platter with the deciding run when Lewis got a life on an error.

Fort Hill took a 2-0 lead in the opening frame when Null and Cage singled, McGregor sacrificed and Frye belted a triple.

Tichnell Hits Homer

The big blow of the game, however, came in the 4th when Kirk singled, Bean walked and Arnold Tichnell smashed a home run to give Barton a 3-2 advantage.

Lefty Joe Beck and Tichnell went the route and each twirler gave up only five hits. Beck struck out nine and Tichnell had seven victims.

Raines Strikes Out 11

Bobby Raines whipped the third strike past 11 batsmen in gaining the nod over Kenneth Burt in a pitching duel at Westernport. Each twirler yielded six hits. Burt had nine strikeouts to his credit.

Curtis Johnson and Don McKenzie accounted for five of Central's blows.

Kickers Tournament Scheduled At CCC

A kickers handicap tournament for men will open the golf season at the Cumberland Country Club today and tomorrow.

Two weeks from today the qualifying round of the men's spring handicap tournament will get under way. Members will be given nine days in which to qualify.

CHISOX BLANK TIGERS

CHICAGO, April 20 (AP) — Rangy Randy Gumpert hurled a three-hitter today enabling the remodeled Chicago White Sox to whip the Detroit Tigers, 5-0, for their third straight win before a chilled home opener crowd of 8,731 at Comiskey Park.

The issue was settled in the third inning when the Bengal defense blew up behind starter Ted Gray and the Sox scored three runs. Three of the four Tiger errors came in that inning. Gray contributed to his own downfall by hitting a batter and uncorking a wild pitch and yielding one hit.

White Sox double plays followed two of the three Tiger singles and Gumpert never was close to trouble.

New Tin Mill Nearly Completed—Will Add to South Cumberland's Activity

The new tin plate mill of the N. and G. Taylor Company in South Cumberland is assuming an almost completed appearance. The engine was shipped Monday from Ohio and is expected in about three days. The pickling machinery for the new plant was shipped from Pittsburgh yesterday and by the end of the week all the machinery to be set up in the new mill will have arrived. Superintendent Costello stated yesterday that everything will be in shape about the first of next month for the starting of the plant. Mr. James Norris has charge of the brick work and has a good force of men rushing it.

13 Kentucky Derby Horses Vie In Wood

Uncle Miltie Listed At 3 To 1; Repetoire 2nd Choice In Race

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) —Sixteen three-year-old horses are scheduled to clash tomorrow in the $40,000-added Wood Memorial at Jamaica, and it's quite possible the result will provide the Kentucky Derby favorite.

With the Derby gallop at Louisville just two weeks off, no solid horse yet has been uncovered. The Wood brings together the best bunch of sophomores in the east. Thirteen of them are nominated for the Derby May 5.

Heading the list, and the probable favorite for the mile and one sixteenth run, is J. J. Colando's Uncle Miltie. This, despite Uncle's poor race last week when he finished eighth to King Ranch's Sonic in the Experimental Handicap No. 2.

Right up there with Uncle Miltie must be placed Repetoire, on the basis of his recent accomplishments. Repetoire is a Virginia-bred colt owned by Mrs. Nora A. Mikell, a Delaware woman. He's at least the champion of Maryland to date, having won two stakes there including last week's Chesapeake.

Uncle Miltie was listed in the probable odds at 3 to 1, with Repetoire next at 5 to 1.

Others named are the King Ranch entry of Sonic and Long Bow; Frank H. Stout's Alerted; Brookfield Farm's Intent; the Hal Price Headley entry of Jumbo and Gray Matter; Sam A. Mason's To Market; Mrs. Sara's Chait's Lord Putnam; Phantom Farm's Nullify; Jack Amiel's Count Turf, Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Timely Reward; Cain Hoy Stable's Battle Morn; Joseph Tucci's Bob Considine, and Greentree Stable's Northern Star.

All are Derby eligibles except Alerted, second twice to Repetoire in Maryland, Gary Matter, and Nullify. All must carry 126 pounds.

Uncle Miltie got another tough break in the draw for post positions, getting No. 15. Only Northern Star in No. 16 in outside him. This means another run to the first, sharp turn and the possibility of a jam. Uncle Miltie was outside last week in No. 10.

If all 16 start the race will gross $50,550, with $46,000 clear for the winner.

13 Kentucky Derby Horses Vie In Wood

Uncle Miltie Listed At 3 To 1; Repetoire 2nd Choice In Race

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) —Sixteen three-year-old horses are scheduled to clash tomorrow in the $40,000-added Wood Memorial at Jamaica, and it's quite possible the result will provide the Kentucky Derby favorite.

With the Derby gallop at Louisville just two weeks off, no solid horse yet has been uncovered. The Wood brings together the best bunch of sophomores in the east. Thirteen of them are nominated for the Derby May 5.

Heading the list, and the probable favorite for the mile and one sixteenth run, is J. J. Colando's Uncle Miltie. This, despite Uncle's poor race last week when he finished eighth to King Ranch's Sonic in the Experimental Handicap No. 2.

Right up there with Uncle Miltie must be placed Repetoire, on the basis of his recent accomplishments. Repetoire is a Virginia-bred colt owned by Mrs. Nora A. Mikell, a Delaware woman. He's at least the champion of Maryland to date, having won two stakes there including last week's Chesapeake.

Uncle Miltie was listed in the probable odds at 3 to 1, with Repetoire next at 5 to 1.

Others named are the King Ranch entry of Sonic and Long Bow; Frank H. Stout's Alerted; Brookfield Farm's Intent; the Hal Price Headley entry of Jumbo and Gray Matter; Sam A. Mason's To Market; Mrs. Sara's Chait's Lord Putnam; Phantom Farm's Nullify; Jack Amiel's Count Turf, Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Timely Reward; Cain Hoy Stable's Battle Morn; Joseph Tucci's Bob Considine, and Greentree Stable's Northern Star.

All are Derby eligibles except Alerted, second twice to Repetoire in Maryland, Gary Matter, and Nullify. All must carry 126 pounds.

Uncle Miltie got another tough break in the draw for post positions, getting No. 15. Only Northern Star in No. 16 in outside him. This means another run to the first, sharp turn and the possibility of a jam. Uncle Miltie was outside last week in No. 10.

If all 16 start the race will gross $50,550, with $46,000 clear for the winner.

13 Kentucky Derby Horses Vie In Wood

Uncle Miltie Listed At 3 To 1; Repetoire 2nd Choice In Race

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—Sixteen three-year-old horses are scheduled to clash tomorrow in the $40,000-added Wood Memorial at Jamaica, and it's quite possible the result will provide the Kentucky Derby favorite.

With the Derby gallop at Louisville just two weeks off, no solid horse yet has been uncovered. The Wood brings together the best bunch of sophomores in the east. Thirteen of them are nominated for the Derby May 5.

Heading the list, and the probable favorite for the mile and one sixteenth run, is J. J. Colando's Uncle Miltie. This, despite Uncle's poor race last week when he finished eighth to King Ranch's Sonic in the Experimental Handicap No. 2.

Right up there with Uncle Miltie must be placed Repetoire, on the basis of his recent accomplishments. Repetoire is a Virginia-bred colt owned by Mrs. Nora A. Mikell, a Delaware woman. He's at least the champion of Maryland to date, having won two stakes there including last week's Chesapeake.

Uncle Miltie was listed in the probable odds at 3 to 1, with Repetoire next at 5 to 1.

Others named are the King Ranch entry of Sonic and Long Bow; Frank H. Stout's Alerted; Brookfield Farm's Intent; the Hal Price Headley entry of Jumbo and Gray Matter; Sam A. Mason's To Market; Mrs. Sara's Chait's Lord Putnam; Phantom Farm's Nullify; Jack Amiel's Count Turf, Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Timely Reward; Cain Hoy Stable's Battle Morn; Joseph Tucci's Bob Considine, and Greentree Stable's Northern Star.

All are Derby eligibles except Alerted, second twice to Repetoire in Maryland, Gary Matter, and Nullify. All must carry 126 pounds.

Uncle Miltie got another tough break in the draw for post positions, getting No. 15. Only Northern Star in No. 16 in outside him. This means another run to the first, sharp turn and the possibility of a jam. Uncle Miltie was outside last week in No. 10.

If all 16 start the race will gross $50,550, with $46,000 clear for the winner.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 20 (INS) — This story I am giving with the greatest happiness because it proves what can be done if a man or woman is strong enough to overcome obstacles.

Lawrence Tierney

Lawrence Tierney, who, a year ago couldn't get a job despite the fact that he is a good actor, because he was always making unfavorable headlines, has been given a fine role in "The Greatest Show On Earth," the C. B. De Mille circus epic. This deal was closed today with C. B., Larry, and Larry's agent, William Shifren.

A few hours later Ida Lupino, who had an option on Larry to play the killer in "They Talk With God," took up her option, so things are moving right along for Tierney.

His mother's prayers, his brother's and friends encouragement have made all this possible — and of course, Larry's own intestinal fortitude.

Certainly an appropriate way to celebrate Mother's Day in advance is to let mother turn movie star. Peter Lawford's mother, Lady May Lawford, and Rhonda Fleming's mother, Olivia Louis, have both been signed for "Hong Kong" for Pine and Thomas.

Of course, these attractive matrons cannot really be called amateurs. Lady Lawford has played brief scenes in several films and in this she will play Nigel Bruce's aristocratic wife.

Mrs. Louis, who was on the stage years ago at the Wintergarden in New York and who has made several "shorts" features, is equally at home professionally. She will play a Red Cross worker and Rhonda's "boss" in the movie.

Chatter in Hollywood:

That rich oil man from Tulsa, Walter Helmerich, will have to do some fast talking to convince Peggy Dow to give up her career to marry him.

The pretty blonde of "Harvey" is listening to some sweet talk from Universal-International about her future. Peggy is young and ambitious. She is also said to be in love with Helemerich. This career vs. marriage has always been a problem with our young starlets.

Peggy's next U-I is "Reunion In Reno" with Mark Stevens and youngster Gigi Perreau, a love story on the comedy side.

Eduardo Cansino, Rita Hayworth's brother, tells me he believes Rita will come back to Hollywood without telling her plans to anyone.

"Neither my father nor I have had any definite word from Rita," he said. "In fact, we haven't talked with her. She called us when she arrived and said she would write later.

"I know Rita. There has been so much talk I think when she comes to Hollywood she'll try to arrive quietly. And I'm pretty sure she won't go back to Europe without paying us a visit. Naturally, we're dying to see the baby and to see Rita and Rebecca. I think it's terribly unfair, some of the things they are saying about my sister."

You can't keep the Irish down. When I talked to Barry Fitzgerald in the Culver City Hospital he was reported as not being well.

Well, he's feeling fine again and rarin' to go, and he's going to make a picture or know the reason why. He goes in June with John Ford, John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara, to Ireland for "The Quiet Man," but before he leaves he'll probably do a picture at Paramount. At least, that's the talk now.

Don't for a moment believe that Ginger Rogers and Steve Cochran are through. He is in Mexico City and his long distance calls and letters are an every day occurrence.

Betty Hutton's mother, who underwent a major operation at Cedars, was able to go home today. Mrs. Danny Kaye's mother was also operated on last Monday at the same hospital.

Bob Howard, Ned Crawford and Jack Buchtel are reported trying to buy the former Mike Romanoff restaurant. They want to make it a medium priced eatery.

Father Thomas English's charming niece, Kathleen English, has arrived from Ireland to visit her uncle. I met Kathleen in Dublin last year where she was nursing at one of the big hospitals. With the shortage of nurses here there will be a place for her right in our town.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Try And Stop Me

A communist ranting in Columbus Circle one hot summer evening had an audience of exactly one. "Comrade," demanded the speaker, "do you find yourself in agreement with what I have been saying?" The audience of one nodded emphatically. "Every word you say is absolutely correct," he declared. The communist climbed down from his soap-box in disgust. "Bah," he grumbled, "what's the sense of talking to you?"

A tourist has returned from a Cook's Tour of Egypt swearing that he saw an ancient tablet revealing a conversation between Methuselah and a seventeen-year-old princess. It went as follows: M.: What can a cute chick like you see in an old codger like myself? Princess: How old are you? M.: (Giving himself the benefit of eighty years). I'll be 965 in May. Princess: I'm amazed. You don't look a day over 960.

Take this "one-a-day" antidote for shyness and watch your charm flower as you gain in poise!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

SHYNESS is a painful affliction that can only be cured by self-administered treatment, which should be undertaken as early in life as possible.

I receive more requests for help with this charm problem than any other, and not all of them are from youngsters. Many an adult woman writes that in the presence of strangers, new surroundings and unfamiliar situations she experiences a terrible sinking feeling that leaves her timid, tongue-tied, blushing, or seeking lonely retreat.

Although shy violets rarely admit it, being overlooked is one fate they unconsciously dread most. Most of a shy girl's troubles stem from the little secret worries about her ability to attract and hold the attention of others. Yet her very shyness drives people away. Sympathetic as others may feel when they sense the confusion that even their most tactful approach brings to another, their natural inclination is to ignore the agitation and, in all kindness, turn their attention elsewhere as quickly as possible.

The antitode for shyness is the development of self-confidence in the power of your charm, and this is accomplished by increasing the magnetism of your personality. There are a number of boosters which you can use effectively. All they require is a little determination, perseverance, and daily application. Try these one-a-days:

Monday, teach yourself that almost everyone has a certain amount of shyness by nature. Many people who fool you by putting up a good front are just as shy of you as you are of them. It's a relaxing thought, you'll find.

Tuesday, discover how easily you can learn to look everyone you meet right in the eye. It's not only courteous, but gives you the same look of confidence you envy in others.

Wednesday, sweep all thoughts of your shyness out of your mind. When you meet someone, instead of thinking about what to say and how to act, concentrate on what the other fellow is saying. Surprising, how you'll forget your timidity!

Thursday, make a real effort to strike up a conversation with someone you have always been shy of. Just choose a subject you know will interest him.

Friday, try putting the shyest person you know at ease. Only shy people know how to do that!

For weeks to come, follow this routine each day. When you are able to combine all five techniques in your daily approach to people, you will be the most come-hither lovely in town!

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Is home the best place to "blow off steam"?

Answer: It is apt to seem the safest, since the members of your family are both more likely to make allowance of your moods and less able to retaliate than strangers. But don't take advantage of this, for love makes them sensitive as well as sympathetic, and the harsh things you "forget" as soon as you have said them may leave deep and festering wounds, especially on a child's heart. If you cannot work off your pent-up rage in physical exertion—chopping wood, for instance—try going down cellar and "cussing" the furnace.

Do your attitudes affect your reasoning power?

Answer: Very much so. The most far-reaching and humbling discovery of modern psychology is that man is by no means the "reasoning animal" he so long believed, but that his logic is continually being warped by his desires or his fears. Studies of the reasoning power of 559 college students from different sections of the country, reported by Prof. David Thistlethwaite of the University of California, showed that they reasoned most illogically, not about difficult abstract problems but on subjects, like race prejudice, in which their attitudes and beliefs were involved.

Is psychiatry "sentimental"?

Answer: The word has been applied by members of the "treat-'em-rough" school to the psychiatric attitude of regarding crime and delinquency as problems rather than as proofs of the inherent "badness" of the people concerned. But the fact is, it is calling names that dodges he real issue, of how the offender 'got that way," and what can be done about it. Denouncing a criminal as a "fiend" and demanding his immediate punishment is really "sentimental" because it substitutes a purely emotional approach to a realistic attempt to correct conditions which we hate and are afraid of.

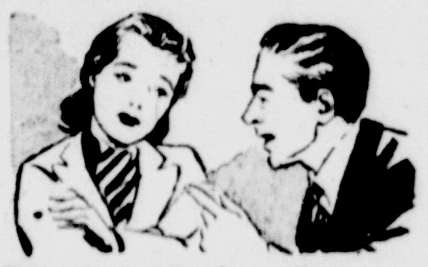
Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Is home the best place to "blow off steam"?

Answer: It is apt to seem the safest, since the members of your family are both more likely to make allowance of your moods and less able to retaliate than strangers. But don't take advantage of this, for love makes them sensitive as well as sympathetic, and the harsh things you "forget" as soon as you have said them may leave deep and festering wounds, especially on a child's heart. If you cannot work off your pent-up rage in physical exertion—chopping wood, for instance—try going down cellar and "cussing" the furnace.



Do your attitudes affect your reasoning power?

Answer: Very much so. The most far-reaching and humbling discovery of modern psychology is that man is by no means the "reasoning animal" he so long believed, but that his logic is continually being warped by his desires or his fears. Studies of the reasoning power of 559 college students from different sections of the country, reported by Prof. David Thistlethwaite of the University of California, showed that they reasoned most illogically, not about difficult abstract problems but on subjects, like race prejudice, in which their attitudes and beliefs were involved.

Is psychiatry "sentimental"?

Answer: The word has been applied by members of the "treat-'em-rough" school to the psychiatric attitude of regarding crime and delinquency as problems rather than as proofs of the inherent "badness" of the people concerned. But the fact is, it is calling names that dodges he real issue, of how the offender "got that way," and what can be done about it. Denouncing a criminal as a "fiend" and demanding his immediate punishment is really "sentimental" because it substitutes a purely emotional approach to a realistic attempt to correct conditions which we hate and are afraid of.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD
By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 20 (INS) — This story I am giving with the greatest happiness because it proves what can be done if a man or woman is strong enough to overcome obstacles.

Lawrence Tierney, who, a year ago couldn't get a job despite the fact that he is a good actor, because he was always making unfavorable headlines, has been given a fine role in "The Greatest Show On Earth," the C. B. De Mille circus epic. This deal was closed today with C. B., Larry, and Larry's agent, William Shifren.

Lawrence Tierney

A few hours later Ida Lupino, who had an option on Larry to play the killer in "They Talk With God," took up her option, so things are moving right along for Tierney.

His mother's prayers, his brother's and friends encouragement have made all this possible — and of course, Larry's own intestinal fortitude.

Certainly an appropriate way to celebrate Mother's Day in advance is to let mother turn movie star. Peter Lawford's mother, Lady May Lawford, and Rhonda Fleming's mother, Olivia Louis, have both been signed for "Hong Kong" for Pine and Thomas.

Of course, these attractive matrons cannot really be called amateurs. Lady Lawford has played brief scenes in several films and in this she will play Nigel Bruce's aristocratic wife.

Mrs. Louis, who was on the stage years ago at the Wintergarden in New York and who has made several "shorts" features, is equally at home professionally. She will play a Red Cross worker and Rhonda's "boss" in the movie.

Chatter in Hollywood:

That rich oil man from Tulsa, Walter Helmerich, will have to do some fast talking to convince Peggy Dow to give up her career to marry him.

The pretty blonde of "Harvey" is listening to some sweet talk from Universal-International about her future. Peggy is young and ambitious. She is also said to be in love with Helemerich. This career vs. marriage has always been a problem with our young starlets.

Peggy's next U-I is "Reunion In Reno" with Mark Stevens and youngster Gigi Perreau, a love story on the comedy side.

Eduardo Cansino, Rita Hayworth's brother, tells me he believes Rita will come back to Hollywood without telling her plans to anyone.

"Neither my father nor I have had any definite word from Rita," he said. "In fact, we haven't talked with her. She called us when she arrived and said she would write later.

"I know Rita. There has been so much talk I think when she comes to Hollywood she'll try to arrive quietly. And I'm pretty sure she won't go back to Europe without paying us a visit. Naturally, we're dying to see the baby and to see Rita and Rebecca. I think it's terribly unfair, some of the things they are saying about my sister."

You can't keep the Irish down. When I talked to Barry Fitzgerald in the Culver City Hospital he was reported as not being well.

Well, he's feeling fine again and rarin' to go, and he's going to make a picture or know the reason why. He goes in June with John Ford, John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara, to Ireland for "The Quiet Man," but before he leaves he'll probably do a picture at Paramount. At least, that's the talk now.

Don't for a moment believe that Ginger Rogers and Steve Cochran are through. He is in Mexico City and his long distance calls and letters are an every day occurrence.

Betty Hutton's mother, who underwent a major operation at Cedars, was able to go home today. Mrs. Danny Kaye's mother was also operated on last Monday at the same hospital.

Bob Howard, Ned Crawford and Jack Buchtel are reported trying to buy the former Mike Romanoff restaurant. They want to make it a medium priced eatery.

Father Thomas English's charming niece, Kathleen English, has arrived from Ireland to visit her uncle. I met Kathleen in Dublin last year where she was nursing at one of the big hospitals. With the shortage of nurses here there will be a place for her right in our town.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Try And Stop Me
By BENNETT CERF

A communist ranting in Columbus Circle one hot summer evening had an audience of exactly one. "Comrade," demanded the speaker, "do you find yourself in agreement with what I have been saying?" The audience of one nodded emphatically. "Every word you say is absolutely correct," he declared. The communist climbed down from his soap-box in disgust. "Bah," he grumbled, "what's the sense of talking to you?"

A tourist has returned from a Cook's Tour of Egypt swearing that he saw an ancient tablet revealing a conversation between Methuselah and a seventeen-year-old princess. It went as follows: M.: What can a cute chick like you see in an old codger like myself? Princess: How old are you? M.: (Giving himself the benefit of eighty years). I'll be 965 in May. Princess: I'm amazed. You don't look a day over 960.

Take this "one-a-day" antidote for shyness and watch your charm flower as you gain in poise!

SECRETS OF CHARM
by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

SHYNESS is a painful affliction that can only be cured by self-administered treatment, which should be undertaken as early in life as possible.

I receive more requests for help with this charm problem than any other, and not all of them are from youngsters. Many an adult woman writes that in the presence of strangers, new surroundings and unfamiliar situations she experiences a terrible sinking feeling that leaves her timid, tongue-tied, blushing, or seeking lonely retreat.

Although shy violets rarely admit it, being overlooked is one fate they unconsciously dread most. Most of a shy girl's troubles stem from the little secret worries about her ability to attract and hold the attention of others. Yet her very shyness drives people away. Sympathetic as others may feel when they sense the confusion that even their most tactful approach brings to another, their natural inclination is to ignore the agitation and, in all kindness, turn their attention elsewhere as quickly as possible.

The antitode for shyness is the development of self-confidence in the power of your charm, and this is accomplished by increasing the magnetism of your personality. There are a number of boosters which you can use effectively. All they require is a little determination, perseverance, and daily application. Try these one-a-days:

Monday, teach yourself that almost everyone has a certain amount of shyness by nature. Many people who fool you by putting up a good front are just as shy of you as you are of them. It's a relaxing thought, you'll find.

Tuesday, discover how easily you can learn to look everyone you meet right in the eye. It's not only courteous, but gives you the same look of confidence you envy in others.

Wednesday, sweep all thoughts of your shyness out of your mind. When you meet someone, instead of thinking about what to say and how to act, concentrate on what the other fellow is saying. Surprising, how you'll forget your timidity!

Thursday, make a real effort to strike up a conversation with someone you have always been shy of. Just choose a subject you know will interest him.

Friday, try putting the shyest person you know at ease. Only shy people know how to do that!

For weeks to come, follow this routine each day. When you are able to combine all five techniques in your daily approach to people, you will be the most come-hither lovely in town!

Daton Harold Will Head PTA Of Londonderry

Installation Set For May Meeting

HYNDMAN, Pa. — Daton Harold was elected president of the Londonderry Township PTA at the regular meeting in the school cafeteria.

Other officers for the 1951-52 term are first vice president, Mrs. Esther Kennard; second vice president, Mrs. E. E. Shoupe; secretary, Floyd Wilson; treasurer, Mrs. Martha Cook.

The installation of officers will take place at the May meeting at which time a dinner will be served. Mrs. Martha Shaffer was appointed chairman of a committee to make arrangements for this affair.

Herbert Carpenter, principal of the school, called attention to the beautiful new hand painted back drop that has been added to the stage and Lloyd Keller, supervising principal, announced a Registration and Visitation Day for those children who will enter school for the first time next year.

An operetta, "Going to the Fair" was presented by the first and second grades, under direction of the teachers, Mrs. Myra Smith and Mrs. Anna McClay, with Arch Stewart, music instructor, playing the accompaniment.

Women's Club Holds Meeting

LONACONING — The Young Women's club held a business meeting on Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Central High School and voted to supply the Lonaconing Health center with cod-liver oil tablets for six months.

Mrs. George Dewey Burns, home economics department head of Central High School faculty, will be guest speaker at the Young Women's scheduled May meeting.

In June the club has received an invitation to make a tour of the Ort's Bakery, Cumberland.

District No. 4 Homemakers Club, including members of the Frostburg, Shaft, Midland, Lonaconing and Westernport heard Mrs. Jeanne S. Moehn, family life specialist of the University of Maryland Extension service, on the subject, "Growing Up Emotionally" which outlined growth from infancy, childhood, adolescence, adult to old age.

Miss Maude A. Bean, county home demonstration agent, addressed the district meeting also.

The second Home Nursing class will be given on April 23, at 8 p. m. at Central High school. Mrs. Thelma Inskeep and Mrs. Pearl Miller will give the home nursing instruction at this second meeting.

Mt. Savage Briefs And Personals

A special meeting of American Legion Auxiliary No. 159 will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the Legion Home. Newly elected Commander Alfred Simpson asks that all be present.

Mrs. William Farrell is ill at her home on Locust Avenue.

Seaman Austin Kennell, Charleston, S. C., is visiting his wife, Mrs. Betty Bowen Kennell and children, Junior and Gloria, who reside with Mrs. Kennell's mother and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Deffenbaugh, New Row.

Memorial Post No. 159, American Legion, held election of officers Thursday evening. Elected commander in chief was Albert Simson; vice commander, Robert Faidley; 2nd vice commander, Robert Dickle; adjutant, Laurence Hayes; historian Joseph Reagan; chaplain, Lonzo ONeil; finance officer, Peter Hughes; sergeant at arms, William Rice.

Mrs. Cora Pollock, worthy matron of Rebecca Arnold Chapter No. 57, Order of Eastern Star, and Mrs. Evelyn Coberly leave Sunday for Baltimore to attend the Grand Chapter.

Mrs. Clinton G. Uhl broke her right wrist in a fall at her home on Church Hill.

Sgt. and Mrs. John O'Rourke, Laurel, are spending the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. O'Rourke and Mrs. Evelyn Cessna.

Parsons Graduation Speakers Named

PARSONS, W. Va.—Miss Helen Felton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Felton of Parsons, has been chosen as valedictorian of the senior class of Parsons High School with a four-year average of 94.1.

Miss Felton is secretary of the National Honor society, a member of the Drama club, Upper Ten, Tri-Hi-Y, Bow Tie club, 4-H and was an office girl in 1949.

Elton Dodd, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dodd of Hendricks, will be salutatorian with a four-year average of 92.67. He is president of the Hi-Y, a member of the National Honor Society, Upper Ten, vice-president of the senior class; secretary-treasurer of the Bow Tie club and co-editor of the Sylvanian, the school year book.

Attend Convention

MIDLAND—Mrs. Viola McGann, deputy grand chief of Pythian Sisters for District No. 1 of Western Maryland, attended the Pythian Sisters District No. 2 convention Wednesday at Gaithersburg. She was accompanied by Mrs. Pear Blair of the local temple, and Mesdames Sara Schramm and Nellie Miller, Lonaconing.

NEW CEMETERY ROAD—Henry Rank, left, and Richard Truly, are shown standing in front of a heavy piece of road machinery, operated by Frank Lewis of the Baughman Construction Company, which began work Thursday morning on opening a new section of highway in the Frostburg Memorial Park. This roadway will provide another exit from the property. The road leads from the Grahamtown entrance to the main avenue in the central part of the park. Rank, the park superintendent, is pointing to a new curve in the road which will enable motorists entering the cemetery from Green Street to drive directly to the Grahamtown exit by taking one right turn.

Lonaconing Church Group To Offer Spring Minstrels

LONACONING —"Springtime Blackface Tale Minstrels" will be presented by the First Presbyterian Church School of Lonaconing, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 24 and 25, at 7:30 p. m. in the church.

Robert Dickinson will be "Mr. Hubb," interlocutor. End Men will be "Inkball" Joe Hadley, "Tater Slip" Ray Trost, "Simmon Seed" Ernest Kenny, "Ebony" Robert Mundeno, "Possum Lip" Randall rown, "Buckeye" Gary Clupp.

Churchmen Hold Spring Meeting

KEYSER, W. Va.—Rev. John C. B. McLaughlin, pastor of the Keyser Presbyterian Church, and Charles F. Moon, elder, have returned from a two-day spring meeting of the Winchester Presbytery held Tuesday and Wednesday at the Presbyterian Church at Bunker Hill, W. Va.

Rev. McLaughlin said that the annual reports of the churches in the Presbytery show a growth in benevolent offerings exceeding $61,000, and the membership has grown to 8,000. This increase in membership qualifies the Presbytery to send two additional representatives, an elder and another minister to the meeting of the General Assembly which convenes in Orlando, Fla., June 7.

Elder J. B. Johnson of the Keyser Church was one of the three elder commissioners selected to attend the general assembly. Others chosen are: Rev. C. Lloyd Arehart, Charles Town; Rev. W. Ellsworth Orndorff, Gerrardstown; Rev. Charles W. Kernan, Moorefield, and Elders R. M. Golliday and John I. Pancake, Romney.

Dr. E. E. Church, Keyser, was named as Presbytery's representative on the synod's committee on nominations, and Glenn C. Yount, Petersburg, and Rev. John C. B. McLaughlin, Keyser, were nominated to the Board of Trustees of Davis and Elkins College, Elkins.

Jury Disagrees In Picket Case

KINGWOOD, W. Va.—(AP)—The third trial growing out of picketing disturbances in Preston county's non-union coal fields ended in a jury disagreement Thursday, as had the previous two.

The jury in the trial of Chester Moon was dismissed by Circuit Judge C. P. Wilhelm after the foreman reported the jurors still were unable to agree after 20 ballots.

Moon was charged with taking part in stoning of a truck carrying non-union miners to their jobs at the Premar Coal Company at Tunnelton February 12.

Judge Wilhelm overruled each of the eight motions.

The trials of two other men indicated in connection with other alleged stoning incidents also had ended in jury disagreement.

Moon and four other defense witnesses testified yesterday that Moon was some 700 feet away at another mining operation at the time of the alleged stoning.

Four state witnesses had testified earlier in the day that they saw Moon throw stones at the truck.

Although, about 60 persons have been indicted in connection with picketing disturbances which have accompanied the United Mine Workers' organizing drive in Preston county.

Prosecutor R. Doyle Halbritter said, however, that no more of the cases will come up for trial within the next few days. The court will be occupied during that time with other cases, he said.

Jury Disagrees In Picket Case

KINGWOOD, W. Va.—(AP)—The third trial growing out of picketing disturbances in Preston county's non-union coal fields ended in a jury disagreement Thursday, as had the previous two.

The jury in the trial of Chester Moon was dismissed by Circuit Judge C. P. Wilhelm after the foreman reported the jurors still were unable to agree after 20 ballots.

Moon was charged with taking part in stoning of a truck carrying non-union miners to their jobs at the Premar Coal Company at Tunnelton February 12.

Attorney Tom Lewis, representing Moon, repeatedly insisted that state witnesses had "shown hostility" to the defendant, and that Judge Wilhelm had permitted "prejudicial testimony."

Judge Wilhelm overruled each of the eight motions.

The trials of two other men indicated in connection with other alleged stoning incidents also had ended in jury disagreement.

Moon and four other defense witnesses testified yesterday that Moon was some 700 feet away at another mining operation at the time of the alleged stoning.

Four state witnesses had testified earlier in the day that they saw Moon throw stones at the truck.

Although, about 60 persons have been indicted in connection with picketing disturbances which have accompanied the United Mine Workers' organizing drive in Preston county.

Prosecutor R. Doyle Halbritter said, however, that no more of the cases will come up for trial within the next few days. The court will be occupied during that time with other cases, he said.

Jury Disagrees In Picket Case

KINGWOOD, W. Va.—(AP)—The third trial growing out of picketing disturbances in Preston county's non-union coal fields ended in a jury disagreement Thursday, as had the previous two.

The jury in the trial of Chester Moon was dismissed by Circuit Judge C. P. Wilhelm after the foreman reported the jurors still were unable to agree after 20 ballots.

Moon was charged with taking part in stoning of a truck carrying non-union miners to their jobs at the Premar Coal Company at Tunnelton February 12.

Attorney Tom Lewis, representing Moon, repeatedly insisted that state witnesses had "shown hostility" to the defendant, and that Judge Wilhelm had permitted "prejudicial testimony."

Judge Wilhelm overruled each of the eight motions.

The trials of two other men indicated in connection with other alleged stoning incidents also had ended in jury disagreement.

Moon and four other defense witnesses testified yesterday that Moon was some 700 feet away at another mining operation at the time of the alleged stoning.

Four state witnesses had testified earlier in the day that they saw Moon throw stones at the truck.

Although, about 60 persons have been indicted in connection with picketing disturbances which have accompanied the United Mine Workers' organizing drive in Preston county.

Prosecutor R. Doyle Halbritter said, however, that no more of the cases will come up for trial within the next few days. The court will be occupied during that time with other cases, he said.

Grindle To Head Tri-Towns 1951 Little Baseball League

WESTERNPORT—John E. "Chip" Grindle, a member of the Bruce High School faculty, is president of the Tri-Towns Little Baseball League which is now being formed.

Other officers elected Thursday night at the Bruce High School were John Gruber, vice president and Norman Baughman, secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors named were Jack Show, Donald McIntyre, Joseph Diaz, William Fazenbaker and Heber Poland.

Grindle, previous to his election as president, has been serving as temporary chairman and in opening the meeting pointed out that the minimum expense would be $600 for equipment and $100 more to provide for medical insurance in case any boy is injured. The league is open to boys from 9 to 12 years of age.

The league will be composed of four teams. Each team is limited to 18 players and 12 in uniform. The session is expected to get underway about the middle of June and two games will be played next week. Each team will play 21 games.

Organizations will be requested to be responsible for the sale of $50 worth of tickets.

Jack Shaw is in charge of the sale of tickets. Earl Nonnenmann of the Cumberland Hot Stove League showed three baseball films to the 61 boys who attended the meeting.

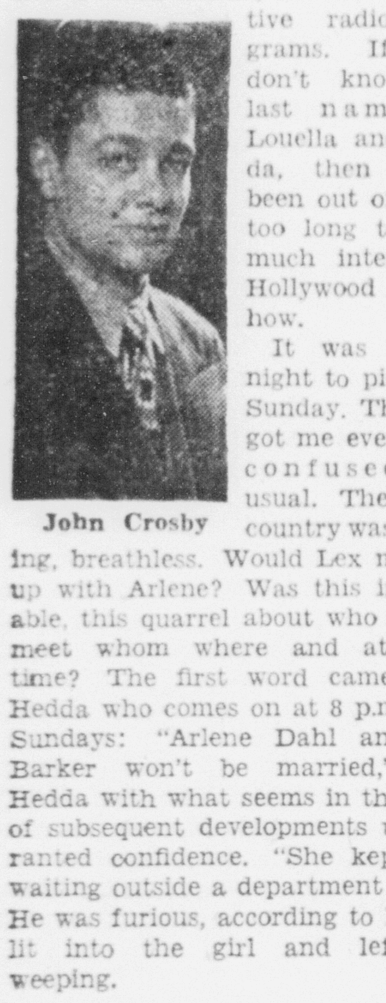
Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Would They Or Wouldn't They And Who Cares? . .

SEMI-ANNUALLY, I catch up on the fabulous doings of the Hollywood folk as sprayed throughout the Eastern seaboard by those two great ladies, Louella and Hedda, on their respective radio programs. If you don't know the last names of Louella and Hedda, then you've been out of touch too long to have much interest in Hollywood anyhow.



John Crosby

It was a bad night to pick, last Sunday. The girls got me even more confused than usual. The whole country was hanging, breathless. Would Lex make it up with Arlene? Was this irrevocable, this quarrel about who was to meet whom where and at what time? The first word came from Hedda who comes on at 8 p.m. EST Sundays: "Arlene Dahl and Lex Barker won't be married," said Hedda with what seems in the light of subsequent developments unwarranted confidence. "She kept him waiting outside a department store." He was furious, according to Hedda, lit into the girl and left her weeping.

"I don't believe in divorce," declared Arlene (according to Hedda). "It's a good thing we found out in advance."

In other words, everything was off and I, like millions of other sentimental Americans, was heartstricken. I waited till 9:15, when Louella blows in. "My first exclusive," said Louella. "Lex flies in to take his bride back." It was, she said, just a misunderstanding. "They're going to get married."

Well, you can imagine my state of mind! Would they or wouldn't they? And who was left waiting outside the department store? There was considerable disagreement here. Press reports the next day seemed to concur that it was Arlene outside the department store, not Lex. She was supposed to meet Lex at a cocktail party at Ceil Chapman's but she couldn't find a taxicab. That's why she was late.

A great deal of print was expended explaining about girls always being late (and Miss Dahl, it was intimated, is especially prone to this weakness) and about boys getting terribly irritated about girls who show up half an hour late. I studied all the reports carefully, weighing things in my mind. After considerable deliberation, it seemed to me that Miss Dahl was no later than most girls ever get and that Lex got no madder than most men ever get under similar circumstances.

One point that neither Hedda nor Louella touched upon—and a very important one, too—was the fact that Arlene was trying to get that cab at Fifth Avenue and Fiftieth Street at 5:30 p.m. on a Friday night. Now, any lawyer could tell you that Friday night is a terrible night to get a cab anywhere in New York, that 5:30 is probably the worst hour and that Fifth and Fiftieth is easily the worst street. Arlene had a strong case there. There isn't a district attorney in the country that could break it down.

But, at that point, (9:17 p.m. EST Sunday), the issue was: could Lex explain? Would Arlene forgive? Louella said they'd get married. Hedda said they wouldn't. Millions of us tossed in our beds that night, wondering. We had to wait until the Monday papers to find out. Then, in the "Mirror," we found Miss Parsons trumpeting: "While you are reading this, they (Lex and Arlene) may already be aboard a plane, New York bound, for their wedding." The "News," Miss Hopper's paper, went even further, contradicting their own columnist, and said Lex and Arlene were flying back to New York together and would get married. And they did. Even while you are reading this, they are living happily ever after.

It was touch and go for a minute, though, and, on the whole, I think both Hedda and Louella acquitted themselves well in covering one of the great news stories of our day. Of course, Hedda did get it wrong but then she comes on earlier in the evening. A bride could easily change her mind 42 times between 8 and 9 o'clock, could tell one columnist one thing and the other, another thing.

Anyhow, best of luck, Lex and Arlene. Just take it easy, Lex. Next time she says she's going to show up at 5:30, arrive at 6:30 and you'll meet her coming in.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

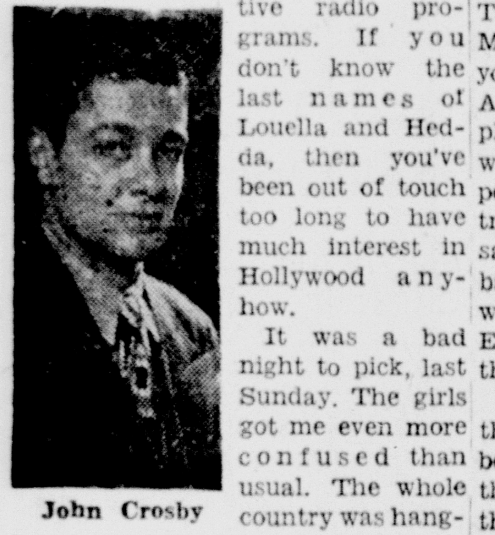
Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Would They Or Wouldn't They And Who Cares? . .

SEMI-ANNUALLY, I catch up on the fabulous doings of the Hollywood folk as sprayed throughout the Eastern seaboard by those two great ladies, Louella and Hedda, on their respective radio programs. If you don't know the last names of Louella and Hedda, then you've been out of touch too long to have much interest in Hollywood anyhow.



John Crosby

It was a bad night to pick, last Sunday. The girls got me even more confused than usual. The whole country was hanging, breathless. Would Lex make it up with Arlene? Was this irrevocable, this quarrel about who was to meet whom where and at what time? The first word came from Hedda who comes on at 8 p.m. EST Sundays: "Arlene Dahl and Lex Barker won't be married," said Hedda with what seems in the light of subsequent developments unwarranted confidence. "She kept him waiting outside a department store." He was furious, according to Hedda, lit into the girl and left her weeping.

"I don't believe in divorce," declared Arlene (according to Hedda). "It's a good thing we found out in advance."

In other words, everything was off and I, like millions of other sentimental Americans, was heartstricken. I waited till 9:15, when Louella blows in. "My first exclusive," said Louella. "Lex flies in to take his bride back." It was, she said, just a misunderstanding. "They're going to get married."

Well, you can imagine my state of mind! Would they or wouldn't they? And who was left waiting outside the department store? There was considerable disagreement here. Press reports the next day seemed to concur that it was Arlene outside the department store, not Lex. She was supposed to meet Lex at a cocktail party at Ceil Chapman's but she couldn't find a taxicab. That's why she was late.

A great deal of print was expended explaining about girls always being late (and Miss Dahl, it was intimated, is especially prone to this weakness) and about boys getting terribly irritated about girls who show up half an hour late. I studied all the reports carefully, weighing things in my mind. After considerable deliberation, it seemed to me that Miss Dahl was no later than most girls ever get and that Lex got no madder than most men ever get under similar circumstances.

One point that neither Hedda nor Louella touched upon—and a very important one, too—was the fact that Arlene was trying to get that cab at Fifth Avenue and Fiftieth Street at 5:30 p.m. on a Friday night. Now, any lawyer could tell you that Friday night is a terrible night to get a cab anywhere in New York, that 5:30 is probably the worst hour and that Fifth and Fiftieth is easily the worst street. Arlene had a strong case there. There isn't a district attorney in the country that could break it down.

But, at that point, (9:17 p.m. EST Sunday), the issue was: could Lex explain? Would Arlene forgive? Louella said they'd get married. Hedda said they wouldn't. Millions of us tossed in our beds that night, wondering. We had to wait until the Monday papers to find out. Then, in the "Mirror," we found Miss Parsons trumpeting: "While you are reading this, they (Lex and Arlene) may already be aboard a plane, New York bound, for their wedding." The "News," Miss Hopper's paper, went even further, contradicting their own columnist, and said Lex and Arlene were flying back to New York together and would get married. And they did. Even while you are reading this, they are living happily ever after.

It was touch and go for a minute, though, and, on the whole, I think both Hedda and Louella acquitted themselves well in covering one of the great news stories of our day. Of course, Hedda did get it wrong but then she comes on earlier in the evening. A bride could easily change her mind 42 times between 8 and 9 o'clock, could tell one columnist one thing and the other, another thing.

Anyhow, best of luck, Lex and Arlene. Just take it easy, Lex. Next time she says she's going to show up at 5:30, arrive at 6:30 and you'll meet her coming in.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, Herbert F. Mullenax, who departed this life one year ago, April 21, 1950.

Just one year ago you left us
Oh how terrible was the shock
When God saw your work was finished
He took you from his flock.

Then it seemed our life was ended,
For we could not understand
Just why God had taken our loved one
And left us here to mourn his loss.

But God whispered peace and comfort
To our weary troubled souls
And he helped us bear our burdens
And to walk the lonesome road.

Farewell dear Herbie, you will
Always walk beside us every day.
For your presence is always with
Us, and your face we always see.

And some day we hope to meet you
In that land beyond the sky.
Where there'll be no more parting
And we'll never say good-bye.

Sadly missed by
His Mother and Brothers

In loving memory of my dear Mother, Gertrude E. Hamilton, who died 3 years ago, April 21, 1948.

In the book of life there are pages,
Filled with memories fond and true,
And those most dear through the ages,
Are the beautiful memories of you.

Sadly missed by your daughter,
MRS. ELSIE DUCKWORTH.

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, Herbert F. Mullenax, who departed this life one year ago, April 21, 1950.

Just one year ago you left us
Oh how terrible was the shock
When God saw your work was finished
He took you from his flock.

Then it seemed our life was ended,
For we could not understand
Just why God had taken our loved one
And left us here to mourn his loss.

But God whispered peace and comfort
To our weary troubled souls
And he helped us bear our burdens
And to walk the lonesome road.

Farewell dear Herbie, you will
Always walk beside us every day.
For your presence is always with
Us, and your face we always see.

And some day we hope to meet you
In that land beyond the sky.
Where there'll be no more parting
And we'll never say good-bye.

Sadly missed by
His Mother and Brothers

In loving memory of my dear Mother, Gertrude E. Hamilton, who died 3 years ago, April 21, 1948.

In the book of life there are pages,
Filled with memories fond and true,
And those most dear through the ages,
Are the beautiful memories of you.

Sadly missed by your daughter,
MRS. ELSIE DUCKWORTH.

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, Herbert F. Mullenax, who departed this life one year ago, April 21, 1950.

Just one year ago you left us
Oh how terrible was the shock
When God saw your work was finished
He took you from his flock.

Then it seemed our life was ended,
For we could not understand
Just why God had taken our loved one
And left us here to mourn his loss.

But God whispered peace and comfort
To our weary troubled souls
And he helped us bear our burdens
And to walk the lonesome road.

Farewell dear Herbie, you will
Always walk beside us every day,
For your presence is always with
Us, and your face we always see.

And some day we hope to meet you
In that land beyond the sky,
Where there'll be no more parting
And we'll never say good-bye.

Sadly missed by
His Mother and Brothers

In loving memory of my dear Mother, Gertrude E. Hamilton, who died 3 years ago, April 21, 1948.

In the book of life there are pages,
Filled with memories fond and true,
And those most dear through the ages,
Are the beautiful memories of you.

Sadly missed by your daughter,
MRS. ELSIE DUCKWORTH.

Rails Hold Market Down As Wall St. Honors "Mac"

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) — Rails held the stock market down today as Wall Street took a two-hour recess to give Gen. MacArthur the biggest ticker tape welcome ever accorded a returning hero.

Trading was done in two sessions from 10 to 11 a. m. and from 1 to 9 p. m. (EST). Most security and commodity markets suspended or curtailed activities during the MacArthur celebration.

With the widest losses in the rails, the list was down by as much as $2 a share. Douglas Aircraft, however, fell 3⅛ to 100½ just before the closing bell.

All of the leaders in the motors were on the upside by the slimmest of margins. The radio-televisions did better, however, and made pretty fair progress.

Just about every other major section could be figured as mixed or iregularly lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 30 cents to $95.10 with the railroad average off 50 cents, and the industrial and utility components each off 10 cents.

The number of individual issues traded contracted to 1,031 from 1,133 issues traded during yesterday's full five-hour market. Of these, 303 advanced and 460 declined with 21 new highs and 43 new lows.

Volume for today's three hours came to 930,000 shares as compared with 1,510,000 all the way yesterday.

Some of the downside stocks were Illinois Central off 1 at 64¾, Santa Fe 1¼ at 164¼, Nickel Plate 2 at 210, Atlantic Coast Line 1 at 72¼, Amerada 2½ at 183, American Smelting 1½ at 75, Phelps Dodge 1 at 63⅛, Dow Chemical ⅝ at 90¾, Union Carbide ⅜ at 57½, and National Biscuit ½ at 33¼.

"The Authority on Authorities"

HOPE FOR THE BALANCE

YOU MAY absolutely know about half of the circumstances you require in order to make a squeeze play work and can only hope that the balance of the factors are as required. But if you can't locate any other possible path to success with your contract, you must proceed exactly the same as if you had taken a look and learned that all was as desired. What a nice thrill it is if you get away with such a procedure.

South:

♣ A K 6 2

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass

Was South's bidding the most unscientific way to reach the small slam in spades? Or could it have been the smartest? Certainly it had the negative merit of keeping the defenders from learning any more than necessary about what either South or his partner had, and therefore gave them a minimum of guidance. As it developed, however, that was of no importance on this deal.

South's only useful card reading was based on West's lead of the heart 9 to the A, which caused him to place all hearts higher than his own 8 with East. Unable to count up more than eleven ordinary tricks, even if East happened to hold the diamond A, he required that favorable development and one other factor to make the contract by means of a squeeze. The other essential element was to have West unable to beat the club 8 on a third round club trick.

Aiming at all of this, he first noted that two tricks in diamonds and one in clubs could put him down two if things went askew. But that daunted him none. After winning the heart 9 with the A, he overtook the spade Q with the K and led the diamond 4, the A winning and the 8 coming back to the K. So far so good. Now the spade 2 to the 10, diamond 9 ruffed by the spade J, spade A, heart 2 ruffed by the spade 4, the spade 8 and 5 put the screws on East. Besides the last spade, dummy held three clubs, South the heart 8 and three clubs. It happened that East had three clubs left and the heart K. Knowing that South had the heart 8, he kept his K and threw off the club 9. The heart 8 was then discarded by South, who finished with three club tricks.

Your Weekend Question

What difference is there between the meanings of a bid of the opponents' suit before your partner had bid, and after he had made a suit bid?

Rails Hold Market Down As Wall St. Honors "Mac"

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) — Rails held the stock market down today as Wall Street took a two-hour recess to give Gen. MacArthur the biggest ticker tape welcome ever accorded a returning hero.

Trading was done in two sessions from 10 to 11 a. m. and from 1 to 9 p. m. (EST). Most security and commodity markets suspended or curtailed activities during the MacArthur celebration.

With the widest losses in the rails, the list was down by as much as $2 a share. Douglas Aircraft, however, fell 3⅛ to 100½ just before the closing bell.

All of the leaders in the motors were on the upside by the slimmest of margins. The radio-televisions did better, however, and made pretty fair progress.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 30 cents to $95.10 with the railroad average off 50 cents, and the industrial and utility components each off 10 cents.

The number of individual issues traded contracted to 1,031 from 1,133 issues traded during yesterday's full five-hour market. Of these, 303 advanced and 460 declined with 21 new highs and 43 new lows.

"The Authority on Authorities"

HOPE FOR THE BALANCE

YOU MAY absolutely know about half of the circumstances you require in order to make a squeeze play work and can only hope that the balance of the factors are as required. But if you can't locate any other possible path to success with your contract, you must proceed exactly the same as if you had taken a look and learned that all was as desired. What a nice thrill it is if you get away with such a procedure.

South	West	North	East

Was South's bidding the most unscientific way to reach the small slam in spades? Or could it have been the smartest? Certainly it had the negative merit of keeping the defenders from learning any more than necessary about what either South or his partner had, and therefore gave them a minimum of guidance. As it developed, however, that was of no importance on this deal.

South's only useful card reading was based on West's lead of the heart 9 to the A, which caused him to place all hearts higher than his own 8 with East. Unable to count up more than eleven ordinary tricks, even if East happened to hold the diamond A, he required that favorable development and one other factor to make the contract by means of a squeeze. The other essential element was to have West unable to beat the club 8 on a third round club trick.

Aiming at all of this, he first noted that two tricks in diamonds and one in clubs could put him down two if things went askew. But that daunted him none. After winning the heart 9 with the A, he overtook the spade Q with the K and led the diamond 4, the A winning and the 8 coming back to the K. So far so good. Now the spade 2 to the 10, diamond 9 ruffed by the spade J, spade A, heart 2 ruffed by the spade 4, the spade 8 and 5 put the screws on East. Besides the last spade, dummy held three clubs, South the heart 8 and three clubs. It happened that East had three clubs left and the heart K. Knowing that South had the heart 8, he kept his K and threw off the club 9. The heart 8 was then discarded by South, who finished with three club tricks.

Your Weekend Question

What difference is there between the meanings of a bid of the opponents' suit before your partner had bid, and after he had made a suit bid?

Rails Hold Market Down As Wall St. Honors "Mac"

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP) — Rails held the stock market down today as Wall Street took a two-hour recess to give Gen. MacArthur the biggest ticker tape welcome ever accorded a returning hero.

Trading was done in two sessions from 10 to 11 a. m. and from 1 to 9 p. m. (EST). Most security and commodity markets suspended or curtailed activities during the MacArthur celebration.

With the widest losses in the rails, the list was down by as much as $2 a share. Douglas Aircraft, however, fell 3⅛ to 100½ just before the closing bell.

All of the leaders in the motors were on the upside by the slimmest of margins. The radio-televisions did better, however, and made pretty fair progress.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 30 cents to $95.10 with the railroad average off 50 cents, and the industrial and utility components each off 10 cents.

The number of individual issues traded contracted to 1,031 from 1,133 issues traded during yesterday's full five-hour market. Of these, 303 advanced and 460 declined with 21 new highs and 43 new lows.

"The Authority on Authorities"

HOPE FOR THE BALANCE

YOU MAY absolutely know about half of the circumstances you require in order to make a squeeze play work and can only hope that the balance of the factors are as required. But if you can't locate any other possible path to success with your contract, you must proceed exactly the same as if you had taken a look and learned that all was as desired. What a nice thrill it is if you get away with such a procedure.

Was South's bidding the most unscientific way to reach the small slam in spades? Or could it have been the smartest? Certainly it had the negative merit of keeping the defenders from learning any more than necessary about what either South or his partner had, and therefore gave them a minimum of guidance. As it developed, however, that was of no importance on this deal.

South's only useful card reading was based on West's lead of the heart 9 to the A, which caused him to place all hearts higher than his own 8 with East. Unable to count up more than eleven ordinary tricks, even if East happened to hold the diamond A, he required that favorable development and one other factor to make the contract by means of a squeeze. The other essential element was to have West unable to beat the club 8 on a third round club trick.

Aiming at all of this, he first noted that two tricks in diamonds and one in clubs could put him down two if things went askew. But that daunted him none. After winning the heart 9 with the A, he overtook the spade Q with the K and led the diamond 4, the A winning and the 8 coming back to the K. So far so good. Now the spade 2 to the 10, diamond 9 ruffed by the spade J, spade A, heart 2 ruffed by the spade 4, the spade 8 and 5 put the screws on East. Besides the last spade, dummy held three clubs, South the heart 8 and three clubs. It happened that East had three clubs left and the heart K. Knowing that South had the heart 8, he kept his K and threw off the club 9. The heart 8 was then discarded by South, who finished with three club tricks.

What difference is there between the meanings of a bid of the opponents' suit before your partner had bid, and after he had made a suit bid?

Economic Report To Be Presented Here May 2

Survey Will Aid Area Development

A report on an economic development survey of Western Maryland will be presented here May 2, David Kauffman, chairman of the Steering Committee for Economic Development, announced yesterday.

The full report will be submitted at a meeting of the Steering Committee slated for 2 p. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Federal Groups Cooperate

The Department of Commerce, the Department of Labor and other federal agencies have been cooperating in the survey which was instituted last July.

Kauffman said the report is now in its final stages but may be subject to minor revisions prior to its formal presentation.

Hope that the forthcoming survey will enable this area better to help itself was expressed by the Area Development Division of the Department of Commerce in a letter to Playford Aldridge, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), following an appeal of the union to President Truman for the location of defense industries in this area.

The request landed in the Department of Commerce's lap after the president referred the request to S. Stuart Symington, then chairman of the National Securities Resources Board.

From there it went to the Office of Defense Mobilization, and thence to the Department of Commerce.

Office Is "Concerned"

Asserting that that office has been "very much concerned" with Cumberland's unemployment problem for some time, the agency pointed out that the Department of Commerce has been working for several months with the Department of Labor and other federal agencies on an economic development survey of this area.

While the survey does not pretend to provide immediate relief to the area, the department hoped it will assist the community to direct its effort most productively and thus enable it better to help itself.

Gibson Praises Union Fund Drive

The Textile Workers Union Thursday decided to start a fund drive for $5,200 for the purchase of the emergency medical units to be used for Civil Defense work in Allegany County. The union already has begun action to raise the money, sending letters of solicitation to business firms and individuals in the area.

The units which cost $2,600 apiece have been investigated and approved by Civil Defense Board and the Health Department officials of the county and all contributions are requested to be sent to Allegany County Emergency Mobile Medical Unit Committee, 34 North Mechanic Street, John G. Kreitzburg is chairman of the committee.

Gibson, in noting the stand taken by the Textile Union, said he was "very delighted. The drive to be put into effect for the equipment is vitally necessary. Apparently most civil defense facilities will have to be provided by public-spirited people because of the lack of government funds to meet the needs."

Agents Will Attend Anniversary Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Philip O. Bowman, city, will leave today for Columbus, Ohio, to attend the 25th anniversary meeting of the Farm Bureau Insurance Company. Bowman is district manager for the company here.

They will be joined in Columbus by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gurley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barclay and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Speicher. Gurley Barclay and Speicher are agents for the company in the two Western Maryland counties.

On Monday the new home office building of the company will be dedicated. Some 10,000 sales personnel are expected to attend.

Celanese Employe Injured At Work

Cooper, employed in the Bobbin Stores department at the Amcelle plant, caught his hand and wrist in an electric fan while at work.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Landis, 835 Fayette Street, a daughter yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, Mexico Farms, a daughter yesterday evening.

Sgt. and Mrs. David L. Rinker, Jr., Ft. Monmouth, N. J., Signal School, announce the birth of a son yesterday in the Signal Corps Hospital there. The father is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Rinker, 729 Gephart Drive.

Student Congratulated For Driving Ability

Flood Control Work Termed Satisfactory

Project Officials Inspect Construction

"Progress on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project is quite satisfactory," Donald V. C. Birrell, assistant chief of the engineering division, U. S. Corps of Engineers, Washington, D. C. reported yesterday following an inspection of the project.

Birrell was guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the Central YMCA. During his talk Birrell used pictures of the project in Cumberland as well as a model at Vicksburg, Miss. to illustrate current progress and work yet to be accomplished.

The part pressure conduits play in carrying off surface water in time of a flood was explained by Birrell. He stressed that not all excess water is carried off by the conduits and that pumping stations are required in the event of the lack of a "head" at the source of the overflow.

The two pumping stations are scheduled as the next phase of the project, but lack of material may cause a postponement, he reported. Work will be started at the upper end of Wills Creek and the dam in the Potomac River beyond the Western Maryland Railway station will be replaced.

The dam, he explained, will provide a foundation for a bridge to replace the old Blue Bridge from Cumberland to Ridgeley.

Birrell remarked about the "clean job" the workmen and sub-contractor, Thomas Earle and Sons, Philadelphia, are doing on the Frederick Street pressure conduit and said progress thus far is "quite satisfactory."

Paye said that due to good weather, the project is "clicking." He added that Frederick Street is open to automobile traffic, 24 hours ahead of schedule.

Paper Collection Set

Waste paper will be collected Monday on all streets north of Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue. Bundles should be placed on curbs before 9 a. m.

WEATHER

A long-overdue spring day delighted Cumberlanders yesterday even though the temperatures dropped again after dark. Highest reading at Constitution Park weather station was 60 degrees. Low for the day was 32. It was 48 at 10 p.m. The dew point yesterday was 32 degrees and the relative humidity, 50 percent. There was heavy frost in the low areas, Robert R. Golden, weather observer, reports. Today's forecast is for fair and increasing cloudiness.

State Industrial Union Approves M'Arthur Ouster

Telegram Will Be Sent To President

The Maryland Industrial Union Council yesterday at its quarterly meeting in United Rubber Workers Hall voted to send a telegram congratulating President Truman on his stand in the General MacArthur conflict.

The action is based "upon the forthright reaffirmation of traditional relationship between democratic civilian government of the Republic and its military forces" members said.

Also planned was action to be taken for exhibitions on labor movement to be presented at state fairs in Maryland.

A discussion of plans for a meeting with state-wide officials and labor unions, including the AFL, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and others was held. This meeting will endeavor to bring to light reasons for the drastic step labor took when its representative walked out of Price Stabilization talks, other wage and price problems and the national defense act.

The group adopted a policy to take necessary steps for amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Act for higher and better benefits for workers.

A letter of criticism to Senator John Marshall Butler for his statement in a speech last week "since when did we start redeeming platform pledges?" was approved.

The next meeting of the group will be held July 20, at Salisbury.

E. J. Moran, Baltimore, president, presided.

Penn Avenue Labor Project Gains Momentum

Grading Of Field Is Expected Today

Final grading and rolling of Penn Avenue Field is expected today if the weather remains good as the volunteer labor project designed to make a first-class park of the site gathers momentum.

Hauling of top soil for the outfield will begin about 7:30 a. m., City Recreation officials said, and it is hoped all necessary top soil will be placed on the field by noon so final rolling and grading can begin.

About 120 loads of soil is needed and about 500 tons of limestone for drainage, the playground heads noted.

New Backstops Planned

After the field has been graded and rolled according to plans and specifications donated by the U. S. Corps of Engineers survey team, work will begin next week on the erection of a new pipe and steel backstop behind home plate on the baseball field. This backstop will be covered with special netting made to order for the erection.

Also a three-foot chain link fence between the backstop and the first light poles along the first and third base sides of the field will be built. This fence will keep balls from rolling into the crowds during play as well as keep the fans from the field.

The new drainage system has been devised by the Corps of Engineers and old tile drain pipes will be utilized. Fine screening for the walkways and bleachers also has been procured and will be placed after completion of work on the wooden bleachers.

Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer for the city's flood project who organized the volunteer group, said last night numerous companies and individuals were offering, time, service, equipment and material in an effort to make the plan a success.

Equipment Is Donated

S. T. Brotemarkle Company has donated a power grader; Cumberland Contracting Company a power roller; George and Lynch, Inc., caterpillar bulldozer and two dump trucks; Cumberland Cement and Supply Company, a power shovel and the top soil; County Commissioners, seven dump trucks; City of Cumberland, two dump trucks; George Construction Company, two dump trucks; Cement Products Corporation, one ton of agricultural lime for fertilizer; John I. Vandegrift Company, carpenters, labor and materials to erect bleachers and broadcasting booth; and Elwood Rowley, contractor, two dump trucks.

Work is also contemplated on Community Ball Park, Wineow Street, Paye said, and Cumberland Contracting Company has donated a power grader and George Bauchman Construction Company a power roller for work to be done there.

Car Reported Stolen

A 1940 black two door sedan was reported stolen here Wednesday The owner, James E. Berry, 41, Louisiana Avenue, told police the automobile was taken from Harrison Street between 9 and 11:30 p. m.

Maryland State Police Give March Accident Statistics

One person died as the result of traffic accidents in Allegany County during March and nine persons were injured, according to the traffic collision statistical bureau of the Maryland State Police.

The report indicates that 23 accidents occured last month, with 15 property damage mishaps recorded. Twenty-three collisions occured and 184 arrests made.

Thirty-seven persons were killed in Maryland last month. The number of accidents show a definite increase with a total of 2,279 as compared with 1,887 in 1950. Nine hundred and ninety-seven persons were injured in March 1951 as compared to 893 last year during March.

One person was killed every 20 hours last month in a motor vehicle traffic accident. The average number injured during the month was 32 persons per day. Nine of the fatal accidents in Maryland occured in daylight and 24 after dark.

Counties free of traffic fatalities in rural areas during March were Charles, Dorchester, Garrett, Queen Anne, St. Mary's, Somerset, Talbot and Wicomico.

Judge Harris' Opinion Settles Dispute Of Will

Action Brought By Local Bank

A dispute over the estate of Mrs. Sarah Whitfield, 121 Hanover Street, who died last November 16, was settled in an opinion filed yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The controversy stemmed from the wording of the will which Mrs. Whitfield's husband, George Washington Whitfield, Altoona, Pa., left. Whitfield died in August, 1948, and his will was dated February 5, 1948. The provision of this will in controversy reads:

Provision Quoted

"I give, devise and bequeath to my wife, Sarah Whitfield, all of my estate, real, personal and mixed; of whatever kind and nature and wheresoever situated, absolutely in fee simple, with the absolute right and power vested in my said wife to sell and dispose of either said personalty and realty as she may deem fit and necessary so to do in order to support and maintain herself in the comforts and necessities of life; provided however, that if my said wife predeceases me, then I give, devise and bequeath the same to my sister, Amanda Helen Lee; and provide further, that whatever balance of my estate, real or personal herein before bequeather and devised to my said wife, is not used and consumed by her for the purposes mentioned therein, then I give, devise and bequeath such balance remaining of said personalty and realty, if any, to my sister, Amanda Helen Lee, absolutely and forever."

After his death, Mrs. Whitfield sold property at 1405 19th Avenue, Altoona, which had belonged to her husband. Proceeds from that sale, amounting to $4,436.90, were deposited in the First National Bank of Cumberland. Mrs. Whitfield added other money to the account, bringing the total to $7,697.44 on November 3, 1949. None of the additional was money derived from her husband's estate. Withdrawals were made and at the time of her death November 16, 1950, the account contained $6,542.86.

Bill Of Interpleader

This equity case was brought into Allegany County Circuit Court by the First National Bank of Cumberland which instituted a bill of interpleader. The bank contended that it could not safely make any payments from Mrs. Whitfield's account until ownership of the funds had been determined by court.

Mrs. Amanda Helen Lee had demanded November 27 that the bank pay her the balance from Mrs. Whitfield's account. On December 12, Edwin M. Horchler and Ethel M. Davey, nephew and niece of Mrs. Whitfield, also demanded the funds. Horchler and Mrs. Davey had been appointed by Allegany County Orphans Court as administrators c.t.a. of Mrs. Whitfield's estate.

The question before Judge Harris was whether Whitfield's will "gave his widow absolute ownership of his estate or only a life interest with power of consumption. Judge Harris decided the latter.

As a consequence, Judge Harris' opinion stipulates that Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court, with whom the disputed funds have been deposited, shall pay $4,436.90, less counsel fees and court costs, to Mrs. Lee and the remainder, or $2,105.96, to Horchler and Mrs. Davey as administrators c.t.a. of Mrs. Whitfield's estate. Mrs. Lee's payment will represent the proceeds from the sale of her brother's property.

Legion Opening Well Attended

The turnout for the opening of the new home of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, last night was termed "terrific." William Knieriem, publicity director, said the crowd was probably the largest group at a public function in the past ten years in Ridgeley.

Music for dancing was provided by Bill Walters and His Coronets, Martha Norris and Her Melodeers, and Jimmy McCourt and His Novelettes.

Also held was a floor show by students of the Star Dance Studio, plus several comedy and novelty acts, Knieriem was master of ceremonies.

Store, Railroad Sponsor Display

Two of Maryland's more than a century-old corporations combined in showing to the citizens of Cumberland a replica of the Baltimore and Ohio's diesel engine as it is mounted on a truck body for transport through the streets.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which started to operate in this area in 1846, and Rosenbaum's, which started in business in Cumberland in 1848, are presenting this replica to the citizens. This mock body is 27½ feet long, 7 feet wide, and 8 feet high. It has a diesel whistle and bell nd will be driven through the streets of Cumberland during the next few days.

The City Council and the Police Department have granted permission for the use of this display.

South End Group To Sponsor Benefit Playground Carnival

Three-Day Affair To Begin May 10

The South End Businessmen's Association is planning a three-day benefit carnival beginning May 10 at Penn Avenue Field with proceeds designated for the six South Cumberland playgrounds, Nelson W. Russler, publicity committeeman, said last night.

Included in the special events will be amateur boxing, band concerts, tumbling acts, round and square dancing and many other features.

Committee members working on the gala festival include Executive committee, John L. Spiker, chairman, Harry Poling, Webster Edwards; Finance, John Weber, chairman, John Conway, Edwin Keech; Publicity and Printing, Reatus L. Spiker, Roy Knott, Nelson W. Russler.

Personnel, George Millenson, chairman, Andrew J. Salica, Elmo Evans, James Scarpelli, Marcus Naughton, Samuel Knoll; Music, Roy Knott, chairman, Carl Amtower, William Cassell, Peter J. Decker; Costumes and Property, Mrs. Gladys Fuller and Mrs. Mamie Scott.

Reinhart, Monroe McKenzie; Grounds, Roy Merritt, Victor Hebb, Jackson L. Dohrman, John Weber; Special events, Paul Shircliffe, chairman, William B. Orndorff, Lester Dean, K. O. Christner and John Twigg.

Proceeds will go to Thomas Post, Penn Avenue, Virginia Avenue, Mapleside, Lamont Street and and John Heights playgrounds.

$15,000 Damage Suit Retrial Set For Monday

Court Of Appeals Reversed Judgment

Re-trial of a $15,000 damage suit, first heard in Allegany County Circuit Court 18 months ago, has just been docketed for Monday.

Neal Nesbit, through Attorneys Harold A. Naughton and Milton Gerson, filed the suit against the Cumberland Contracting Company.

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court returned a verdict November 29, 1949, for the defendant. On December 31, 1949, Associate Judge Henderson, who presided at the trial, entered a judgment on the verdict in favor of the defendant and against the plaintiff for costs of $40. Attorneys Thomas B. Finan and William C. Walsh represented the defendant.

An appeal was taken and last August 19 the Maryland Court of Appeals filed a mandate reversing the Circuit Court judgment.

Nesbit contended in his suit that his car crashed into a pile of dirt one night in September, 1948. He said this occurred on McMullen Highway where the Cumberland Contracting Company was engaged in road repair work. He asserted the pile was not marked and no flares were apparent.

Attorney for the defendant contended the pile was marked properly.

Fewer Farmers In PMA Program

Only 350 farmers, about 50 fewer than the anticipated goal, have signed up for the 1951 agriculture conservation program of the Production and Marketing Administration in Allegany County, Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover; clerk of the County PMA Committee, said yesterday. The deadline was Monday.

Miss Hoover believes that a new national ruling of PMA was responsible for the drop of about 50 farmers from the program in this county. This provision rules out the use of lime on plowed ground on the contention that most of the lime washes off plowed ground, especially in hilly country such as prevails here.

The PMA has contended that insufficient quantities of lime have been placed on lots of pasture and hay land, where it potentially could do the most good. The sod keeps the lime from washing away.

Rubber Workers Call Meeting On Contract

Negotiators Will Present Report

Members of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America (CIO), will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the union hall to consider taking a strike vote in connection with current contract talks.

R. C. Burkhart, president, said the decision on whether or not to take a strike vote will follow a full report on contract revision talks which have been held during the past month with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Commissioner C. Stanley Clevenger, Winchester, Va., of the Federal Conciliation Service, conferred yesterday with company and union negotiators in an attempt to bring about a satisfactory agreement between the parties.

Commissioner Clevenger said that a joint meeting will be set up next week if an agreement is not reached by that time.

Burkhart said union officials feel the time has come to reach a satisfactory agreement on the contract talks which have been going on for the past month.

He said tonight's meeting was called to explain to the membership just what has been accomplished and what remains to be decided upon.

Union officials said that if members are not satisfied with the contract report, they may, under the URCLAPWA (CIO), constitution call for a strike vote and set the time and place for the vote.

Steps have already been taken to comply with National Labor Relations Board rules concerning the contract dispute, the union said.

The present pact was due to expire April 1.

Rotary Members To Attend Meet

Four official delegates of the Cumberland Rotary Club will attend a three-day District Conference at Bedford, Pa. beginning tomorrow. They are James Pitkethly, Adolph Blunk, Roy Eves and James Weber.

Headquarters for the meet will be the Bedford Springs Hotel where business meetings also will be conducted.

Dr. Paul Swain Havens, president of Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa., will be guest speaker on Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at Bedford High School. Hospitality hour will follow at the hotel.

The District Governor's banquet being held on Monday at the Bedford Springs Hotel will have Robert Kazmayer as the main speaker. On Monday a separate luncheon will be held for the ladies at the Fort Bedford Inn. Mrs. Sarah I. Rugh will be guest speaker.

Celanese Worker Is Honored For Service

Eugene F. Mullan, Gerard Avenue, was presented a wrist watch yesterday for 25 years service with the Amcelle plant. William D. Claus, assistant to the plant manager, presented the gift. A certificate of service and an emblem was presented by W. J. Elvin, plant engineer.

Mullan became an employe of the Amcelle May 22, 1924, and is employed in the Central Auxiliary Department. Prior to working at Amcelle, he was employed at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company for three years and the Potomac Edison Company for four years.

He is a member of Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus.

Robbery In VFW Home Is Probed

Trooper Timothy Gilmore, Maryland State Police, is continuing an investigation into the robbery of the McCoole Veterans of Foreign Wars home Thursday morning.

State Police reported $700 in cash, whisky and cigarettes was stolen. Entrance was gained through a rear window.

"Deadly A-Bomb" Will Be On Display For Three Days

Cumberlanders will have the opportunity of seeing the "Deadly A-Bomb" tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday. The exhibit, sponsored by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans Of Foreign Wars, will be on display on Baltimore Street and the State Armory, South Centre Street.

The exhibit will be shown from noon until 2 p. m. Sunday on Baltimore Street and from 2 p. m. until 9:30 o'clock at the State Armory.

On Monday and Tuesday, the exhibit will be on display from 9:30 a. m. until noon at the armory, from noon until 2 p. m. on Baltimore Street and from 2 p. m. until 9:30 p. m. at the armory.

Arthur B. Gibson, city Civil Defense Coordinator, urges everyone to see the exhibit and receive a free official government pamphlet with instructions on how to protect oneself in case of atomic attack.

Raymond F. Whitehair, commander of the V.F.W. post, said that the exhibit is very educational and urged all residents of the Cumberland area to view it.

The mobile exhibit, mounted in a special custom-built trailer, is one of the several units making a nation wide educational tour under the direction of the veterans group.

On display are the British and Russian conceptions of the A-Bomb, which will give all visitors the basic knowledge of the most destructive and devastating weapon ever created by man.

City Prepares To Add Firemen To Pension Plan

Kimble Bill Makes Move Mandatory

City Hall officials are compiling statistics and checking details in preparation for the shift of Fire Department employes to the State Employe Pension System which has been made mandatory by Senate Bill 318 passed by the 1951 General Assembly.

The bill originally was introduced as an enabling act to put the Fire Department employes under the state system which also provides for most of the other workers employed by the city. It provided that the Mayor and City Council would be able to elect if they wished to have the change made from the present Firemen's Pension Fund. However, last minute changes by Senator Robert B. Kimble, who introduced the measure, officials said, makes the change mandatory.

Return Fund To Firemen

Also provided in the measure is the requirement of the city to return from the current Firemen's Pension Fund all monies paid into the fund by firemen now in the department. Any additional money left over would be turned over to the city to put the law into effect. These monies must be paid back to the members of the Fire Department by June 1, 1951.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, said yesterday approximately 100 city employes are now under jurisdiction of the State Employe Pension Fund, including those in the Engineering Department, Street and Water Departments, Health Department and General city workers. The Police and Fire Departments each have their own private pension fund.

City Pays $22,000

The city now pays approximately $22,000 into the state fund as its share of the plan, Gibson said, plus about $8,000 in the Firemen's fund. The employes also contribute to the fund, he noted.

The repayment of monies to members of the Fire Department would cost about $14,000, the auditor calculated. The fund now has $27,187.15 balance.

Gibson, in studying the new measure, said if the money put into the fund by the firemen is returned to them then it means the city has paid the bill for all firemen who have retired under the present plan.

Since by state law, the new pension system cannot acquire members until July 1, 1951, a month after the repayment of the monies to the firemen, Gibson believes the balance left in the current firemen's fund will be used to tide the city over the interim.

Gibson then estimated it would cost the city about $9,000 a year as its share of the new system for the firemen and this extra slice of the city's revenues along with the police and firemen's pay raises recently voted by the General Assembly have placed a terrific hardship on the city fathers as they make preparations for the city's budget for the coming fiscal year.

Working On Figures

The Finance Department is presently working on the compilation of figures on service records of all city firemen, Gibson related, which will be presented to the consulting actuary for the state employment retirement system, so the actuary can compute the accrued liability of the city.

William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of finance, said yesterday he will request a legal ruling to see if the new bill supersedes all previous legislation concerning pension funds.

The original pension act was passed in 1941 and amendments required that 75 per cent of the members of a department must request change to the state plan before it would be mandatory. However, if the new measure supersedes all previous legislation, then the 75 per cent acquiescence wouldn't be necessary.

City Solicitor W. Earle Cobey told Buchholtz he would check into the matter but added he believed the new law superseded all other legislation.

Four-Year-Old Boy Is Struck By Auto

James Bierman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bierman, 315 Springdale Street, was admitted for observation of possible head injuries. He was in good condition.

Lt. James E. Van and officer Joseph Stitcher investigated. Lt. Van said the child ran across Virginia Avenue into the path of the auto operated by Henry F. Brant, 1300 Lexington Avenue.

Religious Movie Will Be Shown

The tenth in a series of motion pictures on the life of Saint Paul will be shown Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The movie, which is in conjunction with the regular worship, is entitled "Third Missionary Journey." In addition, a sermonette, "Spiritual Harvest", will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. Raymond A. Faulds. Special music is planned.

Economic Report To Be Presented Here May 2

Survey Will Aid Area Development

A report on an economic development survey of Western Maryland will be presented here May 2, David Kauffman, chairman of the Steering Committee for Economic Development, announced yesterday.

The full report will be submitted at a meeting of the Steering Committee slated for 2 p. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Federal Groups Cooperate

The Department of Commerce, the Department of Labor and other federal agencies have been cooperating in the survey which was instituted last July.

Kauffman said the report is now in its final stages but may be subject to minor revisions prior to its formal presentation.

Hope that the forthcoming survey will enable this area better to help itself was expressed by the Area Development Division of the Department of Commerce in a letter to Playford Aldridge, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), following an appeal of the union to President Truman for the location of defense industries in this area.

The request landed in the Department of Commerce's lap after the president referred the request to S. Stuart Symington, then chairman of the National Securities Resources Board.

From there it went to the Office of Defense Mobilization, and thence to the Department of Commerce.

Office Is "Concerned"

Asserting that that office has been "very much concerned" with Cumberland's unemployment problem for some time, the agency pointed out that the Department of Commerce has been working for several months with the Department of Labor and other federal agencies on an economic development survey of this area.

While the survey does not pretend to provide immediate relief to the area, the department hoped it will assist the community to direct its effort most productively and thus enable it better to help itself.

Gibson Praises Union Fund Drive

Arthur B. Gibson, city Civil Defense coordinator last night expressed his appreciation of the efforts of Celanese Local 1874 to secure two mobile hospital units for the area.

The Textile Workers Union Thursday decided to start a fund drive for $5,200 for the purchase of the emergency medical units to be used for Civil Defense work in Allegany County. The union already has begun action to raise the money, sending letters of solicitation to business firms and individuals in the area.

The units which cost $2,600 apiece have been investigated and approved by Civil Defense Board and the Health Department officials of the county and all contributions are requested to be sent to Allegany County Emergency Mobile Medical Unit Committee, 34 North Mechanic Street, John G. Kreitzburg is chairman of the committee.

Gibson, in noting the stand taken by the Textile Union, said he was "very delighted. The drive to be put into effect for the equipment is vitally necessary. Apparently most civil defense facilities will have to be provided by public-spirited people because of the lack of government funds to meet the needs."

Agents Will Attend Anniversary Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Philip O. Bowman, city, will leave today for Columbus, Ohio, to attend the 25th anniversary meeting of the Farm Bureau Insurance Company. Bowman is district manager for the company here.

They will be joined in Columbus by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gurley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barclay and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Speicher. Gurley Barclay and Speicher are agents for the company in the two Western Maryland counties.

On Monday the new home office building of the company will be dedicated. Some 10,000 sales personnel are expected to attend.

Celanese Employe Injured At Work

Daniel H. Cooper, 34, of 322 Davidson Street, was in good condition last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted Wednesday with a lacerated left hand and wrist.

Cooper, employed in the Bobbin Stores department at the Amcelle plant, caught his hand and wrist in an electric fan while at work.

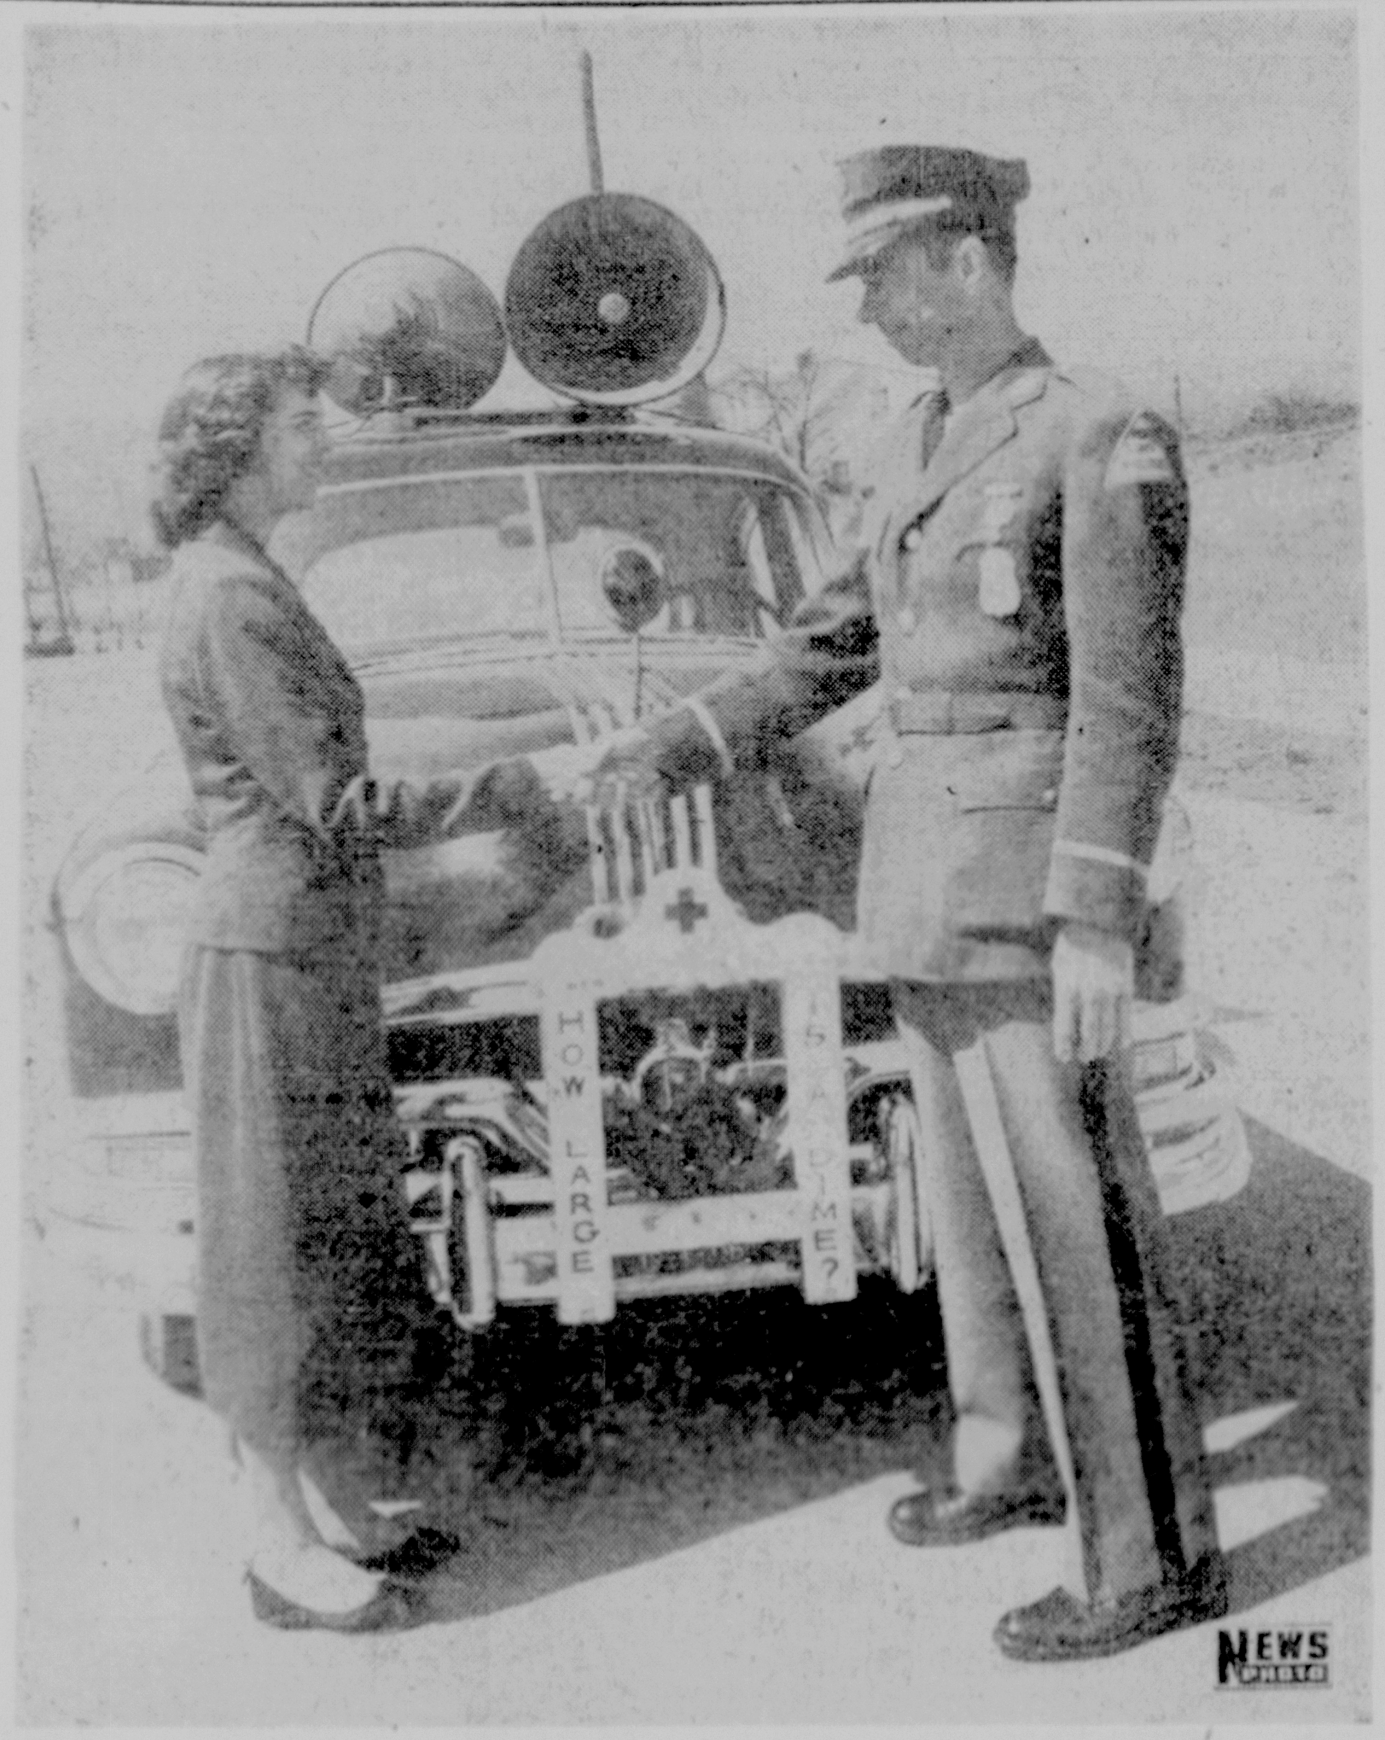
BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital announces the following births:

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Landis, 835 Fayette Street, a daughter yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, Mexico Farms, a daughter yesterday evening.

Sgt. and Mrs. David L. Rinker, Jr., Ft. Monmouth, N. J., Signal School, announce the birth of a son yesterday in the Signal Corps Hospital there. The father is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Rinker, 729 Gephart Drive.



Student Congratulated For Driving Ability

Flood Control Work Termed Satisfactory

Project Officials Inspect Construction

"Progress on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project is quite satisfactory," Donald V. C. Birrell, assistant chief of the engineering division, U. S. Corps of Engineers, Washington, D. C. reported yesterday following an inspection of the project.

Birrell was guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the Central YMCA. During his talk Birrell used pictures of the project in Cumberland as well as a model at Vicksburg, Miss. to illustrate current progress and work yet to be accomplished.

The part pressure conduits play in carrying off surface water in time of a flood was explained by Birrell. He stressed that not all excess water is carried off by the conduits and that pumping stations are required in the event of the lack of a "head" at the source of the overflow.

The two pumping stations are scheduled as the next phase of the project, but lack of material may cause a postponement, he reported. Work will be started at the upper end of Wills Creek and the dam in the Potomac River beyond the Western Maryland Railway station will be replaced.

The dam, he explained, will provide a foundation for a bridge to replace the old Blue Bridge from Cumberland to Ridgeley.

Following the luncheon an inspection tour of the project was made by Birrell accompanied by Paye and Thomas E. Dickson, project engineer.

Birrell remarked about the "clean job" the workmen and sub-contractor, Thomas Earle and Sons, Philadelphia, are doing on the Frederick Street pressure conduit and said progress thus far is "quite satisfactory."

Paye said that due to good weather, the project is "clicking." He added that Frederick Street is open to automobile traffic, 24 hours ahead of schedule.

Paper Collection Set

Waste paper will be collected Monday on all streets north of Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue. Bundles should be placed on curbs before 9 a. m.

WEATHER

A long-overdue spring day delighted Cumberlanders yesterday even though the temperatures dropped again after dark. Highest reading at Constitution Park weather station was 60 degrees. Low for the day was 32. It was 48 at 10 p.m. The dew point yesterday was 32 degrees and the relative humidity, 50 percent. There was heavy frost in the low areas, Robert R. Golden, weather observer, reports. Today's forecast is for fair and increasing cloudiness.

State Industrial Union Approves M'Arthur Ouster

Telegram Will Be Sent To President

The Maryland Industrial Union Council yesterday at its quarterly meeting in United Rubber Workers Hall voted to send a telegram congratulating President Truman on his stand in the General MacArthur conflict.

The action is based "upon the forthright reaffirmation of traditional relationship between democratic civilian government of the Republic and its military forces" members said.

Also planned was action to be taken for exhibitions on labor movement to be presented at state fairs in Maryland.

A discussion of plans for a meeting with state-wide officials and labor unions, including the AFL, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and others was held. This meeting will endeavor to bring to light reasons for the drastic step labor took when its representative walked out of Price Stabilization talks, other wage and price problems and the national defense act.

The group adopted a policy to take necessary steps for amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Act for higher and better benefits for workers.

A letter of criticism to Senator John Marshall Butler for his statement in a speech last week "since when did we start redeeming platform pledges?" was approved.

The next meeting of the group will be held July 20, at Salisbury. E. J. Moran, Baltimore, president, presided.

Maryland State Police Give March Accident Statistics

One person died as the result of traffic accidents in Allegany County during March and nine persons were injured, according to the traffic collision statistical bureau of the Maryland State Police.

The report indicates that 23 accidents occured last month, with 15 property damage mishaps recorded. Twenty-three collisions occured and 184 arrests made.

Thirty-seven persons were killed in Maryland last month. The number of accidents show a definite increase with a total of 2,279 as compared with 1,887 in 1950. Nine hundred and ninety-seven persons were injured in March 1951 as compared to 893 last year during March.

One person was killed every 20 hours last month in a motor vehicle traffic accident. The average number injured during the month was 32 persons per day. Nine of the fatal accidents in Maryland occured in daylight and 24 after dark.

Counties free of traffic fatalities in rural areas during March were Charles, Dorchester, Garrett, Queen Anne, St. Mary's, Somerset, Talbot and Wicomico.

Penn Avenue Labor Project Gains Momentum

Grading Of Field Is Expected Today

Final grading and rolling of Penn Avenue Field is expected today if the weather remains good as the volunteer labor project designed to make a first-class park of the site gathers momentum.

Hauling of top soil for the outfield will begin about 7:30 a. m., City Recreation officials said, and it is hoped all necessary top soil will be placed on the field by noon so final rolling and grading can begin.

About 120 loads of soil is needed and about 500 tons of limestone for drainage, the playground heads noted.

New Backstops Planned

After the field has been graded and rolled according to plans and specifications donated by the U. S. Corps of Engineers survey team, work will begin next week on the erection of a new pipe and steel backstop behind home plate on the baseball field. This backstop will be covered with special netting made to order for the erection.

Also a three-foot chain link fence between the backstop and the first light poles along the first and third base sides of the field will be built. This fence will keep balls from rolling into the crowds during play as well as keep the fans from the field.

The new drainage system has been devised by the Corps of Engineers and old tile drain pipes will be utilized. Fine screening for the walkways and bleachers also has been procured and will be placed after completion of work on the wooden bleachers.

Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer for the city's flood project who organized the volunteer group, said last night numerous companies and individuals were offering, time, service, equipment and material in an effort to make the plan a success.

Equipment Is Donated

S. T. Brotemarkle Company has donated a power grader; Cumberland Contracting Company a power roller; George and Lynch, Inc., caterpillar bulldozer and two dump trucks; Cumberland Cement and Supply Company, a power shovel and the top soil; County Commissioners, seven dump trucks; City of Cumberland, two dump trucks; George Construction Company, two dump trucks; Cement Products Corporation, one ton of agricultural lime for fertilizer; John I. Vandegrift Company, carpenters, labor and materials to erect bleachers and broadcasting booth; and Elwood Rowley, contractor, two dump trucks.

Work is also contemplated on Community Ball Park, Wineow Street, Paye said, and Cumberland Contracting Company has donated a power grader and George Bauchman Construction Company a power roller for work to be done there.

Car Reported Stolen

A 1940 black two door sedan was reported stolen here Wednesday The owner, James E. Berry, 41, Louisiana Avenue, told police the automobile was taken from Harrison Street between 9 and 11:30 p. m.

Judge Harris' Opinion Settles Dispute Of Will

Action Brought By Local Bank

A dispute over the estate of Mrs. Sarah Whitfield, 121 Hanover Street, who died last November 16, was settled in an opinion filed yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The controversy stemmed from the wording of the will which Mrs. Whitfield's husband, George Washington Whitfield, Altoona, Pa., left. Whitfield died in August, 1948, and his will was dated February 5, 1948. The provision of this will in controversy reads:

Provision Quoted

"I give, devise and bequeath to my wife, Sarah Whitfield, all of my estate, real, personal and mixed; of whatever kind and nature and wheresoever situated, absolutely in fee simple, with the absolute right and power vested in my said wife to sell and dispose of either said personally and realty as she may deem fit and necessary so to do in order to support and maintain herself in the comforts and necessities of life; provided however, that if my said wife predeceases me, then I give, devise and bequeath the same to my sister, Amanda Helen Lee; and provide further, that whatever balance of my estate, real or personal herein before bequeather and devised to my said wife, is not used and consumed by her for the purposes mentioned therein, then I give, devise and bequeath such balance remaining of said personalty and realty, if any, to my sister, Amanda Helen Lee, absolutely and forever."

After his death, Mrs. Whitfield sold property at 1405 19th Avenue, Altoona, which had belonged to her husband. Proceeds from that sale, amounting to $4,436.90, were deposited in the First National Bank of Cumberland. Mrs. Whitfield added other money to the account, bringing the total to $7,697.44 on November 3, 1949. None of the additional was money derived from her husband's estate. Withdrawals were made and at the time of her death November 16, 1950, the account contained $6,542.86.

Bill Of Interpleader

This equity case was brought into Allegany County Circuit Court by the First National Bank of Cumberland which instituted a bill of interpleader. The bank contended that it could not safely make any payments from Mrs. Whitfield's account until ownership of the funds had been determined by court.

Mrs. Amanda Helen Lee had demanded November 27 that the bank pay her the balance from Mrs. Whitfield's account. On December 12, Edwin M. Horchler and Ethel M. Davey, nephew and niece of Mrs. Whitfield, also demanded the funds. Horchler and Mrs. Davey had been appointed by Allegany County Orphans Court as administrators c.t.a. of Mrs. Whitfield's estate.

The question before Judge Harris was whether Whitfield's will "gave his widow absolute ownership of his estate or only a life interest with power of consumption. Judge Harris decided the latter.

As a consequence, Judge Harris' opinion stipulates that Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court, with whom the disputed funds have been deposited, shall pay $4,436.90, less counsel fees and court costs, to Mrs. Lee and the remainder, or $2,105.96, to Horchler and Mrs. Davey as administrators c.t.a. of Mrs. Whitfield's estate. Mrs. Lee's payment will represent the proceeds from the sale of her brother's property.

Legion Opening Well Attended

The turnout for the opening of the new home of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, last night was termed "terrific." William Knieriem, publicity director, said the crowd was probably the largest group at a public function in the past ten years in Ridgeley.

Music for dancing was provided by Bill Walters and His Coronets, Martha Norris and Her Melodeers, and Jimmy McCourt and His Novelettes.

Also held was a floor show by students of the Star Dance Studio, plus several comedy and novelty acts, Knieriem was master of ceremonies.

Store, Railroad Sponsor Display

Two of Maryland's more than a century-old corporations combined in showing to the citizens of Cumberland a replica of the Baltimore and Ohio's diesel engine as it is mounted on a truck body for transport through the streets.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which started to operate in this area in 1846, and Rosenbaum's, which started in business in Cumberland in 1848, are presenting this replica to the citizens. This mock body is 27½ feet long, 7 feet wide, and 8 feet high. It has a diesel whistle and bell nd will be driven through the streets of Cumberland during the next few days.

The City Council and the Police Department have granted permission for the use of this display.

South End Group To Sponsor Benefit Playground Carnival

Three-Day Affair To Begin May 10

The South End Businessmen's Association is planning a three-day benefit carnival beginning May 10 at Penn Avenue Field with proceeds designated for the six South Cumberland playgrounds, Nelson W. Russler, publicity committeeman, said last night.

Final plans will be made today at a meeting with F. Perry Smith, president of the Association.

The group expects to have a ferris wheel, car rides, merry-go-round, skill games, bingo games, refreshments stands, side shows, booths and special events for the three-day "Fun Night."

Included in the special events will be amateur boxing, band concerts, tumbling acts, round and square dancing and many other features.

Committee members working on the gala festival include Executive committee, John L. Spiker, chairman, Harry Poling, Webster Edwards; Finance, John Weber, chairman, John Conway, Edwin Keech; Publicity and Printing, Reatus L. Spiker, Roy Knott, Nelson W. Russler.

Merchandise, H. Clifford Spiker, chairman, Rodney Henry, Simeon Wilson, Roy Cunningham; Side Shows and Booths, Arthur C. Morgan, chairman, John Conley, J. D. Wheeler, Joseph F. Reinhart, Monroe McKenzie; Grounds, Roy Merritt, Victor Hebb, Jackson L. Dohrman, John Weber; Special events, Paul Shircliffe, chairman, William B. Orndorff, Lester Dean, K. O. Christner and John Twigg.

Proceeds will go to Thomas Post, Penn Avenue, Virginia Avenue, Mapleside, Lamont Street and and John Heights playgrounds.

Court Of Appeals Reversed Judgment

Re-trial of a $15,000 damage suit, first heard in Allegany County Circuit Court 18 months ago, has just been docketed for Monday.

Neal Nesbit, through Attorneys Harold A. Naughton and Milton Gerson, filed the suit against the Cumberland Contracting Company.

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court returned a verdict November 29, 1949, for the defendant. On December 31, 1949, Associate Judge Henderson, who presided at the trial, entered a judgment on the verdict in favor of the defendant and against the plaintiff for costs of $40. Attorneys Thomas B. Finan and William C. Walsh represented the defendant.

An appeal was taken and last August 19 the Maryland Court of Appeals filed a mandate reversing the Circuit Court judgment.

Nesbit contended in his suit that his car crashed into a pile of dirt one night in September, 1948. He said this occurred on McMullen Highway where the Cumberland Contracting Company was engaged in road repair work. He asserted the pile was not marked and no flares were apparent.

Attorney for the defendant contended the pile was marked properly.

Only 350 farmers, about 50 fewer than the anticipated goal, have signed up for the 1951 agriculture conservation program of the Production and Marketing Administration in Allegany County, Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover; clerk of the County PMA Committee, said yesterday. The deadline was Monday.

Miss Hoover believes that a new national ruling of PMA was responsible for the drop of about 50 farmers from the program in this county. This provision rules out the use of lime on plowed ground on the contention that most of the lime washes off plowed ground, especially in hilly country such as prevails here.

The PMA has contended that insufficient quantities of lime have been placed on lots of pasture and hay land, where it potentially could do the most good. The sod keeps the lime from washing away.

Rubber Workers Call Meeting On Contract

Negotiators Will Present Report

Members of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America (CIO), will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the union hall to consider taking a strike vote in connection with current contract talks.

R. C. Burkhart, president, said the decision on whether or not to take a strike vote will follow a full report on contract revision talks which have been held during the past month with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Commissioner C. Stanley Clevenger, Winchester, Va., of the Federal Conciliation Service, conferred yesterday with company and union negotiators in an attempt to bring about a satisfactory agreement between the parties.

Commissioner Clevenger said that a joint meeting will be set up next week if an agreement is not reached by that time.

The negotiations include contract revisions only, as wage issues are not involved.

Burkhart said union officials feel the time has come to reach a satisfactory agreement on the contract talks which have been going on for the past month.

He said tonight's meeting was called to explain to the membership just what has been accomplished and what remains to be decided upon.

Union officials said that if members are not satisfied with the contract report, they may, under the URCLAPWA (CIO), constitution call for a strike vote and set the time and place for the vote.

Steps have already been taken to comply with National Labor Relations Board rules concerning the contract dispute, the union said.

Rotary Members To Attend Meet

Four official delegates of the Cumberland Rotary Club will attend a three-day District Conference at Bedford, Pa. beginning tomorrow. They are James Pitkethly, Adolph Blunk, Roy Eves and James Weber.

Headquarters for the meet will be the Bedford Springs Hotel where business meetings also will be conducted.

Dr. Paul Swain Havens, president of Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa., will be guest speaker on Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at Bedford High School. Hospitality hour will follow at the hotel.

The District Governor's banquet being held on Monday at the Bedford Springs Hotel will have Robert Kazmayer as the main speaker. On Monday a separate luncheon will be held for the ladies at the Fort Bedford Inn. Mrs. Sarah I. Rugh will be guest speaker.

Celanese Worker Is Honored For Service

Eugene F. Mullan, Gerard Avenue, was presented a wrist watch yesterday for 25 years service with the Amcelle plant. William D. Claus, assistant to the plant manager, presented the gift. A certificate of service and an emblem was presented by W. J. Elvin, plant engineer.

Mullan became an employe of the Amcelle May 22, 1924, and is employed in the Central Auxiliary Department. Prior to working at Amcelle, he was employed at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company for three years and the Potomac Edison Company for four years.

He is a member of Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus.

Robbery In VFW Home Is Probed

Trooper Timothy Gilmore, Maryland State Police, is continuing an investigation into the robbery of the McCoole Veterans of Foreign Wars home Thursday morning.

State Police reported $700 in cash, whisky and cigarettes was stolen. Entrance was gained through a rear window.

"Deadly A-Bomb" Will Be On Display For Three Days

Cumberlanders will have the opportunity of seeing the "Deadly A-Bomb" tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday. The exhibit, sponsored by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans Of Foreign Wars, will be on display on Baltimore Street and the State Armory, South Centre Street.

The exhibit will be shown from noon until 2 p. m. Sunday on Baltimore Street and from 2 p. m. until 9:30 o'clock at the State Armory.

On Monday and Tuesday, the exhibit will be on display from 9:30 a. m. until noon at the armory, from noon until 2 p. m. on Baltimore Street and from 2 p. m. until 9:30 p. m. at the armory.

Arthur B. Gibson, city Civil Defense Coordinator, urges everyone to see the exhibit and receive a free official government pamphlet with instructions on how to protect oneself in case of atomic attack.

Raymond F. Whitehair, commander of the V.F.W. post, said that the exhibit is very educational and urged all residents of the Cumberland area to view it.

The mobile exhibit, mounted in a special custom-built trailer, is one of the several units making a nation wide educational tour under the direction of the veterans group.

On display are the British and Russian conceptions of the A-Bomb, which will give all visitors the basic knowledge of the most destructive and devastating weapon ever created by man.

City Prepares To Add Firemen To Pension Plan

Kimble Bill Makes Move Mandatory

City Hall officials are compiling statistics and checking details in preparation for the shift of Fire Department employes to the State Employe Pension System which has been made mandatory by Senate Bill 318 passed by the 1951 General Assembly.

The bill originally was introduced as an enabling act to put the Fire Department employes under the state system which also provides for most of the other workers employed by the city. It provided that the Mayor and City Council would be able to elect if they wished to have the change made from the present Firemen's Pension Fund. However, last minute changes by Senator Robert B. Kimble, who introduced the measure, officials said, makes the change mandatory.

Return Fund To Firemen

Also provided in the measure is the requirement of the city to return from the current Firemen's Pension Fund all monies paid into the fund by firemen now in the department. Any additional money left over would be turned over to the city to put the law into effect. These monies must be paid back to the members of the Fire Department by June 1, 1951.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, said yesterday approximately 100 city employes are now under jurisdiction of the State Employe Pension Fund, including those in the Engineering Department, Street and Water Departments, Health Department and General city workers. The Police and Fire Departments each have their own private pension fund.

City Pays $22,000

The city now pays approximately $22,000 into the state fund as its share of the plan, Gibson said, plus about $8,000 in the Firemen's fund. The employes also contribute to the fund, he noted.

The repayment of monies to members of the Fire Department would cost about $14,000, the auditor calculated. The fund now has $27,187.15 balance.

Gibson, in studying the new measure, said if the money put into the fund by the firemen is returned to them then it means the city has paid the bill for all firemen who have retired under the present plan.

These pensioners will also go under the state system with special compensation received from the city, Gibson added.

Since by state law, the new pension system cannot acquire members until July 1, 1951, a month after the repayment of the monies to the firemen, Gibson believes the balance left in the current firemen's fund will be used to tide the city over the interim.

Gibson then estimated it would cost the city about $9,000 a year as its share of the new system for the firemen and this extra slice of the city's revenues along with the police and firemen's pay raises recently voted by the General Assembly have placed a terrific hardship on the city fathers as they make preparations for the city's budget for the coming fiscal year.

Working On Figures

The Finance Department is presently working on the compilation of figures on service records of all city firemen, Gibson related, which will be presented to the consulting actuary for the state employment retirement system, so the actuary can compute the accrued liability of the city.

William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of finance, said yesterday he will request a legal ruling to see if the new bill supersedes all previous legislation concerning pension funds.

The original pension act was passed in 1941 and amendments required that 75 per cent of the members of a department must request change to the state plan before it would be mandatory. However, if the new measure supersedes all previous legislation, then the 75 per cent acquiescence wouldn't be necessary.

City Solicitor W. Earle Cobey told Buchholtz he would check into the matter but added he believed the new law superseded all other legislation.

Four-Year-Old Boy Is Struck By Auto

A four-year-old South Cumberland child was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night after he was struck by a car at the intersection of Virginia Avenue and Fourth Street.

James Bierman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bierman, 315 Springdale Street, was admitted for observation of possible head injuries. He was in good condition.

Lt. James E. Van and officer Joseph Stitcher investigated. Lt. Van said the child ran across Virginia Avenue into the path of the auto operated by Henry F. Brant, 1300 Lexington Avenue.

Religious Movie Will Be Shown

The tenth in a series of motion pictures on the life of Saint Paul will be shown Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The movie, which is in conjunction with the regular worship, is entitled "Third Missionary Journey." In addition, a sermonette, "Spiritual Harvest", will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. Raymond A. Faulds. Special music is planned.
